Hitler Says He'll Free Sudetens; Defies Britain

WARNS EUROPE GERMANY WILL END OPPRESSION

Taunts Democracies as Allies of Reds.

NUREMBERG, Germany, Sept. 12.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today declared "oppression" of 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia must end.

The "Sudeten Germans demand the right of self-determination and not pretty words," he thundered at the closing of the Nazi party congress in a speech which was anxiously awaited by the world. "It is up to Czechoslovakia to negotiate and come to terms with the Sudeten Germans.

"It is my task to see that their rights are not distorted and violated. If the tortured Sudeten Germans are not given help or justice then they will get both from us."

Determined to Free Sudetens.

Hitler said Germany is determined to free the Germanic minority which is clamoring for self-rule. How the nation will do this was left in the dark.

Hitler threw down the gauntlet not only to Czechoslovakia, but also to Great Britain, France, and all other democracies of the world.

He taunted London and Paris by declaring: "We understand it when England and France represent their interests in the whole world. But I should like to assure the statesmen of London and Paris that there are German interests, too, which we are determined to take care of."

After Hitler's speech Nazi leaders said they felt certain the Fuehrer will not hesitate to send his army to the aid of the Sudeten Germans "if any incident incompatible with German honor and right occurs."

Ready to Take Up Arms.

Hitler's hair raising descriptions of the "tortures and oppression" the Sudeten Germans are suffering enraged the Germans. Millions of them were declared to have been firmly convinced that it is their moral duty to stand by the Sudeten Germans and, if necessary, to take up arms for them.

The display of military power the Nazis enjoyed in Nuremberg in a sham battle this afternoon and all the speeches leading up to Hitler's final address convinced all German citizens, Nazi leaders said, that if war comes they will be fighting for a holy cause.

Hitler, in his speech, described his fifteen year struggle against the democratic forces in Germany, which, he said, allied themselves with "Marxists and communists in a vain attempt to oppose Naziism."

Attacks Reds and Democrats.

"Today we again see plotters from democrats down to bolsheviks fighting against the Nazi state," he cried. "But it becomes unbearable for us at a moment when a great German people, apparently defenseless, is delivered to shameless ill treatment and exposed threats. I am speaking of Czechoslovakia."

Thunderous applause greeted these words.

Hitler described Czechoslovakia as a "concoction of the Versailles treaty in which non-Czech groups had to submit to abuse and oppression by the Czech group which allocated for itself the right of national supremacy."

Since some Germans may still lack the feeling that they must be ready to fight for the Sudeten Germans, the Fuehrer warned:

"The Czech state has a political and military mission. A former French minister, Pierre Cot, even said the purpose of its creation was to provide a center from which German industrial centers could be bombed. I take it he was referring to 'civilizing bombs.'"

Lashes at England.

Lashing at England for her failure to allow Germany to retain colonies, Hitler said the "democracies do not hesitate to use airplanes and bombs to compel the dear native to obey their orders.

"These are presumably civilizing bombs as distinct from the barbaric ones thrown by our friends the Italians in Ethiopia. The difference is

2 CZECH NAZIS SHOT AS BOMBS ROCK 2 TOWNS

New Disorders Raise Tension in Prague.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 12.—Disorders in the Sudeten German [Nazi] border district tonight wrecked any feeling of relief the Czech government got from Reichsfuehrer Hitler's speech today.

An unidentified man shot two Sudeten Germans, one of them seriously, during a political disturbance at Graslitz, western Bohemia. The shooting took place while several hundred Sudeten Germans were cheering and singing after hearing Hitler's Nuremberg speech. Police arrested the assailant.

Two bombings were reported from Falkenau and Eger, near the German border. The blast at Falkenau shattered windows in a hotel in the central section of the city. The Eger blast broke windows in a Czech school. In other Sudeten towns Hitler's speech was celebrated by torchlight parades in which forbidden emblems were displayed.

Three Reactions Noted.

In the capital there were three immediate reactions to Hitler's speech, namely:

1. Relief that war is not imminent tomorrow. A respite is foreseen until Germany finishes Rhineland fortifications against which Hitler expects the French army to shatter itself. Czechoslovakia feels safe until November at least.

2. Official caution. A government spokesman said Hitler showed himself to be misinformed about Czechoslovakia and hence drew incorrect conclusions. Prague expects to correct some of his statements, possibly by an article in the official newspaper tomorrow.

3. Fear in semi-official circles that relations between Czechs and Sudeten Germans now will become impossible. It is feared the Sudeten delegation may break off negotiations with the government or that the deadlock will continue. Relations between Czechs and Germans in the border district, it is also feared, will become worse.

Cabinet Remains Silent.

The inner council of the cabinet, presided over by Premier Milan Hodza, met after hearing Hitler's speech, but ended without issuing a communique. However, it is known the cabinet has decided it will declare martial law in special districts whenever necessary.

With reference to Hitler's speech the announcer of the government owned radio station said:

"It is unfortunate that the German chancellor approaches the Sudeten problem from the wrong point of view. It should be understood that the Czechoslovak government has no wish to annihilate or oppress its German citizens. It should be remembered that negotiations with the Sudeten parties for adjustment of their grievances are under way."

Bitterness Resented.

Most Czechs admitted the Hitler speech was more bitter than they had expected and they were resentful of his scathing remarks. Some pointed to the difference in the tone of Hitler's words and those of President Eduard Benes last Saturday in which the chief executive promised justice to all nationalities, especially the Sudetens.

In the Sudeten areas the forbidden Nazi Horst Wessel song and the German national song, Deutschland Ueber Allies, were sung by the crowds.

There were many impromptu parades, the marchers yelling "One People, One Nation, One Reich." The forbidden Nazi Swastika flag was displayed from many houses. At Fischern a huge Swastika banner was carried in a parade. At Elbogen church bells peeled at the conclusion of the broadcast.

Police Guard Newspapers.

Police reënforcements were thrown about the offices of a Czechoslovak newspaper at Reichenberg, one of the largest industrial cities in the Sudeten region. At Carlsbad Nazi sympathizers paraded the streets after

BOUNCING BULLET AND CHECK LIVEN THE DAY IN AN EVANSTON STORE

It was an exciting afternoon yesterday in Lord's department store in downtown Evanston.

First Bernard Hart, 32 years old, tried to cash a check for $81.30. When the management began to test it for real value he fled. As he jostled shoppers in an attempt to reach the street policemen arrived.

One, Patrolman Francis Plunkett, fired his pistol in the general direction of the floor. Shoppers gasped. The bullet bounced back and wounded Plunkett in the knee. The noise frightened Hart and he fell over a table of neckties. Before he recovered Policeman Frank Mountain toppled on him. At the Evanston station Hart refused to talk about himself or the check.

Taos, N. M., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The day of the village lamplighter is coming back in this little colony of arts and letters. Unable to pay electricity costs, Taos plans to install oil burning lamps on the dark corners of the village's meandering streets. Village youths will be recruited as lamplighters. Each lamp is to be a memorial to some of the famous figures of Taos' past.

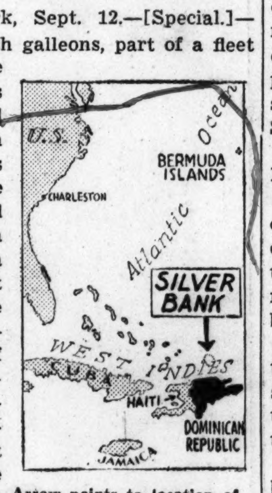
2 Gold Laden Ships Found at Bottom of Sea

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Two Spanish galleons, part of a fleet of treasure ships wrecked more than 300 years ago, have been found on the sea bottom in a coral forest off the northern coast of Dominican republic. This announcement was made today by Capt. John D. Craig, deep sea photographer and explorer, on his return from a scientific expedition sponsored by Beloit college of Beloit, Wis.



Arrow points to location of sunken treasure ships.

As Craig reconstructed the story, sixteen galleons, escorted by battle frigates, were sailing back to Spain in 1632 with raw gold, silver, gold and silver plate and coins. A hurricane forced the treasure ships into the coral atolls known as Silver Bank, about thirty-five miles north of Cape Frances Viejo.

Treasure Worth 70 Millions.

Many attempts have been made to reach the free salvage, estimated to be worth more than $70,000,000. About $3,500,000 of the treasure is said to have been retrieved. Captain Craig explained, however, that his expedition was a scientific study of the coral formation and that no effort was made to salvage the valuable cargo.

In 1850, Capt. Craig related, a Boston explorer named Greene found the coral forests and wrote a report of his findings, including the discovery that coral had grown over the ships. Capt. Craig's expedition was carried out to verify the record left by Greene, he said, which was found in the library of Beloit college.

Government Lends Aid.

The Dominican government coöperated with the Craig expedition, supplying a plane and two coast guard boats. Capt. Craig said his party spent about three months in the vicinity, completing an aerial survey and exposing under water about 8,000 feet of motion picture film, 3,000 of which was done in color.

One galleon was found about sixty-five feet below the surface and the other in about twenty feet of water. They were identified only by chains, anchors and cannon, all encrusted with coral.

CRACKS DOWN ANEW ON PAID SPONSORS OF DEBS AT COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The earl of Clarendon, Great Britain's new lord chamberlain, caused further consternation in Mayfair circles tonight by cracking down again on impoverished peeresses and royalty racketeers who sponsor debutantes at the court of St. James's in return for money.

Following recent instructions of King George VI. that exploitation of royalty for private alms must cease, it was revealed that a number of titled women who made presentations at the court for fees are being notified that the names submitted by them in the future will not be considered. Under the new rules the lord chamberlain must be assured that those presenting debutantes are getting no gratuities for their services.

The professional chaperon has been an institution in London society for generations. Hardup peeresses regarded this occupation as a legitimate source of income. Fees were elastic, but as much as $10,000 has been paid by socially ambitious young women to be presented at court and be steered through the strenuous London season of three months.

JUDGE AGREES WITH BLONDE; '21 CAR CAN'T SPEED

When Miss Lee Helmer drives her 1921 car, strangers with manners as bad as their voices are loud advise her to "get a horse." And "put it in a museum. And ask her "on your way to the junk heap—or is that the junk heap?"

But do you think Miss Helmer cares? Why, not at all. She's glad. For yesterday Miss Helmer, who's blonde, and 31 years old, told Judge John Gutknecht about it. He said of course she couldn't have been speeding in a car like that and sent her back home to 1332 West 72d place smiling.

Judge Throws Out Boss Hines Rackets Case

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Behind locked doors at the end of a two hour speech, Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, a Democrat and Roosevelt supporter, today abruptly ended the sensational racket-conspiracy case against Tammany Leader James J. [Jimmy] Hines by declaring a mistrial. Hines is chief dispenser of patronage for the Roosevelt administration in Manhattan.

[The political relations of Pecora, the Tammany judge; Hines, the Tammany patronage boss, and the Roosevelt crowd are told in a special article on page 5.]

Judge Pecora, using his discretionary powers, ruled that District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had "prejudiced" the minds of the jury by asking a question of a defense witness which linked the political boss to the poultry racket, although he was on trial for complicity in the policy game racket.

Dewey Assails Ruling.

Dewey was asked whether he concurred in the ruling. Red of face and smarting under the court's attack on his conduct, the young rackets prosecutor leaped to his feet.

"I certainly do not concur and my assistants agree that the questioning was proper," asserted Dewey. "I feel that it is unfortunate the people of the state of New York have no appeal from the decision or any other decision in this case."

To this the judge retorted that the state could try the case over before another court and jury. The state's case was rested last week after the testimony of fifty witnesses had branded Hines as the political protector for the criminal enterprises of the gang headed by the late Dutch Schultz.

Hint They Have Dewey "Stopped."

Tonight the Tammany clubhouses and other political haunts were buzzing with talk over the effect of the judge's ruling. The belief among the Tammany crowd was that Dewey has been stopped in his tracks as the Republican candidate for governor. The prosecutor has consistently refused to run, but the Republicans have attempted to draft him. The Democrats fear Dewey as the only man who could lead the opposing party to victory over the Roosevelt-Farley machine in New York state.

Discussion among Dewey's supporters of today's dramatic episode in court spotlighted the fact that Pecora himself was an assistant district attorney under Tammany régimes for thirteen years. He also has been mentioned frequently as the gubernatorial standard bearer of the Democratic ticket.

BULLETIN.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Returns from 449 polling places of 1,288 in the state in today's Democratic senatorial primary gave Millard E. Tydings, 68,968 votes; David J. Lewis, 54,219; Arthur E. Hungerford, 5,536.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Senator Millard E. Tydings, the supreme objective of President Roosevelt's attempt to purge the Democratic party of all but yes-men, was renominated by a landslide majority in Maryland's primary today. The result in Maryland hangs not on the popular vote but on the vote by counties and the Baltimore election district.

Senator Tydings, whom the President denounced as a "betrayer," overwhelmed Representative David J. Lewis, his 100 per cent yes-man opponent, whose campaign was supported by all the power, prestige, and resources of the Roosevelt administration.

The victory of Senator Tydings was a crushing defeat for President Roosevelt, comparable in some respects to the repudiation last year of his proposal to pack the United States Supreme court. The Maryland senatorial primary represented the crux of the President's entire purge program, for on its outcome he staked not only his personal prestige but all the resources at the command of his administration.

Purge Appears 100 Pct. Flop.

Moreover, with the victory of Senator Tydings the purge, so far as the senate is concerned, is expected to be a 100 per cent flop.

Of the nine Democratic senators up for reëlection this year who were marked for the purge because of their opposition to the court packing scheme, the President has a chance to defeat only Senator Walter F. George of Georgia. Even his closest political advisers admit that the renomination of Senator George on Wednesday is a foregone conclusion.

The intended victims of the purge, including those whose terms expire this year and those who do not come up for reëlection until 1940, awaited the outcome of the Maryland primary as a turning point in the history of the Democratic party, with profound implications affecting the future of the nation. They regarded President Roosevelt's Supreme court measure as a scheme to lay despotic hands upon the judicial branch of the government. The purge, they declared, was an attempt to pack the legislative branch and make it subservient to his will.

Appeals for State Freedom.

Senator Tydings contended in his campaign that Mr. Roosevelt wanted to destroy the independence of congress because it would not permit him to subjugate the Supreme court. He insisted that the great issue in this campaign was the sovereignty of the people—their constitutional right to elect representatives to congress without coercion from the national government. He appealed to Marylanders to keep the free state free.

Tonight the streets of old Baltimore and the lobbies of hotels resounded with the stirring tunes of "Maryland, My Maryland," as thousands of free staters celebrated their victory. A week ago, when President Roosevelt invaded the state to urge support of Representative Lewis, the Baltimore Evening Sun, by popular request, printed the text of the Maryland state song. It was dashed off by James Ryder Randall, a southern sympathizer, shortly after the 6th Massachusetts regiment and citizens of Baltimore clashed in April, 1861.

Crowds Sing "Maryland."

The song, which came to be known as the "Marseillaise" of the Confederate cause began:

The despot's heel is on thy shore,
Maryland!
His torch is at thy temple door,
Maryland!

Tonight, in jubilation, the Baltimore crowds sang the last stanza:

I hear the distant thunder hum,
Maryland!
The old line's bugle, fife, and drum,
Maryland!
She is not dead, nor deaf, nor dumb;
Huzza! She spurns the northern cum;
She breathes! She burns! She'll come. She'll come!
Maryland, my Maryland!

Primary on Defender's Day.

Fortuitously, the Maryland primary fell on old Defender's day, commemorating another great patriotic event. It was the 124th anniversary of the defense of Baltimore against the British in the war of 1812. During the bombardment of Fort McHenry, in an early morning in 1814, Francis Scott Key composed "The Star Spangled Banner."

Late tonight incomplete returns gave Senator Tydings a substantial lead in four of Baltimore city's six legislative districts, each with 7 votes in the convention which actually nominates candidates under Maryland's county unit system. Representative Lewis held a slight lead in the two Baltimore city districts where he was conceded to be strong from the outset of the purge.

Far Ahead in Baltimore.

Incomplete returns from the counties—eastern, western, and southern Maryland—gave Senator Tydings a lead over Representative Lewis ranging from 2 to 1 to 6 to 1. With 15 of the 23 counties reporting, Senator Tydings had a lead in 13 counties. Lewis led only in Garrett and Allegany counties, both in the western district which he has represented in congress off and on since 1911. Tydings was leading even in Prince George's county, across the District of Columbia line, where Lewis was supposed to be especially strong among the thousands of government payrollers.

In the Republican senatorial race, Oscar Leser led Galen L. Tait, 20,000 to 11,238, on the basis of returns from 654 precincts of the state's 1,288.

O'Connor Leads for Governor.

In the Democratic race for governor, Attorney General Herbert R. O'Connor was leading Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore. State Controller William S. Gordy and State Senate President Lansdale G. Sasscer were trailing. The vote from 530 precincts of 1,288 in the state gave O'Connor, 45,871; Jackson, 34,605; Gordy, 6,541, and Sasscer, 8,104.

For the Republican nomination for governor, Gov. Harry W. Nice polled an overwhelming vote over State Senator Harry T. Phoebus. Returns from 654 polling places of 1,288 in the state gave Nice, 35,148; Phoebus, 5,649.

The four Democratic incumbent congressmen opposed for renomination were leading their primary opponents. Representative T. Alan Goldsborough was unopposed.

Republicans Win in Maine

HECKLERS INTERRUPT LYONS; CANDIDATE BLAMES IT ON FOES

Hecklers inspired, he charged, by his political opponents broke into the street corner speech of Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for the senate, last night at 75th street and Phillips avenue. Mr. Lyons continued his speech amid applause from other listeners. He made another talk at 71st street and South Park avenue.

The WPA was the candidate's target. He said he would stop the WPA waste by opening factories; and work to give the workers not $55 a month for comparative idleness but $40 to $50 a week for productive work.

Lyons tonight will carry his street corner campaign into the west side. He will speak at Madison street and Pulaski road at 7:45 o'clock and then will go to Madison and Cicero avenue.

SUBCOMMITTEE NAMED TO STUDY REDISTRICTING

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Illinois legislative council appointed a subcommittee today to study and draft recommendations on the feasibility of congressional reapportionment. Senator Harold G. Ward, Chicago Democrat, was named chairman.

Today's was the first meeting of the council since June, and members were preparing to draft a program for submission to the 61st general assembly in January.

G. O. P. GOVERNOR, 3 CONGRESSMEN WIN IN MAINE

Democrats Are Beaten by Big Majorities.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Maine, one of the two states that voted against President Roosevelt in 1936, today gave a clean sweep to the four Republican candidates for major offices in the nation's first election in 1938.

Gov. Lewis O. Barrows [R.], who assailed New Deal policies in his campaign, ran up a commanding lead over the Roosevelt administration endorsee, former Gov. Louis J. Brann, including returns from Lewiston, Democratic stronghold.

In the 1st congressional district the voters returned Representative James C. Oliver [R.] to office by a decisive margin over Harold B. Emery [D.], who assailed Oliver's advocacy of the Townsend old age pension plan.

In the 3d district Representative Ralph O. Brewster [R.] won a lopsided victory over his Democratic opponent, Melvin P. Roberts. Brewster campaigned particularly against the Roosevelt trade treaty program.

All three of the Republican candidates had indorsement of advocates of the Townsend old age pension plan, but only Oliver espoused it.

Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, who came to Maine to give his blessing to the entire Democratic ticket, gave especial praise to Dubord for his championship of the New Deal.

PRIMARIES IN NINE STATES TODAY; ONE TO HOLD A CONVENTION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Nine states will hold primaries tomorrow and in a tenth state a nominating convention will meet. In none of the elections is the New Deal a paramount issue.

Democratic senatorial candidates in four states have no opposition. They are Senators Alva B. Adams, Carl Hayden in Arizona, John H. Overton in Louisiana, and Elbert D. Thomas in Utah.

In two other states no effective opposition has been placed against Democratic senators seeking renomination. They are Senator Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire and Senator Homer T. Bone of Washington.

Senator Ernest W. Gibson is expected to be renominated by Republicans in Vermont. In Michigan there are no senatorial contests. There is a run-off primary for governor in South Carolina.

Voters will nominate choices for governor and the house of representatives in Arizona, Colorado, Michigan, New Hampshire, and Vermont. Nominees to house seats will be chosen in Louisiana, Washington and Utah. There are no gubernatorial contests in those states.

The nominating convention will be held in Connecticut. Senator Augustine Lonergan, an intended victim of President Roosevelt's purge, will be renominated by the Democratic state convention which meets tomorrow and Wednesday. The convention also will nominate candidates for governor and for six seats in the house.

QUITS RACE; ASKS VOTERS SUPPORT PURGE IN GEORGIA

McRae Backs Camp, Hand Picked by Roosevelt.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—William G. McRae withdrew from the Democratic senatorial primary contest tonight and asked voters to support Lawrence S. Camp, President Roosevelt's handpicked candidate. The retirement of McRae left Senator Walter F. George, Camp, and former Gov. Eugene Talmadge in the race, which will be decided Wednesday.

Edgar Dunlap:
His ouster upheld.

McRae said he was withdrawing because the newspapers of Georgia had been unwilling to support him and had supported Senator George.

George is one of the United States senators President Roosevelt has attempted to purge from congress because they would not support his policies 100 per cent.

George Winds Up Campaign.

Senator George virtually completed his campaign tonight at a huge rally. He told his audience he would not vote for war again and pledged himself to continue an independent course in the senate. He told a radio audience last night that he would support the President so long as he stayed within the platform of the Democratic party, but that he never would follow him outside the limits of the American constitution.

Talmadge, who is strongly anti-Roosevelt, found encouragement today in a poll that showed him gaining strength.

Camp, United States district attorney in Atlanta, concluded his drive for nomination with a plea that votes for him would show the gratitude of Georgians to President Roosevelt. A grant of 53 million dollars for roads was given to Georgia last week by the government.

Attorney's Ouster Upheld.

Dismissal of Edgar B. Dunlap, RFC attorney in Atlanta, for political activity in behalf of Senator George was upheld in Washington today by the senate campaign investigating committee. Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee, said the RFC had a rule that barred employés from political activity and that since Dunlap continued to work for George after the rule was brought to his attention by RFC directors, they were justified in firing him.

REVISE AIRPORT PLANS TO OPEN WAY TO CHURCH

Attorneys for the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad and a city council airport committee agreed to a revision of the proposed Chicago airport enlargement ordinance yesterday when parishioners of the St. Camillus Roman Catholic church, 5430 South Lockwood avenue, protested that they would be blocked from their house of worship under the program.

The parishioners and their pastor, the Rev. B. J. Kasprzycki, complained that the ordinance proposed to block off both Long and Lockwood avenues along the new right of way that is to be traded to the railroad for the line of tracks across the airport.

FARMER-LABOR SCHISM GROWS IN MINNESOTA

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Reaction against the radicalism of the Farmer-Labor party is rampant in Minnesota. With the Democratic party hopelessly split, the Republicans have an excellent chance of sweeping this state in the November congressional and state elections.

That their plight is parlous is tacitly conceded by Gov. Elmer A. Benson and other leaders of the communistic Farmer-Labor party. In desperation they are beseeching President Roosevelt to come to their aid, as he did in 1936, lest they go down to defeat.

Farmers Disillusioned.

The crisis in their fortunes, it appears, is the result of a falling out of the twin groups composing the Farmer-Labor party over the more abundant life. The farmers in alarming numbers are backsliding, having become convinced that the benefits of the existing Minnesota régime are accruing exclusively to labor, with agriculture providing the sucker list.

Disillusionment of the farmers with President Roosevelt's New Deal is also evidenced by the repercussions in the wheat belt. Although accepting with alacrity the crop subsidy checks wafted by the AAA from Washington, Minnesota farmers, with wheat and other farm product prices on the toboggan, are increasingly doubting that President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace have hit upon the right answer to the problem.

Communism has become the outstanding issue in the election. It has split both the Farmer-Labor and the Democratic parties and has solidified and strengthened the Republicans.

Resent Recent Trends.

It has been apparent for several months that the farmers were becoming more and more dissatisfied with their labor bedfellows. The affiliation of the communists and the Farmer-Laborites, the appointment of the socialistically minded to key positions in the state administration, and the demonstration that John L. Lewis' C. I. O. and the communistic Workers' alliance were dictating state policies, frequently to the detriment of farmers' interests, left the tillers of the soil alarmed and angry.

Farmers not yet ready to dispense with the institution of private property began to wonder whether they were being taken for a ride by the Farmer-Labor party, which now dissembles its 1934 platform declaration that "capitalism should be abolished in Minnesota immediately and the social structure reorganized into a coöperative commonwealth." Suspicions of this character were intensified when a movement in the Farmer-Labor convention to disavow communism was defeated.

Recall People's Lobby.

Apprehensions of the drift of affairs under radical Gov. Benson likewise possessed the farmers when the C. I. O., the Workers' alliance, the communist party, and other radical elements organized the people's lobby which staged a sitdown strike at the capitol in behalf of a radical tax bill. The mob camped 24 hours in the legislative chambers and, according to charges at the time, held the members of the senate committee prisoners. Benson had incited the mob to direct action in a speech in which he said it is sometimes necessary to be tough with legislators.

Then there was a clash between the farmers and the C. I. O. when the latter engineered a strike of employés of the Land o' Lakes Creamery coöperative, largest dairy product processor of the region. The C. I. O. demanded more pay for the workers than the farmers received for their milk. The creameries were shut down and tremendous losses were experienced by the farmers before a settlement was reached.

Strike Adds to Rift.

Another rift between the farmer and labor wings of the party in power developed from a strike of lumberjacks incited by the C. I. O. in the northern part of the state, where the farmers cut pulp wood for the paper mills. The C. I. O. dictatorship would not permit farmers to drive their own loads of pulp wood to the mills.

The break between the farmers and workers almost compassed the downfall of Benson in the June primary. As a candidate for renomination he polled 218,000 votes. Hjalmer Petersen, leader of the insurgent faction of Farmer-Laborites, received 202,000.

The Republicans nominated for governor a magnetic and dynamic young lawyer, Harold E. Stassen, who is a leader in the liberal wing of the party. The Democrats nominated Thomas Gallagher, an able lawyer who is virtually a candidate without a party.

Mr. Roosevelt and National Chairman James A. Farley gave their party in this state a body blow in 1936 when they compelled the Democratic candidates for senator and governor to withdraw in favor of the Farmer-Labor candidates.

The conservative Democrats are lining up for Stassen with the battle cry of coalition with the Republicans to extirpate communism from the state administration. The menace of communism also has caused the Roman Catholics and Lutherans to flock to the Republican candidate.

At Patten Auction

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Mrs. Evelyn Tait was interested in a plaque which was among the furnishings being sold.

About $1,500 was realized yesterday in the opening hours of a three day auction of furnishings of the home of the late James A. Patten. More than 1,000 persons attended the afternoon sale at 1426 Ridge avenue, Evanston. Proceeds go to Northwestern university, to which the property was given by heirs of the former wheat king.

The largest single sum paid yesterday afternoon, when bedroom furnishings were sold, was $65 for an empire bed. China, glassware, and silver were sold last evening. Linens and furniture will go on the block this afternoon, with all the fine jewelry and rugs tonight. Tomorrow afternoon everything still unsold will be put up except 114 oil paintings, which will be offered tomorrow night.

Nearly 15,000 persons went through the mansion Sunday afternoon, according to Robert Grant of the Grant Art galleries, 25 South Wabash avenue, in charge of the sale. The Patten home is being torn down to make way for nine residences.

SON RESTS WELL; PRESIDENT TURNS TO FOREIGN CRISIS

Reviews Hitler Speech in Phone Talk with Hull.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's attention was divided today between reports on the condition of his son, James, and telephonic communications from Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Washington regarding the international situation.

James, who was operated upon in St. Mary's hospital here yesterday for an ulcer of the stomach, spent "as good a night as could be expected," according to a bulletin from Dr. H. K. Gray, the operating surgeon. He suffered from a prolonged attack of hiccups, for which he was treated with carbon dioxide. Hypodermics were administered steadily to relieve post-operative pains.

An afternoon bulletin reported "no noticeable change" in young Roosevelt's condition. "He is resting as comfortably as can be expected after such an extensive operation," Dr. Gray reported.

Digests Hitler Speech.

The President talked to Secretary Hull on the long distance telephone from his special train this morning and again this afternoon after Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's defiant speech, which was broadcast to the United States.

The secretary of state summed up the main points of the Hitler address and presumably gave his opinion to Mr. Roosevelt concerning its portents. However, there was no comment forthcoming from the President.

The President also kept an eye on the Democratic primary election in Maryland, where the voters are deciding on the attempted purge of Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Mr. Roosevelt's main concern, however, was over the condition of his eldest son and secretary. He made two visits to the hospital. Going into the sickroom he found James hiccupping.

The President wrung his son's hands and asked him how he felt. "Pretty rocky," was the weak answer.

Tries to Cheer His Son.

Mr. Roosevelt asked what treatment was being administered for the hiccups and James told him he was being given carbon dioxide.

"If they knew us Roosevelts they'd give you baking soda," the President joked in an attempt to cheer his son.

Hiccupping is not unusual after an abdominal operation, physicians said, and usually is not dangerous.

The main danger in the patient's case remained the possibility of pulmonary complications. This peril will persist for thirty-six hours. The President plans to remain here until tomorrow night, at least, and will not leave, it was reported, until assured that his son is well on the road to recovery.

ROBBED IN FRONT OF HOME.

$550,116 SPENT BY DEMOCRATS ON CAMPAIGNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The Democratic national committee today reported to the clerk of the house of representatives that it received contributions of $563,374 in the first eight months of the year, spent $550,116, and incurred unpaid obligations of $86,001.

The highest Democratic donations were two of $1,000 each. These were made by Max Silverstein of Detroit and Breckenridge Long, assistant secretary of state in the Wilson administration, of Laurel, Md. Numerous government officials, including Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, RFC Chairman Jesse Jones, and Ambassador Joseph E. Davies, gave $100 each.

Democratic receipts included cash donations, $30,090; Jackson day dinners, $23,575; Jeffersonian campaign, $19,371, and loans, $55,000. The loans were from the Manufacturers' Trust company, New York, $50,000, June 13, and L. W. Robert, committee treasurer, $5,000, June 1.

WALKS 296 MILES FROM DETROIT IN 49 HRS. AS STUNT

Hundreds Greet Hiker; Cup Presented.

Pat Thienes, 2903 Washington boulevard, strolled up to the corner of Madison street and Kedzie avenue yesterday with pardonable pride. He had just walked from Detroit's city hall in 49 hours and 10 minutes, beating his own record.

Hundreds of persons were in front of the Merchants National bank to greet him. "Merchants Community Council of West Central Chicago" was emblazoned on Pat's sweatshirt, and he was wearing a green satin cap. Still using his from-the-hip walk—only one walker in history, Old Man Weston, ever bent his knees, said Thienes—he went up to the second floor of the bank and accepted a loving cup.

In the Receiving Line.

Al Horan, bailif of the Municipal court, handed him the silver cup. Arthur P. Murphy, president of the merchants' association, which sponsored the walk, and William H. Maas, secretary, stood by with approving smiles. Mrs. Marion Thienes, Pat's wife, who walks 48 blocks a day just for the fun of it, and their daughter, Virginia, 9, were there, too.

"I can't say I'm tired," said Pat after accepting the cup and drinking a little beer. "But I will be able to sleep tonight."

His hike covered 296 miles, including 20 miles in a detour off the highway Saturday night to get out of a dense fog. His previous record in nonstop walks was made in 1920, when he walked 276 miles out of Omaha in 48 hours 42 minutes. He left Detroit at noon Saturday, had no sleep on the way, drank tepid water, beef broth and milk, and ate chocolate bars.

Pupil of Dan O'Leary.

Pat is 53 years old and was a pupil of the late Dan O'Leary, who on his 91st birthday walked 102 miles in 24½ hours. Together they walked across country in 1906, and since then Pat has walked some 170,000 miles.

He used to scale telephone poles for the telephone company. When he was laid off in 1927 because he was too old, he started making a business of walking.

Once a Human Horse.

"Just call me the human horse," he said. "I got that name when I pulled a jinrikisha with a 182 pound passenger in it from Los Angeles to New York in 1933. That took 108 days, 90 days actual walking. I made a little money as I went along. Sold 14,000 postcards I autographed."

Pat won't be satisfied until he has walked to all of the state capitals. Averaging five miles an hour, he could make the 15,300 miles in about 10 months, he figures.

GARAGE MAN RIGS UP THIEF KILLER; IT TAKES HIS LIFE

Forgetfulness Fatal as He Opens Shop.

Habit reminded Max Meinel to unhook a wire about 500 times, but it let him down the 501st time.

Meinel had a fear of burglaries. He was especially fearful that burglars would steal the special tools he had made for the auto repair shop operated by him and his son, Fred, at 2439 North Halsted street.

Two years ago he got busy. He painted a sign for the outside of the big rear door, through which cars go in and out of the shop. It read: "DANGER — 5,000 VOLTS — KEEP OUT."

Rigs Up Burglar Killer.

Then he rigged up a burglar killer. He attached a 12 gauge shotgun to a board and put it above a partitioned office so that it pointed at the rear door. He ran wires on pulleys between the trigger and the door.

Thus the gun would be discharged by any one who opened the door unless he knew about the contraption and disconnected it. Meinel figured that burglars might get in the front door, load a car with valuable tools, unlock the rear door, and raise it to drive out.

Disconnected Daily.

The gun got rusty and no burglars came. Every morning the first one to reach the shop would disconnect the burglar killer. Usually it was the elder Meinel, who had been getting up early all his 57 years.

Yesterday morning was no exception. Meinel left his home at 6224 North Oakley avenue and went to the shop. He let himself in the front door and walked to the rear. The weather was fine, so he unlocked the rear door and started to swing it up. The shotgun roared and Meinel fell. His burglar trap had killed him.

ALLMAN ORDERS POLITICAL BILL POSTERS JAILED

A drastic order to prohibit campaign bill posting in the November election was issued yesterday by Commissioner Allman. Police were directed to arrest political workers who violate the city ordinance which bans all advertising of this nature. Placards that have been put up by early campaigners were ordered torn down.

"The ordinance is being violated in all parts of the city," Allman's order read. "This must be stopped and kept stopped. All members of the police department must give this matter close and continued attention and in the future prevent such violations."

The order will be enforced without regard to candidates or party affiliations, Commissioner Allman said. It was issued now to save organizations needless expense and to prevent trouble during the heat of the campaign.

Last week Chief Lester J. Laird of the county highway police issued a similar order based on a state law. This outlawed posting of bills in Cook county outside Chicago.

45 MILLION MILK RECORDS CALLED BY JUDGE BARNES

Overrules Protests by Borden Company.

Judge John P. Barnes in federal court yesterday upheld two government subpenas for records of the Borden company. The records are sought by the government in its grand jury investigation into an alleged milk trust in the Chicago area.

Attorneys for the company termed the subpenas unreasonable. They pointed out the request involved 45,111,234 exhibits. They quoted statistics to show that if the government's demand were met the records would fill Judge Barnes' courtroom to a depth of 21.4 feet.

"Such a request is beyond the reasonable limits of the law," Attorney Frederic Burnham contended. "It amounts to illegal search and seizure in violation of the constitution.

Rules Request Reasonable.

Judge Barnes ruled thht the request was a reasonable one in view of the scope of the investigation. "There is no doubt that a large mass of papers and documents are sought," he said, "But I think the magnitude of the request is due mainly to the magnitude of the Bordon company.

"I do not think the reasonableness of the request is to be determined by the number of documents called for, their weight or aggregate mass, but by the extent of the investigation. In this case there seems to be a need of many records."

After the court's ruling Leo F. Tierney, special assistant United States attorney general in charge of the investigation, clarified many parts of the subpenas. In addition, two paragraphs of one of the subpenas were eliminated by the court.

No Appeal Planned.

Attorney Burnham said there would be no appeal from Judge Barnes' ruling. "We will set about on this superhuman task with human diligence," he said.

One of the subpenas called for Secretary Walter Rebman to produce 27,454,747 exhibits. The other is directed to Treasurer E. L. Noetzel. It calls for 17,656,487 records. These exhibits consist of milkmen's sales ledgers and checks for the last ten years. Attorney Burnham said Noetzel would appear tomorrow before the grand jury.

The investigation into an alleged milk monopoly was started July 18. Officials of all of the dairies in the Chicago area are to be questioned before the jury, Tierney said.

In the Circuit court, Judge Walter La Buy referred to a master in chancery hearing on a petition brought by the Meadow Farms Dairy, Inc., of Cicero. The petition seeks an injunction to restrain the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local No. 753, from interfering with the sale of the dairy's products.

MISS ELIE HOEHMANN.

The police yesterday continued their search for Miss Elie Hoehmann, 17 years old, who disappeared Saturday evening while on her way to her home at 3258 Lakewood avenue. Her father, William, a grocer, told the Town Hall police that he believed his daughter was being held by abductors.

Miss Hoehmann, an attractive blond, had started to her home from a bakery at 2852 Southport avenue where she has been employed as a clerk for the last year. Witnesses said that they saw her get into an automobile with two men and drive away. Her father said that she was a home girl and seldom went out.

Sunday evening two mysterious telephone calls were received at the Hoehmann home. A neighbor answered the first call. The voice at the other end said, "This is Elie, tell mother I'm all right." Mrs. Hoehmann heard the second caller say, "Hello, mother," and then hang up. The latter was traced to a drug store three miles distant.

ARMY OFFICER DENIES BEATING WIFE TO DEATH

All Right When He Left Home, He Says.

Columbus, Ga., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Maj. John R. Brooke Jr., denied from the witness stand today he killed his wife and insisted she was all right when he left home more than an hour after the time army doctors have estimated she was beaten to death.

The army officer took the stand shortly after the government rested its case and in his recital of events of the morning of June 8 contradicted prosecution witnesses.

The major, after telling of his marriage to Elizabeth Gerhardt, an army nurse, in 1914, testified he returned to his Fort Benning home from his office about 9:15 on the morning of the tragedy. He and Mrs. Brooke took a short ride about 10 o'clock, he said, and after they returned he embraced his wife in the living room.

Tells of Spilled Water.

Brooke said he prepared a lunch before leaving for maneuvers and in so doing spilled some water on his trousers when filling a vacuum bottle, thus accounting for wetness of his clothing reported by prosecution witnesses.

The major said he saw his wife on the sun porch just before he left for maneuvers and she was all right. Asked if he did anything to her before leaving, he said, "I have never laid a hand on her in anger in my life."

In Debt for $6,500.

District Attorney T. Hoyt Davis shortly before closing the government case introduced a list which he said was taken from the Brooke quarters and showed the major owed debts of $6,500 at the time of his wife's death. She was the former Elizabeth Gerhardt of Fond du Lac, Wis.

Before the major took the stand the defense cross-examined some government witnesses and called Mrs. Alma Sanford, Brooke's sister, who testified the Brookes were an ideally happy couple. Gen. Asa L. Singleton, distinguished looking commandant of Benning's great infantry school, was one of several character witnesses who testified to Maj. Brooke's merits as an army officer and the apparent happiness of the couple.

BARGAIN OVER WHAT? RELIEF HEAD ASKS C. I. O.

Recognition of the Illinois Workers' alliance as a bargaining agent for persons on relief in Chicago was demanded yesterday before the city council finance committee and Relief Administrator Leo M. Lyons. The alliance is a C. I. O. organization of the unemployed.

"There is nothing to bargain for," said Lyons after hearing complaints of I. W. A. delegates. "We give relief on the basis of need up to the limit of funds appropriated for that purpose."

The demand was made by Gilbert Lang, executive secretary of the Cook county I. W. A., who admitted he was imported from New York to organize Chicago reliefers. Pointing to the additional demand that an I. W. A. committee be established in Lyons' office to help him formulate policies, one relief expert said that the alliance actually was seeking a checkoff system to increase its membership. Reliefers are charged 50 cents a month dues. The I. W. A. also seeks increases in relief checks.

CHOP UP BOOKIE BEHIND CENTRAL POLICE STATION

Hit 14 Places; Record to Date.

State's Attorney Courtney's ax men went out yesterday to break 100 in the handbook smashing campaign, and succeeded. In making the total count to date 111 they had a record day of fourteen successful raids. And the fourteenth and biggest place was right behind the Central police building.

111

This joint was the Brokers' club at 1148 South Wabash avenue. The Central police building is across the alley at 1121 South State street. Sergt. Ernest Sloey chased 200 men and thirty women out of the place and set his ax swingers to work.

Hit 3 Place at Once.

The previous day's high was last Saturday, when thirteen handbooks were chopped to pieces. There would have been more yesterday, but one squad went out into the northwest section of the county and got marooned in a flood that followed the afternoon rains.

Three Wells street bookie shops were raided simultaneously. They were at 226 South Wells street, seventh floor; 10 North Wells street, second floor, and 135 South Wells street, third floor.

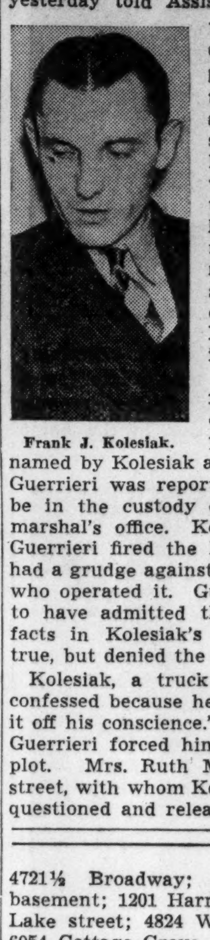
Ten Others Raided.

The rest of the day's raids were more or less routine ones. Many of them were sneakers, places which either had been hit and moved, or moved in fear of being hit. They were at 725 Roosevelt road, second floor; 814 East 43d street, where there was also a blackjack game; 4721½ Broadway; 4707 Broadway, basement; 1201 Harrison street; 3206 Lake street; 4824 Winthrop avenue; 6054 Cottage Grove avenue; 17 West Quincy street, third floor, and 347 North Kedzie avenue, second floor.

Police raided six handbooks, four in the loop and one each on the north and south sides. The loop places were at 20 East Lake street; 163 North Wabash avenue; 225 West Van Buren street, and 30 North Dearborn street.

2 ACCUSE EACH OTHER OF SETTING HOTEL FIRE IN WHICH 8 PERISHED

Frank J. Kolesiak, 26 years old, yesterday told Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan how he helped set fire to the Center hotel at 1422 Madison street on April 6. Eight persons were killed in the fire. Coghlan said indictments charging murder would be sought if evidence to support Kolesiak's story is discovered.



Frank J. Kolesiak.

Emil Guerrieri, former employé of a west side pool room, was named by Kolesiak as his accomplice. Guerrieri was reported last night to be in the custody of the state fire marshal's office. Kolesiak said that Guerrieri fired the hotel because he had a grudge against Reuben Fischer, who operated it. Guerrieri was said to have admitted that some of the facts in Kolesiak's confession were true, but denied the fire.

Kolesiak, a truck driver, said he confessed because he "wanted to get it off his conscience." He added that Guerrieri forced him to help in the plot. Mrs. Ruth Moran, 1743 Erie street, with whom Kolesiak lived, was questioned and released.

CRIME LINK WITH POLITICS BARED BY HINES TRIAL

Fortunes Built on Power Delegated to Gangs.

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—If the celebrated Hines case, which came to an untimely end today, accomplished nothing else, it brought out amazing revelations of a politico-criminal alliance which reached into high places.

Tammany Leader James J. [Jimmy] Hines, one time blacksmith, is the most powerful single figure in the New York Democratic organization. His influence is unquestioned. He is a pal of Postmaster General James A. Farley, Democratic national committee chairman, and was a supporter of Franklin Roosevelt before the Chicago convention in 1932. Hines also has been a visitor at the White House on several occasions.

For his support of Roosevelt, which has been unswerving, Hines was made the chief distributor of federal patronage in Manhattan early in the Roosevelt administration. With more money and contracts flowing from Washington than ever before in history, the Tammany boss grew in stature and influence.

Workings of System Revealed.

There had been rumors of how the underworld contributed to the success of the local political machine, which had much to do with landing Roosevelt in the governor's chair at Albany and sending him on to Washington, but never until the Hines trial was the operation of this system revealed.

The key office which Tammany fastened upon for its own welfare was that of district attorney of New York county, the post to which Thomas E. Dewey was elected last fall. But Tammany had held onto the office for twenty years. Immune from prosecution, its highups built a tremendously wealthy and powerful organization.

Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who threw out the case against Hines today, was an important figure in the prosecutor's office during much of this period. In 1918 he was made a deputy assistant district attorney, and in 1922, chief assistant. In 1928 Pecora went into private practice, miffed because Tammany turned to some one else as its candidate for district attorney.

Bootleggers Wax Wealthy.

It was during this period that bootlegging became a big business in New York City and official fortunes were made because of the prohibition act. Dutch Schultz, born Arthur Flegenheimer, became one of the leading beer distributors during those days. A business man as well as a gangster, Schultz also turned to the slot machine racket, the extortion of huge funds from restaurants, and the policy game syndicate.

Schultz and Hines were seen hobnobbing together at fights and other public events, but nothing ever was done about it.

The inner workings of the Schultz gang and its alleged political protector and godfather, Hines, were described by three gangster witnesses who pleaded guilty—J. Richard [Dixie] Davis, gang "mouthpiece;" George Weinberg, payoff man, and "Big Harry" Schoenhaus, gang bookkeeper.

Gang Cash Elects Dodge.

This gangster trio told how the Schultz ring of racketeers not only poured money into the Democratic campaigns in New York City, but also stormed the polls and voted illegally.

In 1933 the Schultz gang contributed $30,000 toward the election of William O. Dodge, the regular Democratic candidate for district attorney, it was sworn on the witness stand. Weinberg said he made one payment of $2,000 to Hines in the presence of Dodge. Hines, he related, introduced him to the next county prosecutor as "one of Dutch Schultz' boys." Dodge just smiled, the witness said.

Then on election day, "Dixie" Davis said, the Schultz lieutenants and others on the fringe of the mob—about 100 men all together—congregated in the Mononghela Democratic club where Hines gave them instructions.

Ballot Boxes Stuffed.

The gangsters, the witness said, went out and took care of the "tombstone vote" for persons who had died and had not been stricken off the rôles, as well as for other voters who were out of the city or confined to their homes through illness. Many of the group, Davis declared, voted several times as they floated around.

District Attorney Dodge paid back his political debt to his underworld supporters, Davis declared, by quashing efforts of the 1935 grand jury to unearth Hines' connections with Schultz and the policy racket.

It was disclosures made before that grand jury, which earned the name of "runaway" because it threw Dodge and his assistants out of its deliberations and forced Dewey's appointment as a special rackets prosecutor, that Judge Pecora declared were improper in his ruling for a mistrial today.

TWO LEADING PAPERS IN NEW YORK DEPLORE HINES CASE MISTRIAL

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Following are extracts from editorials by two leading New York newspapers on the wisdom of Justice Ferdinand Pecora's decision to declare a mistrial in the case of James J. Hines, Tammany leader, charged with participation in the policy racket:

THE NEW YORK TIMES—[Ind. Dem.]—One of the most important trials in this city's history has come to a thoroughly unsatisfactory end. On a point which must seem to an overwhelming majority of laymen to be essentially technical, Justice Pecora has declared a mistrial. True, technicalities exist in the law to protect the rights of the accused. But there was an alternative course which Justice Pecora could properly have followed. Instead of declaring a mistrial, he could have instructed the jury to ignore the line of questioning which he deemed to be improper on the part of the district attorney. Then he could have permitted the higher courts to pass upon the question of whether this course did not protect the rights of the defendant.

HERALD-TRIBUNE [Ind. Rep.]—The tragic mischance which has brought to nothing the four weeks' grind of jurymen, lawyers, witnesses, and presiding justice of the Hines trial will be difficult for laymen to comprehend, let alone excuse. The rule of evidence is concededly strict—against permitting reference to any other crime to becloud the issue of guilt of the particular crime charged in an indictment—and the reasons for the ruling are strong. The discretion of the trial judge is complete, and if he decides a mistrial his ruling stands beyond appeal. We cannot believe that even the strictest application of the rule of evidence compels any such result.

HINES HENCHMEN CHEER FREEING OF THEIR 'BOSS'

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Almost everybody wore a grin tonight at the Mononghela Democratic club, where Jimmy Hines' picture hangs over the fireplace. A crowd of nearly 100 gathered to discuss the sudden victory of The Boss over Thomas Dewey.

"The Boss" is what they call James J. Hines in his uptown stronghold of the Eleventh Assembly district. His supporters were jubilant.

As early as 7 o'clock men began to gather in front of the three story brownstone and yellow brick building advertised by a battered tin plate as the "Mononghela Democratic club." They knew there was little chance of their leader paying them a visit, but the Mononghelans wanted to be in their official wigwam to glow over the victory.

HINES RACKETS CASE IS THROWN OUT BY PECORA

Rules It Mistrial Due to 'Poison Words.'

One Republican leader said: "You may take a judge from Tammany Hall, but you never can take Tammany out of a judge."

A brief filed yesterday by Dewey had mentioned that the court, if it found the cross-examination prejudicial, had the right to instruct the jury to disregard it. The prosecutor pointed out that the judge "has been quick at every turn to protect the defendant."

This last phrase, Pecora declared, consisted of a "soft impeachment" and he chose to plead "nolle contendere," or, in other words, not to fight the charge.

One fourteen word question of Dewey's was "fatally prejudicial" to the rights of the defendant, the judge declared in his ruling. The mention of the poultry racket, he insisted, was improper because Dewey had brought in a crime other than the one for which Hines was on trial.

Asks Campaign Respite.

A good indication of how the Democratic organization regards the Hines cause celebre was furnished in the words of Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker, canny legal defender for other Tammany bigwigs who have fallen afoul of the law. Just before adjournment he approached the bench:

"Your Honor, I move that the trial be set for some time after the conclusion of the pending political campaign," he said.

Judge Pecora said there had been no application made to the court for a new trial. Sol Gelb, one of Dewey's assistants, remarked that the state would move for a new trial at a time it "deemed proper."

Hines and members of his entourage were jubilant at the ruling of the court. Immediately afterward the Tammany boss was asked how he felt.

"Do I look like a punch drunk fighter?" he joked.

His attorneys grabbed his arm and drew him away. Later another statement was issued in which Hines said the decision was a "blow" to him.

"I never would have been convicted on that evidence," he declared.

Riotous scenes followed the action in the courtroom. Crowds of Hines partisans surged into the corridors and rotunda of the county corthouse and mobbed the politician. The flash bulbs of newspaper photographers exploded and were trampled underfoot. Finally a cordon of police escorted Hines down the steps and out to a taxicab.

The defendant's $20,000 bail was continued. The next move—the application for a new trial on the same indictment—is up to the state.

Judge Pecora's lengthy opinion, delivered orally, was embroidered by remarks concerning Dewey's cross-examination, such as "like a drop of poison" or a "malignant germ" in the human system.

Tammany Aid on Stand.

A defense witness, Lyon Boston, an assistant district attorney under the preceding Tammany administration, was being questioned last Saturday afternoon about testimony concerning Hines which was given before the so-called "runaway" grand jury which precipitated the appointment of Dewey as special prosecutor of rackets. This was on direct examination and Defense Attorney Stryker had asked for the "entire story."

It was because of this, Dewey contended, that he had a right to question the witness and draw from him the whole truth. The transcript of the testimony on this moot point follows:

Q. [by Dewey] I understood you to say the only reason for the grand jury's desire to indict Hines was the testimony about Hines being in policy? A. I didn't mean to imply that.

Q. I did not think you did. A. There was other mention of Hines, but I felt that it was equally incompetent.

Q. William Fellowes Morgan, the commissioner of markets, discussed the subject at length in the grand jury, didn't he? A. I don't recall that.

Then came the controversial question.

Q. Don't you remember any testimony about Hines and the poultry racket there by him?

Judge 50 Minutes Late.

The crowded courtroom had waited for fifty minutes for the judge this afternoon when three policemen, staggering under the weight of numerous legal tomes, came from the chamber and stacked the books on the bench. Then the justice, blackrobed and solemn, came in.

At the outset he gave orders that no one was to leave the room and no one to enter while he delivered his opinion.

After a review of the transcript and stating the outline of the controversy, Pecora said he realized there had been a substantial expense to the people during the four weeks of the trial, but that "fundamental rights" were at stake which transcended the cost involved.

It was a "deeply rooted" rule of law the judge stated, with the courtroom silently waiting for some hint of the final decision, that a defendant had the right to a fair trial. He said he had searched the record in vain—that it was "barren" of any mention of "the so-called poultry racket" on the direct examination of the witness.

Mere Rumors, Says Judge.

The record of the grand jury testimony on Hine's alleged connection with the poultry racket, declared the judge, consisted of rumors and hearsay. A prosecution carried out on the basis of such evidence, he asserted, would "dethrone justice" and place human rights at the "peril of gossip."

Judge Pecora insisted that the cases which Dewey had cited in his brief did not fit the question at hand. He then decided to read from a dozen cases which he had looked up and declared applicable as precedents for a decision on the controversy. Then came the conclusion.

"The court, with great regret on its part for the necessity, grants the motion of the defense for a mistrial and the withdrawal of a juror," he announced.

Withdrawal of a juror is the action by which a mistrial is carried out. A clerk signalled to Stock Broker Elliot R. Brown, a lanky man, juror No. 1 and foreman. Brown stepped down from the jury box.

Dewey's brief was twenty pages long and cited many cases which he considered at point. Several excerpts follow:

"The law is not designed to obstruct a cross examiner and prevent him from questioning a witness about a subject he had been asked on his direct examination.

"Manifestly, the law's purpose is to arrive at the truth, not to conceal it.

"It would be a travesty upon justice if a party were to be permitted to examine a witness on a particular subject and then prevent opposing counsel to inquire about that same subject.

"In the present case, Boston had been asked what had gone on before the March grand jury. He failed to testify to all the facts dealing with that subject. Patently, the prosecution was entitled, once the door thus had been opened, to have the witness state exactly what had occurred, and thus rebut the implications and innuendoes sought to be created by the defense from the half truths elicited on the direct case.

"The witness was thus told to give 'the entire story' of what went on before the grand jury prior to its break with Dodge. Surely, that opened the door so as to permit the prosecution to inquire about the subject. If the witness gave only half the story, testified as to half-truths, certainly the district attorney was able to disprove the innuendoes and inferences to be drawn therefrom, and, even more clearly, if the witness wilfully misstated the facts, the cross-examiner is privileged to ascertain the truth.

"It must be borne in mind that this case has lasted almost a month. More than fifty witnesses already have been called. It is difficult, if not impossible, to conceive that one question asked in the course of a trial during which 4,600 pages of testimony have been taken could be regarded as prejudicial. The court has been excessively fair and impartial and has been quick, at every turn, to protect the defendant. Even if, by the furthest stretch of the imagination, this question might be considered unwarranted, an instruction by the court that the jury should disregard it would prevent any prejudice from attaching."

12 County Schools Open; Higher Grades Show Gain

Five more high and seven more elementary county district schools opened yesterday. Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent, said that high school attendance had increased. Only one county school, the Flossmoor elementary, is still closed. Because of renovating of the school building classes will not open until next Monday.

PRIDE OF NAVY IN '98 BECOMES A WAR MUSEUM

Portland, Ore., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The old battleship Oregon, bulldog of the United States navy forty years ago, was visited by hundreds of Spanish-American war veterans today at the permanent berth to which it was moved yesterday.

The historic ship will be dedicated a war museum tomorrow as a feature of the fortieth annual national encampment of United Spanish War Veterans in session here this week.

The ship has been a favorite ever since it made a sensational cruise around Cape Horn in 1898. It steamed from Puget sound to Cuban waters where it joined the United States fleet and helped destroy the Spanish armada at Santiago. The forced run of about 17,000 miles was made in 84 days, including several stops. Its top speed was 14½ knots.

Never before had a huge steel battleship been driven so great a distance at such speed. Seventy million Americans avidly watched through newspapers the great war craft's spectacular race against time. The patriotic American still is thrilled by the Oregon's heroic part in the sea victory off Santiago.

The former pride of the navy now is a relic and small compared with the superdreadnaughts of today. Her displacement of 10,288 tons and length of 348 feet are far overshadowed by the modern Colorado's 32,500 tons and 600 feet. While the Oregon had four 13 inch guns, the Colorado has eight 16 inch guns and a top speed of 21 knots.

The old ship was doomed by the navy to the scrap heap. The Oregon legislature appropriated money to buy it and it was turned over to the state in 1925. The craft was towed to an out of the way spot under a bridge in Portland harbor where it rested almost unnoticed until recently when funds were raised by school children and others to move the old fighter. Yesterday it was towed to a memorial park a mile up the Williamette river.

SCHOOL BOARD TO BUILD NEW JUNIOR COLLEGE

Unit to Accommodate 3,000 Students.

Provision for the construction of a new junior college to accommodate 3,000 students will be included in the board of education's 1939 building program, Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson said yesterday. Since September, 1937, enrollment in the city's three junior colleges has increased from 3,798 to 5,237.

	Wright.	Herzel.	Wilson.
September, 1937	1,469	681	1,648
February, 1938	1,871	857	1,700
September, 1938	2,080	957	2,200

The Wilson college is on the campus of the Chicago Teachers college which was recently reorganized by the board of education. The teachers' college now offers a complete curriculum and a degree. Formerly it offered only a three years' course and prospective teachers had to go elsewhere to finish.

Would Replace Wilson College.

The present plan, Dr. Johnson explained, is to build the new junior college on the south side to replace Wilson college, which is overcrowded. Then the old building would be available to the Teachers' college for expansion of its facilities. Enrollment there jumped from 875 to 1,061 since last February.

John C. Christensen, school board architect, said he will draw plans within the next few weeks. These will be submitted to the board when next year's building program is taken up. The cost is estimated at $750,000.

Serve Two Purposes.

Junior colleges offer the first two years of regular college work. They are accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Dr. Johnson explained that the courses are designed to serve two purposes.

1. To prepare students for the last two years of college. After graduating from one of the three junior colleges they can transfer to a larger college or university. Then they can go on and get a degree.

2. To give training beyond high school work to those students who do not want or cannot afford a complete higher education. The board offers these students certain specialized courses such as drafting, chemistry, secretarial work, merchandising, etc.

U. S. Agents Raid 2 Stills but Find Nobody at Home

Alky cookers who took Saturday and Sunday off were lucky. Agents of the federal alcohol tax division under E. C. Yellowley raided two stills during the week-end. At 10242 Normal avenue they found a 350 gallon still. In a garage at 4024 South Park way the agents seized a 100 gallon still. No arrests were made.

TONY WABICH.

Tony Wabich liked to play the horses. There was one in particular —Rushaway—that he never missed a chance to bet on. But he explained to Assistant State's Attorney C. Vernon Thompson that the horse seldom won. That's why he took $11,000 from his former employers, the Cougle Commission company, 1135 Randolph street.

Police arrested Wabich Saturday on a complaint he was quarreling with his wife, Lottie. Yesterday the grand jury voted a true bill charging him with embezzlement. Wabich, 23 years old, was employed as clerk and bookkeeper at the Cougle company. He lives at 2122 North Karlov avenue.

HINT AT SUICIDE PACT IN STRANGLE MURDER INQUEST

Testimony developed yesterday at the inquest into the murder of Mrs. Marie Lamont in the Lorraine hotel last week raised the possibility that both she and her confessed slayer, William F. Raab, had entered into a suicide pact.

Raab strangled Mrs. Lamont to death in his room in the hotel last Tuesday. Her body was found a day later. The following morning Raab was found half submerged in the Garfield park lagoon. He is now in police custody.

Medical experts yesterday told Coroner Frank J. Walsh and a jury that they found enough sleeping medicine in Mrs. Lamont's stomach to cause death. They also showed that Raab, too, had taken some of the medicine. However, the doctors agreed her death was caused by strangulation after she had been stupefied by the drug.

ROBBERS KIDNAP FREE VICTIM.

Moline, Ill., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—James C. Marsh, a local gasoline station attendant, was released, unharmed, on the outskirts of this city today by three armed robbers who kidnaped him after raiding his station. They got only $38.

DARK HORSE WITH A TRACTOR WINS PLOWING MATCH

Farmer, 22, Takes Crown from Champions.

Wearing denims and driving a tractor, Paul Stiefboldt of Naperville won the championship yesterday in the 61st annual Wheatland plowing match. Old timers who watched him recalled that in the early days, plowmen wore top hats and frock coats in the contests and drove horses instead of tractors.

Paul Stiefboldt.

Not since 1934 has there been a horse drawn plow in the contest. A number of the tractors yesterday were equipped with radios which the plowmen played as they turned the furrows.

Defeats Ex-champions.

Although he is only 22 years old, Stiefboldt uncrowned the 1936 and 1937 champion and defeated the man who wore the crown the six preceding years. He won with ease over the plowman all feared most—John Chrissee, 20 years old, an Aurora business man who has never had any farm experience.

Fifteen thousand plowing fans saw the contest, on the farm of Martin Fry, which sprawls into Du Page, Kane, and Will counties three miles north of Plainfield.

The furrows in Steifboldt's half acre weren't too deep. They weren't too shallow. They were straight as could be. And they had that intangible something else that the judges called excellence. His score was 96.

But it took him a long time to find out he'd won. He had scarcely finished when a storm drove the judges to cover and scattered the crowd.

Wheatland Men Are Next.

Orvis Schroyer of Lily Lake, defending champion, was fifth, Carl Shoger of Wheatland, the previous champion, was sixth.

Graeme Stewart of Oswego won the men's open. Shoger's son, Clarence Shoger, won the contest for boys 14 to 18 years old, in which the only girl taking part, Minnie Svoboda of Hinsdale, was last. William Winkler of Naperville was first among boys under 14, and Rollin Boughton of Wheatland first in the 18 to 21 years class.

The new champion's silver trophy looked pretty good to him until he saw Mrs. Harry Graver. She was one of the Wheatland women who cooked the dinner served on the grounds. Her pies and cakes exhibited in the cooking contest got her 16 blue ribbons, 16 red ones, and 8 white ones.

TWO LIONESSES PUT TO DEATH; VICTIMS OF GLUTTED MARKET

Princess and Virginia were two lionesses that whirled around the walls of motordromes in motorcycle sidecars. They liked it. It was a life of thrills and three big steaks a day.

Then the act began going sour. People didn't care to see lionesses whirled around motordromes in sidecars. Their owner, S. W. Thompson, offered them for sale. No sale. He offered to trade them. All that was offered in return were merry-go-rounds, which were little, if any, better than motordromes with lionesses.

Finally Thompson offered to give them away. Lions, which once were worth $1,000 apiece, were just a drug on the market. No one would take them as a gift. So yesterday, Thompson decided he couldn't afford any longer to feed them $3 worth of meat a day. He called in the Illinois Humane society. They called in the Anti-Cruelty society. Two marksmen ended the careers of Princess and Virginia.

18,000 CASES WAIT FOR CIVIL COURTS TO OPEN MONDAY

With 18,000 cases pending, the 1938-'39 Civil court year will open next Monday. Preparation of court calendars was completed yesterday by Victor Schlaeger, clerk of Superior court, and John E. Conroy, clerk of Circuit court.

There are 14,000 cases pending in Superior and 4,000 in Circuit court. When the calendars were drawn last year there were 16,500 pending in the Superior and 4,800 in the Circuit court, but many, on the books for years, were dismissed. Divorce suits account for 1,400 of the cases to be heard in Superior and 400 of those in Circuit court.

PHILANTHROPIST J. E. MacMURRAY WILL WED AT 76

Iowa Widow, 54, to Be His Bride in West.

Pasadena, Cal., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—James E. MacMurray, philanthropist and former Chicago industrialist, will be married here Oct. 4 to Mrs. Kathryn T. Smith, formerly of Mount Vernon, Ia. MacMurray is 76 years old and Mrs. Smith is 54.

Announcement of their forthcoming wedding was made by the couple today. After the ceremony they will entrain for Chicago and several other Illinois cities and will then make a round the world tour, they said.

Mrs. Smith came to Pasadena thirteen years ago. She is president of the Cornell College [Iowa] Alumni Association of Southern California and is prominent in Shakespearean clubs in Pasadena.

Acme Steel President.

MacMurray has lived here three years. For twenty-five years he was president of the Acme Steel corporation of Chicago. He was an Illinois state senator for eight years and formerly practiced law in Quincy, Ill.

MacMurray has given away millions of dollars to educational institutions, principally to MacMurray College for Women at Jacksonville, Ill. He has donated at least $2,250,000 to that school. Other gifts include $235,000 to the Garrett Biblical institute in Evanston, Ill.

The name of the Jacksonville college was changed from Illinois Women's college to MacMurray eight years ago in honor of its benefactor. MacMurray is head of the college board of trustees.

Born on Missouri Farm.

MacMurray was born on a farm in Knox county, Missouri. After graduation from college he was admitted to the Illinois bar and practiced law for seven years. When he took the helm of the Acme Steel company he built it up from a comparatively small firm to an enterprise with two plants in Chicago and branches all over the United States.

He was a senator from the 5th Illinois senatorial district [Chicago's Hyde Park]. He lived for a time in Evanston and in Barrington, and took an active part in religious circles in the Chicago metropolitan area.

His wife, the former Jennie A. Rubel, whom he married July 4, 1908, died last Nov. 17 at their home in South Pasadena.

MARY MILES MINTER'S SISTER SAYS MOTHER HID MURDER WEAPON

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Fillmore, sister of Mary Miles Minter, former screen actress, today accused her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, of concealing the gun which killed William Desmond Taylor, Hollywood director, 15 years ago.

She charged that her mother, with her dead grandmother, Mrs. Julia Miles, hid the weapon in a Louisana bayou.

Mrs. Fillmore made the remark under cross-examination in the court of Superior Judge Thomas W. Gould, where the mother and daughter are involved in a suit over possession of $50,000 worth of furniture.

Paint Trafic Warnings on Evanston Sidewalks

Evanston's city employés yesterday began painting warnings of trafic dangers on the suburb's sidewalks. The signs urge pedestrians to "Look Both Ways Before Crossing." Under the present plan the message will be painted in 1,200 places.

Skidding Auto Kills Boy Cyclist on Illinois Road

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Thomas Snider, 16 years old, of New Berlin, 18 miles east of this city, was killed when his bicycle was hit by an auto that skidded on the oiled surface of the old Jacksonville-Springfield road. The auto was driven by Lindsey McCoy of Springfield.

WE ASKED 1000 MEN TO RATE THIS WHISKEY

We asked 1,000 men to rate 3-year Old Quaker. One of them (right) was John A. Irwine, New Jersey business man. His word-for-word opinion follows:

"I'm sure I hit the right price when I say close to $4.00 a quart. Man—tell me where I can get it for less! It has what I call bouquet—it sure tastes slick, all right."

1,000 Men Agree

Here is the answer we received when we asked 1,000 men to rate Old Quaker 3-year-old without knowing its age, name or price. And their answer will prove a bombshell in the whiskey trade—will interest thousands of men outside.

These 1,000 men rated 3-year Old Quaker as worth an average of $1.39 more per quart than its actual price. The answers in this survey were recorded and sworn to.

Please Repeat This Trial

We say—don't accept our opinion that 3-year Old Quaker is one of America's greatest whiskies. Don't take the judgment of these 1,000 men that it's worth over $1.00 more a quart. Make your own trial.

Compare it with any other brand. And may the best one win. If it's Old Quaker—you've probably discovered a way to cut your whiskey bills one-third. 3-year Old Quaker is now on sale. Try it today.

Reviews 13,000 Troops.

Flashing guns, the smell of gun powder and clouds of smoke from heavy and light artillery and bombs hung heavy over the Zeppelin field this afternoon when Hitler reviewed 13,000 troops, fighting planes, and mechanized military equipment.

The Fuehrer stamped up and down with excitement on the reviewing platform as the guns roared. Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party, hugged his elbows with delight.

"During the past weeks," Hitler told the troops, "I have had many an opportunity to test your worth personally. I have seen you at maneuvers, at the target stand, and on the training ground.

"I have arrived at the comforting knowledge that the nation again can look satisfied upon its soldiers. For that I would like to thank you."

Goering Taken Ill.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering missed the military display. He was taken ill last night and removed to a nearby town.

A doctor's statement said: "Field Marshal Goering has contracted inflammation of the lymphatic glands in the right leg. In addition he has catarrh of the throat. His feverish condition demands several days of absolute rest in bed."

HIGH POINTS OF SPEECH

NUREMBERG, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Following is a partial text containing the important portions of the speech of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler at the Nazi party congress today:

"Fifteen years have passed since the first 'German day' [forerunner of the annual Nazi party rally]. The marching organizations of the Nazi party of that time rose to leadership and representation of the German reich. Miracles were accomplished in these few years, for what are one and a half decades in the life of nations and in world history?

"We have become conscious that thus the splintering of the nation has come to an end and that for the first time in our history a true unity of the reich—a unity of the people—has been found.

Explains War on Jews.

"If today the question still is asked why national socialism [Nazi-ism] in Germany fights so fanatically the Jewish element and still insists upon its removal, the answer can only be:

"Because national socialism desires to establish a real community of the people:

"Because this community possesses moral authorization for existence only if the necessary construction in leadership and followers is accomplished in accordance with incontestable ethnological and factual viewpoints.

"Because, since we are national socialists, we cannot permit that above our working people a foreign race which has nothing in common with us shall thrust itself as leaders.

"Now we are experiencing on a greater scale exactly the same thing as in the long years of internal struggle.

"The solid front of others has faced us since the day of our assumption of power.

"It is the same conspiracy of democracy and bolshevism against the national socialist community.

ASSAILS DEMOCRACIES

"It fills us with repulsion when we see how so-called international democrats, while advocating liberty, fraternity, justice, self-determination of peoples, et cetera, work hand in hand with Moscow bolshevism.

"One may ask why we take so much notice of democracies and treat them so invidiously.

"First, it is because we as the attacked party have to do so.

"Second, because these phenomena in their effects are so disgusting.

"Insincerity begins at the moment when democracies call themselves the rule by the people and decry authoritarian states as dictatorships. I believe I can truly say that in all the world today there are only two great powers who have a government backed by 99 per cent of the people.

Sees Public Hoodwinked.

"What is posing as democracy is mostly nothing but hoodwinking of public opinion through artful press, money, manipulations, cunning and utilization of results.

"How unreal the whole inner being of these democracies is is shown by the attitude they assume toward others according to the circumstances, of course.

"We see that inevitable despotisms of small countries are lauded to the skies when they fit into the democratic program; they even declare their readiness to fight for them when necessary; whereas, on the other hand, the greatest popular demonstrations of confidence in states that are unpalatable to democracies are passed over in silence, or else distorted or even turned into the contrary.

"These democracies even exalt the bolshevist form of government when it suits them politically despite its mass shootings, executions, tortures, et cetera.

"Yet they affect to admire them as honest democratic institutions.

"Is it not grim mockery of world history that amid honest to goodness democrats at Geneva a bloody representative of the cruelest tyranny of all times sits as an honorable member?

"Same as we have found in Germany, a close connection between Jewish capitalism and theoretical communistic anti-capitalism, so it is in the rest of the world.

Fought for "Rights of Man."

"For fifteen years Germany fought in vain for the most natural and simplest rights of man. They were refused the German people and the reich even though the Germany of those days was not led by Nazis, but was ruled by democrats and Marxists.

"When the national socialist state, surfeited with continous suppression and mishandling, finally reëstablished equality through its own power, others complained with bitter hypocritical reproach that all this could have been done by way of reciprocal understanding.

"Without regard for the opinion of the natives, they conquered continents by bloody force. But when Germany demands return of her colonies they declare, bewildered over the fate of the poor natives, they can under no circumstances deliver them to such a destiny. In the same moment they do not hesitate to call the subjects in their own colonies to order with airplanes and bombs.

"That means the beloved colored fellow citizens are forced further to endure the hated foreign rule. These are, however, bombs in the civil interest, different from those brutal bombs Italians used in the Abyssinian [Ethiopian] war.

Finds Democracies "Wailing."

"These democracies complain about the unbearable and horrible measures with which Germany and now also Italy are trying to rid themselves of Jewish elements.

"In all these great democratic countries only a few people live within 1 square kilometer. In Italy and Germany, on the other hand, more than 140 live within the same area. Nevertheless, Germany, without batting an eyelash, once accepted for decades hundreds of thousands upon hundreds of thousands of these Jews.

"Now when complaints finally are growing bigger and bigger and when the nation is no longer willing to permit herself to be bled by these parasites they [the democracies] begin to wail about it. These democratic countries, however, do not substitute a helpful act for their hypocritical attitude, but on the contrary assert icily that naturally there is no room in their countries.

"We are able—God be praised and thanked—to prevent any plundering or rape of Germany. The state before us had been blackmailed for nearly fifteen years.

HITS CZECHOSLOVAKIA

"This attitude [of words instead of deeds] becomes unbearable for us in that moment when a great portion of our people, seemingly defenseless, is subjected to unheard of mishandlings, when the babble of democratic phrases is raised in threats against our fellow citizens. I am now speaking of Czechoslovakia.

"This state is a democracy, that is it was established according to democratic principles. The overwhelming majority of the inhabitants of this state, without being asked, were just forced to accept the construction fabricated at Versailles and obey them [the Czechs]. As a genuine democracy thereupon they began to suppress the majority of the inhabitants in this state, mishandle them and take away their right to live.

"Gradually it was attempted to impregnate the world with the conception that this state had to fulfill a special political and military mission. The former French minister of aviation, Pierre Cot, elucidated this recently. According to him, Czechoslovakia in event of war is destined to attack German cities and industries with bombs.

Criticizes Constitution.

"This task, however, stands in outright contradiction to the attitudes and interests of life and desire of a majority of the inhabitants of this state. Therefore a majority of the inhabitants must be silent. Any protest against their fate is an attack against the aims of this state therefore not in conformity with the constitution.

"This constitution, however, as it was concocted by Democrats, is not based on rights of the people but on the political extingency of the suppressors which required a construction which gave the Czech people sovereign hegemony. Whoever opposes this conception is a 'state enemy,' therefore an outcast according to democratic principals.

"The so-called state people, the Czechs, have thus been chosen by providence, of which the former creators of Versailles availed themselves, to guard that no one would arise against this state.

"But should someone of the majority of oppressed peoples raise a protest then he may be struck down or if necessary or desired, killed.

Says Germans are Oppressed.

"If this was a foreign affair which did not concern us we might just note it, as so many others, as an interesting illustration of Democratic conceptions of peoples' rights and self-determination.

"But what imposes upon us Germans a participation in this problem is something wholly natural.

"Among nationalities that are being oppressed in this state [Czechoslovakia] are 3,500,000 Germans, in other words as many people of our race as for instance Denmark has inhabitants.

"These Germans are also God's creatures. The Almighty has not created them to be delivered into the hands of a Versailles made state, an alien power which they hate.

"And He has not created 7,500,000 Czechs so that they should take charge of or control 3,500,000, still less assault and torture them.

Calls Conditions Intolerable.

"Conditions in this state are, as is well known, intolerable. Here, politically, over 3,500,000 people are being robbed of their right of self-determination under the self-determination slogan of a certain Mr. [Woodrow] Wilson.

"Economically, these people are being systematically ruined and doomed to slow extinction. The misery of Sudeten Germans is nameless misery. They want to annihilate them. Humanly, they are oppressed and humilated in an intolerable manner.

"When 3,500,000 members of a people of nearly 80,000,000 are not permitted to sing a song that the Czechs disapprove, when they are bloodily beaten just because they wear stockings Czechs dislike to see and when they are ill-treated because they use a salute that displeases the Czechs—although they only use it among themselves—when they are chased and persecuted like helpless animals for every manifestation of national life—it may all be to the worthy representatives of our democracies a matter of indifference. Possibly they may sympathize with it all because it is only a matter of 3,500,000 Germans.

Says Outlawry Must Cease.

"I can, however, tell the representatives of these great democracies that it is not a matter of indifference to us and that if these tormented creatures can not find justice and assistance themselves, they shall get both from us. The outlawry of these people must cease.

"I have said so plainly in my speech of Feb. 20. It was a shortsighted construction of the Versailles statesmen when they created the abnormal structure of Czechoslovakia.

"The order to assault and ill-treat millions of other nationalities could only be carried out so long as nations of the same kin were themselves suffering from the consequences of general world-mistreatment.

"To believe that such a régime could go on without limits and forever is to labor under a hardly comprehensible delusion.

"In my reichstag speech Feb. 20 I stated that the reich no longer would tolerate further oppression and persecution of these 3,500,000 Germans and I beg foreign statesmen to be convinced that this is not a mere phrase.

"The national socialistic state has for the sake of European peace shouldered very heavy sacrifices. It has not only refrained from pursuing thoughts of so-called revenge but has contrarily banned it from the whole public life.

OLIVE BRANCH TO FRANCE

"In the course of the seventeenth century France gradually took Alsace-Lorraine away from the old German empire in deepest peace time. Germany, in 1870-'71 after a severe war which was forced upon her, demanded these territories back and obtained them. After the world war they were lost again.

"To us Germans Strasbourg cathedral means much. If we, nevertheless, have drawn a final line here it is done to serve future European peace. Nobody could force us to abandon revisionist demands voluntarily if we did not wish to abandon them.

"We did abandon them because it was our will to end the everlasting fight with France once and for all.

"On other frontiers, too, the reich has taken the same measures and the same attitude guided by the highest sense of responsibility.

An Expression of Peace.

"We have voluntarily assumed the heaviest sacrifices in renunciation so as to preserve the peace of Europe and smooth the path of reconciliation for nations. We have acted more than loyally.

"Neither in press nor film nor on the stage have we made propaganda for contrary views. Not even in literature have we permitted exceptions.

"In the same spirit I have made other offers to solve European tensions. They were rejected for reasons which to us remain incomprehensible. We have voluntarily limited our powers in an important region hoping we shall never again have to cross swords with the state concerned.

"Not because we would not be able to build more than 35 per cent of the ships [a reference to Germany's treaty limiting her fleet tonnage to 35 per cent of Britain's], but in order to do our share bringing about a final relaxation and pacification of the European situation.

Accepts Frontiers as Final.

"In Poland there was a great patriot and statesman ready to conclude an accord with Germany. We immediately accepted and made an agreement which means more to European peace than all the talk in Geneva and the temple of nations together.

"Germany has today on all sides completely pacified frontiers and is determined—and has said so—that she will accept these frontiers as final so as to give Europe a feeling of security and peace.

"This self limitation and self restriction seems, however, to have been interpreted by many as weakness. I would correct this error here and now.

"I believe it cannot serve European peace if the impression is allowed to prevail that the reich is disinterested in all European questions, and especially that Germany is disposed to remain indifferent to the sufferings and lives of 3,500,000 Germans and pay no heed to their misfortunes.

SPEAKS TO LONDON, PARIS

"We understand it when England and France represent their interests in the whole world.

"But I should like to assure the statesmen of Paris and London that there are German interests too which we are determined to take care of, and that in all circumstances.

"I would remind them of my Reichstag speech in 1933 when I told the world the first time that there can be national questions wherein our path clearly is defined and that I would take any risk and suffer any privations rather than renounce such essentials.

"No European state has done more for peace than Germany! None has made greater sacrifices!

"But it must be understood these sacrifices have limits somewhere and that the National Socialist state must not be confused with the Germany of Bethmann-Hollweg or Hertling [wartime chancellors].

"If I give these explanations here it is because in the course of this year events have taken place which force us to revise our attitude in some respects.

"As you are aware, in Czechoslovakia after endless postponements of a plebiscite, at least communal elections were held. Even in Prague the untenability of the Czech position was recognized.

"They were afraid of the unity of Germans and other nationalities. It therefore was believed special measures were needed to influence election results by the exercise of pressure.

Says Benes Invented Lie.

"The Czech government's notion was that the only effective means would be brutal intimidation. For this intimidation a display of the material strength of the Czech state seemed called for.

"Especially Sudetens were to be shown the power of the Czech fist in order to warn them against standing up for their national interests and voting accordingly.

"In order to make this display plausible in the eyes of the world, Benes [President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia] invented the lie that Germany mobilized troops and was preparing to march into Czechoslovakia.

"I can say this: Such mendacious allegations are nothing new. About a year ago the press of another country published a fake story about 20,000 German soldiers landing in Morocco. The Jewish fabricator of this lie hoped to conjure up a war out of this. At that time a brief notification to the French ambassador sufficed to kill this infamous swindle.

Charges Prague With Deception.

"Again, the ambassador of another great country was assured forthwith that there was not a word of truth in this Czech allegation. The assurance was repeated and also immediately given Prague.

"Only the Prague government needed this deception as a pretext for its own terrorist blackmailing and influencing of elections. Here I can only additionally assure that:

"Firstly, at that time not a single German soldier more was drafted beyond those actually serving.

"Secondly, that not a single regiment nor any other unit marched toward the border; that during this period not even one soldier was outside his peacetime garrison and that, to the contrary, orders were given on our part to avoid even the slightest impression of pressure upon Czechoslovakia.

"In spite of this, a base campaign started in which all Europe organized to serve the criminal aims of a government which intended to put an election under military pressure in order to intimidate citizens and cheat them of their right to vote.

Says Reich Did Nothing.

"This campaign, which needed some moral justification for its aims, in its unscrupulousness did not even shrink from casting suspicion upon a great state, to alarm all Europe, and if need be tumble it into bloody war.

"As Germany had no designs and on the contrary was convinced that communal elections would confirm the rights of the Sudeten Germans, the Reich's government on its part did nothing.

"This, however, was taken as an inducement to assert that, after nothing had happened, Germany had retreated owing to the determined stand of the Czechs and firm interventions by England and France.

"You will understand, my party comrades, that a great power cannot accept for the second time such base interference. Therefore I have drawn the necessary consequences as a precaution.

READY TO STRIKE BACK

"I am a national Socialist and as such accustomed to strike back immediately against any attack. I know quite well that through leniency such an irreconcilable enemy as Czechdom can not be reconciled but instead it will be incited to even greater arrogance.

"The old German reich can be a warning for us. In its love for peace it went to the limit of self-surrender and yet in the end it could not prevent war.

"In recognition of these facts I decided May 28 on very severe measures:

"Firstly, on my orders the strengthening of the army and an extensive increase in the air force was begun immediately and executed.

Boasts of Building Forts.

"You may rest assured that since May 28 the most gigantic fortification works of all times have been under construction.

"I ordered German highways commissioner, Fritz Todt, to do this task. Owing to the power of his organizing genius he has accomplished one of the most tremendous achievements of all times. I should like to give just a few figures:

"At the western fortification works [facing France] which have been under way for two years there now are in Todt's organization 278,000 workers in all. Beyond that there are

FRENCH HAIL PERSHING AND YANKS AT SITE OF ST. MIHIEL VICTORY

ST. MIHIEL, France, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing and the American First Army of world war days were honored today at ceremonies commemorating the wiping out of the Germans' St. Mihiel salient 20 years ago.

Gen. Pershing, although in France, was unable to attend on account of delicate health. He will celebrate his 78th birthday tomorrow at Aix-en-Provence. The American Legion was represented by a color guard and a delegation of members of the Paris post.

The celebration annually honors the 72 hours of fighting when the First, Fourth, and Fifth army corps—forming the First army under Gen. Pershing's command—eliminated the German salient which had been sticking like a thorn in France's side for four years.

At dawn Sept. 12, 1918, the Americans went over the top. Thirty-six hours later they had eliminated the Germans' threat to the Verdun-Nancy railroad, the main line from Paris to the east.

POLAND FEELS HITLER SPEECH MODERATED BY FIRM BRITISH STAND

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 12.—The official Polish reaction to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's speech at Nuremberg tonight is that it did not justify the apprehensions felt in certain European capitals. This official view was expressed with evident relief.

The Warsaw government's satisfaction is concerned with the negative aspects of the speech—namely: that it contains no new demands regarding the Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia and no reference to a pebiscite or union. Moreover, it is felt the Czechs may be more inclined now to grant the full demands of the minorities. In general, it is believed the door to an agreement still is open.

NAZI PAPER RULES OUT BRITAIN AS MEDIATOR IN CZECH-NAZI CRISIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Tomorrow's Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung declares that it considers "British mediation in Czechoslovakia as having failed and that it is now up to Germany to take the initiative." Demanding that "a new effective method must no wbe found to solve the Sudeten German problem," the paper says that "England has committed herself so one sidedly that she can no longer be regarded as a mediator in the dispute between the Germanic minority and the Prague government."

100,000 men of the labor service and numerous army engineering battalions and infantry divisions. Not counting material delivered by other means of transportation, the German railways alone deliver approximately 8,000 freight cars daily. We are using 100,000 tons of gravel daily and the fortifications in the west will be complete before beginning of winter. Their defense capacities already are completely assured and completed. They consist of 17,000 armored and ferro-concrete works.

Says Germans Stand Armed.

"Behind this front of steel and concrete which has partly three lines and at certain points four, and up to 50 kilometers [about 30 miles] in depth, the German people stand armed.

"I have made this the most tremendous effort of all times in order to serve peace. But I will under no circumstances look idly on continuance of oppression of German nationals in Czechoslovakia.

"Mr. Benes uses tactics, he talks and says he will organize negotiations, clear up questions of procedure after the Geneva pattern and make small concessions for the sake of quiet.

"Things cannot go on like this. This is not a matter of mere words but of rights—violated rights. What Germans demand is the right of self-determination which every other people possesses, and no phrases.

"Mr. Benes has no business to make presents to the Sudetens—they have a right to their own lives the same as all other peoples. If democracies, however, should be of the conviction that in this case they must protect the suppression of Germans with all means, if necessary, then this will have the most serious consequences.

Demands Suppression Cease.

"I hope to serve peace more if I leave no doubt about this. I never put a demand that Germany may suppress 3,500,000 Frenchmen, or that perhaps 3,500,000 Englishmen be submitted to us for oppression, but I make the demand that suppression of 3,500,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia is to cease and that the free right of self-determination take its place.

"We would be sorry if our relations with other European states would become clouded or suffer from this demand. But it would not be our fault.

"On the whole it is a matter of the Czechoslovak government to arrange affairs with authorized representatives of the Sudeten Germans and come to an understanding one way or other.

"However, it is my affair and yours, my fellow citizens, to see to it that in this case that right not be turned into injustice. For the fate of German fellow citizens is at stake.

Bemoans Fate of Arabs.

"Neither am I willing to let another Palestine arise right here in the heart of Germany, through the smartness of other statesmen. Poor Arabs are defenseless and may be left in the lurch. Germans in Czechoslovakia are neither defenseless nor left in the lurch. Let them note that.

"I believe I must express this view before the party congress which is attended for the first time by representatives of our German Austrian provinces. They know best how it hurts to be cut off from the mother land. They will be the first to perceive the meaning of what I am saying.

"They, too, will joyfully agree with me when I declare before the whole nation that we would not deserve to be Germans if we were not ready to assume this attitude and bear the consequences, whatever they may be.

"When we think of unheard of demands which in the last months even a miniature state dared to make upon Germany, we can only explain it by inadequate willingness to recognize the German reich as a state which is more than a pacific upstart.

"As I stood in Rome this spring it became spiritually conscious to me that human history was viewed in too small periods and subsequently in too small an extent.

"A thousand and one-half thousand years embrace only a few generations. Italy of today and Germany of today are living proof thereof. They are regenerated nations which in this sense might be designated as new nations.

"This youth does not rest alone on a new land but on historic soil. The Roman empire is beginning to breathe again. Germany, however, with an endlessly younger history as a state is not newly born. I have had the insignia of the old German reich brought to Nuremberg, not alone to show the German people themselves, but also to make the whole world realize that over one and a half millenium before the new world was discovered, a powerful Germanic-German reich existed.

"The new Italian-Roman empire is just the same as the new Germanic-German reich is in reality a very old phenomena. One need not love them. But no power on earth can remove them.

Declares Pride Fortified.

"Fellow party men and women! National Socialists!

"In this hour ends the first party convention of greater Germany. You are all filled with tremendous and historic impressions of these days.

"Your national pride and confidence have been fortified by this demonstration of strength and unity of our people. Go home with that faith and trust which you have been carrying within your hearts for nearly two decades.

"Once more you have the right to carry your German heads proudly and high. But we all have a duty never to bend again under foreign will, this be our solemn pledge!

"So help us God!"

Hungary Calls Hitler's Speech Move for Peace

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A foreign ministry authority said official Hungary considered Adolf Hitler's Nuremberg speech today "a definite contribution to permanent peace in Europe with the door wide open for negotiations." This official indicated Hungary would demand equal rights for Hungarian minorities in Czechoslovakia the same as Hitler asks for the Sudeten Germans.

FRENCH EXPECT 'ANXIOUS HOURS FOR MANY WEEKS'

Paris Believes Danger Is Postponed a While.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 12.—"Thank God, war won't start tomorrow."

This about sums up the first reaction of the French people to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's speech at Nuremberg today. Official reaction is phrased in less dramatic language and comes to much the same thing, but a spokesman ruefully predicted there will be "anxious hours for many weeks."

It is pointed out with certain relief that while the violent tone of the speech was alarming, the Fuehrer did not deliver any kind of ultimatum or add anything really new to the situation.

"Negotiations will continue," an official spokesman said. "That is the main thing. Otherwise there is nothing new for good or bad. The watchword continues to be calm and vigilance."

Set Up Anti-Aircraft Guns.

The government was taking no chances. Early this morning anti-aircraft batteries were quietly and rapidly set up at various points around the outskirts of the capital. News photographers were refused authorization to photograph the batteries on the ground that they were new and secret weapons.

Also, government agents have been quietly prowling around the country villages near Paris making preparations for the evacuation of a large part of the civilian population of the capital in case of need.

This afternoon the cabinet met for over two hours while nervous crowds waited on the sidewalk outside the ministry of war. After the meeting the following communique was issued:

"The cabinet examined recent diplomatic documents and external political events which were related by M. Bonnet [Georges Bonnet, foreign minister]. The cabinet paid homage to the nation's patriotism, to its calm, and to its sangfroid [coolness]. It also received expressions of fidelity to France from North Africa and the entire colonial empire. This worthy and sensible attitude of the nation is particularly useful for the defense of peace."

Arrange for Civilians.

In addition, Minister of the Interior Albert Sarraut announced that various measures to insure security of the civilian populations were being taken. The minister for national economy, Raymond Patenotre, said that all necessary economic measures had been figured out and the country would not be caught economically unprepared as in 1914 if war came.

The climax of the afternoon came a few minutes later when two military cars pulled up to the war ministry and members of the superior war council, headed by Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, jumped out to confer with Premier Edouard Daladier. Gamelin, Alphonse Joseph Georges, member of the superior war council, and Gaston Billotte, military governor of Paris, kept an all night vigil at the war ministry.

Foreign Minister Bonnet, surrounded by aids, sat next to the radio in his office at the Quai D'Orsay throughout the whole of Hitler's speech, while special messengers rushed up every few minutes with fragments of the official text wired paragraph by paragraph from Nuremberg.

Scramble for Newspapers.

Wild scenes took place up and down the Champs Elysées and boulevards when newspaper extras with Hitler's speech appeared on the streets. Crowds ranging from fifty to over a hundred persons surrounded each vendor the moment he was spotted and fought like wild animals for copies. They did not shove and jostle. They wrestled.

The battle was not over when a customer finally reached the vendor and obtained a paper. The pack would turn on him and try to tear it out of his hands. Losers in these tugs of war could be seen rushing away, brandishing torn scraps in the hope of piecing out a few sentences.

NAZIS ESTABLISH 'VERBOTEN' ZONE NEXT TO FRANCE

Suspicious Persons Must Leave by Oct. 1.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

METZ, France, Sept. 12.—All "suspicious" people are to be expelled by Oct. 1 from the frontier zone where Germany is completing a triple line of fortifications.

German police along the frontier today started issuing special identification cards. All inhabitants of the frontier zone will have to carry them at all times. Former political enemies of the Nazi régime and other suspicious persons will be refused these papers, which will mean that they will have to leave the region.

Further precautions on the German side of the border strike at foreign visitors. Many French citizens living in France near the German border have been asked when crossing into Germany where they planned to go. Several persons have been told that such and such villages in the Saar district are now forbidden ground to foreigners.

More Troops Reach Border.

New troop transports are reported to have arrived at various points in the zone of the fortifications. Troops arrived recently at Sriedlingen and Weil-Leopoldschoehe, which are near Basel, Switzerland, as well as France. Trafic on the international bridge spanning the Rhine at Huningen was interrupted. Those who wanted to cross the Rhine were taken by boat during the day time but at night all trafic was stopped.

On the French side of the frontier, especially in the smaller towns, nervousness is increasing. Despite efforts of their newspapers to reassure the population, it was learned that during the last few days savings banks in the French frontier district were almost stormed by depositors who waited in long lines outside the doors for an opportunity to withdraw their savings. From Thionville it was reported restrictions in paying out money from the savinps bank were ordered by the bank management.

Financial quarters in the French frontier district are considerably worried by what is described as the newest and most fantastic German scheme to obtain foreign currency. It has been observed that during the last week considerable amounts of German bank notes were offered and sold in the French frontier region at any exchange rate. While it was first believed German Jews and other disaffected elements were smuggling money out, it is now believed this money smuggling is an operation of the Nazis themselves to obtain foreign currency.

All the bank notes offered were brand new. In many quarters fear was expressed that this alleged official German money smuggling may soon be followed by emission of new German bank notes which will make the smuggled money in France worthless.

Name for Each of Three Lines.

From the German side of the frontier it was learned that the internationally known name of the German fortifications—Siegfried line—is not quite correct. Actually the first of three separate lines of the fortifications is called the Siegfried line, while the second is called the Hindenburg line, and the third the Hitler line.

How relentlessly the Nazi officials are pressing day and night labor on these fortifications is graphically indicated by a view of many roads along which long columns of trucks pass twenty-four hours a day, carrying materials like cement, stones, and barbed wire to the construction zones.

Charities Raise $50,000 by Tag Sale on Streets

The red heart-shaped tags of the Chicago Associated and Federated Charities were exchanged for approximately $50,000 in nickels and dimes on the streets of Chicago yesterday. About 4,000 volunteer workers took part in the annual tag day sale, held for the benefit of fifty charitable agencies. Mrs. John A. Shannon is president of the Associated Charities, with thirty-nine affiliated agencies; Mrs. Frank Specht is president of the Federated group, which represents eleven.

JUGO-SLAVIA SEES HITLER'S SPEECH AS 'AGGRESSIVE'

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's speech in Nuremberg was considered in official circles here tonight as "very aggressive," but not meaning immediate termination of the Czechoslovak-Sudeten negotiations. These sources said Jugo-Slavia would remain neutral even if England and France became involved in war. It was added, however, that Jugo-Slavia would fight in accordance with her obligations under the little entente pact should Hungary also attack Czechoslovakia.

IN STRICTEST CONFIDENCE

By CALEB

A MEMBER of our credit department had a visitor who said: "Every few days you send out of this store a million dollars worth of merchandise for which you have received not one penny, and over which you no longer have sure control. I mean the things bought here every day by thousands of charge customers and taken by them, delivered or shipped to them without their having paid you one penny. How can you do it?"

The credit man smiled. "We have more security in the matter than you think," he replied. "I might go into various aspects of the subject, but I'd rather answer your question by naming the element that dominates not only this, but almost every other phase of our business.

"That element is confidence.

"To begin with, it has a good deal to do with the presence of our customers here. Most of them have read our advertisements. They are confident that what we say in them is the truth. They come down to make their choice, they ask questions of the salesperson who waits on them. Generally they have no way of checking on what our people say—but again, they have confidence.

"We reciprocate; we have confidence in them. There are, of course, certain steps dictated by good business judgment to eliminate undue risk—but in the main we base our transaction with each of them on confidence.

"Our customers have confidence in us, we have it in them—and we both have confidence in the people who made and who chose the goods in question. Take away that mutual confidence—and our business wouldn't be worth a great deal to us or to our customers. It is interesting, too, that this confidence seems to be misplaced only infrequently. My experience and that of my associates is that people for the most part thoroughly deserve such confidence.

"Strangely enough, although we deal primarily in goods that can be touched, handled, utilized and enjoyed, one of the most important elements in each transaction is that intangible and invaluable one of mutual confidence. It explains why every few days we can release a million dollars worth of goods that hasn't yet been paid for."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

In Prague's broad main street, Vaclavske Namiesti, dense crowds milled around news vendors selling extras which appeared every half hour.

One, which provoked an uproar all the length of the street, was a report that the French cabinet was sitting in extraordinary session along with the higher war council.

Military Declared on Alert.

At this same moment the council of the Czechoslovak cabinet was sitting in Kolovrak palace. Utmost efforts failed to get any indication if it was deciding on military measures. Semi-official spokesmen for the army contented themselves with saying, as they have ever since May 21, "at any moment we are ready for any eventuality."

This was interpreted as meaning that at present sufficient men are under arms and engaged in maneuvers to take care of any sudden attack on the border. They would supply coverage while the mobilization of the reserves would take place.

Disorders flared in the Sudeten region of Czechoslovakia (black area on map) after Hitler's Nuremberg speech. Two Sudeten Germans were shot and wounded at Graslitz while Nazis were cheering the speech. There were bomb explosions at Falkenau and Eger.

The Czech cabinet, however, was taking one decision which was practically agreed upon earlier in a conference between Premier Milan Hodza and Dr. Joseph Cerny, minister of the interior. It was that hereafter extraordinary measures for police protection would be taken in border districts to prevent any such number of incidents as those which took place last week-end. To five incidents reported late last night were added eight more this morning. The total indicated the general state of unrest throughout the Sudeten German [Nazi] territory.

Suspect Presence of Agitators.

These incidents had a certain sameness about them. In practically every case the Sudeten Germans were singing the forbidden German anthem "Deutschland Ueber Alles," and the Nazi Horst Wessel song. That seemed to add substantially to the belief held in Prague that secret German agents—alleged to be specialists in creating civil disturbances—have slipped across the border and are promoting unrest among the Sudeten Germans.

One other indication of the seriousness of the situation was the unusual number of well-dressed youths who have suddenly appeared in Prague hotels and coffee houses. Many of them have flocked in from the Sudeten German territory, notably from the fashionable watering places like Carlsbad and Marienbad.

BURDEN OF PEACE PUT ON CZECHS AND ALLIES, ITALIAN OFFICIALS SAY

ROME, Sept. 12.—(AP)—High Italian Fascist officials expressed the belief that Adolf Hitler's Nuremberg speech today placed responsibility for European peace squarely up to Czechoslovakia and her allies. They expressed admiration for what they termed the "dignity" and "moderation" of the Fuehrer's speech.

One usually reliable source said it was up to England and France to face realities and realize that rights of the Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia could no longer be denied.

Fascist leaders especially approved Hitler's support of the Rome-Berlin axis and expression of German friendship for Italy. Although comparatively few Italians understand German, enormous crowds stood anxiously before radio sets throughout the speech. Many asked each other: "Is it war or peace?"

"It's peace for the moment, anyhow," said those who understood.

LENGTHY CZECH CRISIS SEEN BY LEAGUE LEADERS

British Dominion Chiefs Hold Conference.

GENEVA, Sept. 12.—(AP)—"The crisis continues" was the general reaction among diplomats who were here today for the 19th session of the league of nations assembly. They had listened to the broadcast of the Nuremberg speech of Adolf Hitler.

A Russian spokesman declared, "it was just what we expected—more bluff, nothing precise but a continuation of the sword rattling policy."

A Czechoslovak spokesman said, "it was violent and full of threats. The important thing about that speech is the reaction it has upon Paris and London."

The French delegation declared it was "not as bad as it might have been. It was full of threats, but the threats were general."

Needs Time for Forts.

One spokesman for league officials saw in the speech a plan to push the German fortifications on the French frontier to completion, and at the same time keep up pressure on Czechoslovakia until he finally was ready to announce he must "step in to keep order."

After the speech Earl De La Waar, British lord privy seal, conferred with High Comissioners Stanley M. Bruce of Australia, William J. Jordan of New Zealand, Charles Le Water of South Africa, and the Canadian minister of justice, Ernest Lapointe. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Ireland also participated.

De La Warr, who arrived by plane in the evening, carried the British cabinet's instructions to tell the dominion leaders of London's position in the Czechoslovak crisis and ascertain their views.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Ireland was elected president of the league of nations assembly as the session opened.

Main assembly interest seemed to be in continued conversations between soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov and Rumanian Foreign Minister Petrescu-Comnen in connection with Russia's request for a right to use a corner of Rumania to transport troops and supplies if Czechoslovakia were attacked.

The Rumanian avoided a pledge. Members of his delegation said "who knows what changes may come with war?"

Jordan of New Zealand opened the session with a warning that "even those countries that may appear to be most remote" may not be neutral in the next war.

Before the assembly met, the league's battle of sanctions [penalties] was brought to an end when the Scandinavian countries and the Netherlands and Belgium decided against attempting to alter materially the league's punitive machinery. They agreed they would be satisfied with a series of declarations that each member of the league was free to decide whether it would join in punitive measures against an agressor.

WHY is it that practically every make of car, new or used, is advertised in newspapers?

The answer is obvious. 23,000,000 automobiles are on the roads of the United States today. Millions of new cars are manufactured yearly. Thousands are bought daily. They go to rich and poor, city and country, men and women. And because of the tremendous size and vitality of this market—to produce new and increasing sales each year—it must constantly employ the nation's greatest sales force: the daily newspapers.

Everybody in America who reads at all, reads newspapers. 43,000,000 copies are sold daily. Why? Because the hunger for news is shared by banker and bootblack, prize-fighter and educator, man and woman. The news of the day is the one thing that all civilized humanity can talk about in common. For the manufacturer with a product to sell, newspapers, therefore, offer the widest possible market and are superior in flexibility to any other medium.

Automobiles, their performance and changes are part of the news the great news-hungry people of America crave—for the motor car is a vital factor in American life, and the industry an important leader in its economic health!

The purchase of an automobile usually calls for a family council. Daily newspapers, and especially evening papers, are read and enjoyed by the entire household. In this and other respects, The Detroit News holds an enviable position. It is the outstanding newspaper in Detroit—America's Fourth Market. It is acknowledged to be Detroit's Home Newspaper. It has the largest circulation in the Detroit trading area. Total circulation 323,850 week-days, 385,090 Sundays. And for years The Detroit News has been among the first three leaders in automobile advertising in all America.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, sunk—because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

What have you had to eat lately? Just things like meat, bread and potatoes? If that's it, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

HITLER ATTACK SHOCKS BRITAIN; FEAR FOR FUTURE

Fuehrer Biding His Time, London Believes.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 12.—British reaction to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's speech was one of consternation about the violent atttack on England. But as far as Czechoslovakia was concerned there was relief that the present machinery of negotiation had been left intact and that a respite has been afforded from any immediate danger of war.

The Fuehrer's speech was felt stingingly here. But there has been no vital breach. What the British appeared to fear most was doubts left about Hitler's future intentions. They thought that his enmity might in the future be directed particularly at them. They feared that tension in Europe by the Fuehrer's design will be maintained indefinitly while he perfects further military preparations.

Next, Economic Mastery?

The point at issue seems to be: When will Britain and Germany go to the mat over Germany's undoubted intentions to gain mastery over the economic life of central Europe? Hitler declared he had no wish to extend Germany's political frontiers.

It was assumed here that negotiations between Prague and the Sudeten [Nazi] Germans will be allowed to continue. But what is feared is that incidents in Sudetenland will also be allowed to continue.

It was an anxious day in London. The cabinet met and consulted for two hours. The meeting was believed mostly concerned with putting approval on actions taken during the past three or four days by the inner group of the cabinet, namely, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon, and Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare.

Czechs Oppose Plebiscite.

While the cabinet was in session Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak minister to London, called at the foreign office and presented a note saying that under no circumstances would Prague stand for a plebiscite. This did not disturb the cabinet and the suggestion even was made that no plebicite was ever proposed seriously and that Hitler did not mention it in his speech. Cabinet members received speedy translations of the speech.

The cabinet adjourned without arrangements for a later meeting. The inner group, however, did assemble tonight at 10 o'clock, but it took them 40 minutes to decide what to do about Hitler's speech. That decision was not disclosed.

Sizable crowds jammed into Downing street tonight thinking there might be important events. In places the crowd was noisy and some groups yelled "Hands off Czechoslovakia!" Mounted police cleared the streets.

Chamberlain Wins Support.

Prime Minister Chamberlain took an automobile drive in the afternoon before returning to the night conference with his key ministers.

During the day he received a pledge from the British Legion, which corresponds to the American Legion in the United States, to place its "whole resources, energies, and influence unreservedly at the disposal of his majesty's government."

Chamberlain answered the message expressing the "earnest hope such an emergency will not arise."

Up in the vital North sea defense lanes at Invergordon and in Moray Firth, Scotland, the home fleet stood ready to put to sea tomorrow manned by both regulars and reserves.

England knew this was a normal autumn cruise, but it was glad those warships were there and that other men of war lay ready at the western end of the English channel and in the Strait of Gibraltar.

"Postpones Intervention."

The London Daily Telegraph, under the headline, "The Shadow Is Not Lifted; Europe Still in Doubt," said Hitler had "postponed to the future any intervention in behalf of the Sudetens. . . . He thus leaves Europe in doubt as to his intentions. The article added that the immediate danger of war, however, has been lifted.

The Times revived the suggestion which aroused vigorous controversy last week that the Sudeten frontiers might eventually be revised and disputed areas ceded to Germany. Advocacy of this course by the Times, which usually reflects British government opinion, may be significant in view of the fact that Hitler left the door open to continued negotiations.

"Held Up to Ridicule."

The Daily Mail said Hitler "did not finally bang the door on statesmanship," and urged that should a demand be made for a plebiscite the interested powers should meet it "in the most reasonable spirit."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express reflected feelings concerning Hitler's attack on Britain, declaring the jibes "held us up to ridicule." The Express pointed out that the speech contained no ultimatum and no demand for a plebiscite, though it admitted any peaceful settlement "means sweeping drastic changes in the political status of the republic of Czechoslovakia."

The Liberal News Chronicle, which has been painting the situation the blackest, also picked on Hitler's "frequent jibes at Britain" for comment. The paper said that "Hitler's savage speech must leave doubts whether he is fully conscious of all he says and does."

The Manchester Guardian considered Hitler's speech full of jeering hate for Britain and the democracies, but as containing little new and no clearcut program.

It was announced that tomorrow's discussion among the inner cabinet—Chamberlain, Halifax, Simon, and Hoare—will be followed by a meeting of the full cabinet on Wednesday. Twenty ministers are expected to attend to consider the situation and any decisions which may have been taken by the big four in the light of Hitler's speech.

Mexican Anti-War Parley Hits U. S. "Imperialism"

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—(AP)—An anti-war conference sponsored by President Cardenas and the Confederation of Workers of Mexico adopted a resolution today described as aimed at "American and British imperialism." The resolution originally was drawn up as a condemnation of Fascism as the chief cause of war, but was amended to include criticism of "economic conditions of imperialism" which floor speakers said was directed against the United States and Great Britain. The conference closed today.

SPANISH REBELS MOVE TO MOUNTAIN PEAKS IN EBRO RIVER FIGHTING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PERPIGNAN, France [Near the Spanish Frontier], Sept. 12.—Spanish rebel forces today claimed possession of dominating peaks in the Caballos mountains south and west of the Ebro river. They said the victories gave them positions northeast of Gandesa from which the loyalist forces on the west bank of the river could be raked with gunfire.

The rebels reported capture of a quantity of war material and that large numbers of militiamen had been killed or taken prisoners.

A series of counterattacks by government forces were said to have been repulsed. Fighting was reported along a ten mile front from Gaeta, north of Gandesa, to the foothills of the Sierra de los Caballos.

JAP FLYER BOMBS U. S. OIL FIRM'S CHINESE STATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Sept. 12.—Property of the Standard Oil company at Hoihow, on Hainan island off the South China coast, was reported by the Chinese today to have been bombed Saturday by a single Japanese plane. No casualties were reported.

The Chinese manager's residence, which was flying the American flag and had two flags painted on the roof, was struck by one of the bombs. Oil company officials here said they understand the property was damaged in an attack on military headquarters nearby.

Japan's offensive toward Hankow north of the Yangtze river was reported here today to be moving forward at a fast pace. Capture of Hwangchwan, 75 miles east of the Peking-Hankow railway, was reported to be near following rejuvenated land and air attacks. Fifteen Chinese divisions were said to be in retreat.

SENTENCE BRITON TO THREE YEARS ON SPY CHARGE

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Robinson Walker, 48, a former employé of Vickers-Armstrong Ltd., British munitions makers, was found guilty today, under the official secrets act, of obtaining the plan of a fuse-setting machine that might be useful to an enemy.

He was sentenced to three years in prison. The judge, Sir Frederic John Wrottesley, told Walker:

"Recent events show the possibility of war has not yet gone out of a fashion. What you were trying to do was to trade in the safety of your fellow men, women and children in case war broke out."

AMERICAN DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS.

Party affiliations and loyalties give form, order, and workability to American democracy. The two party system within which most of the political action of the country has been contained has permitted conciliation, agreement, and decision. Government resting upon this system has been accepted—criticized and opposed, but accepted for its term.

The advantages of the system are counterbalanced by some disadvantages which may make their appearance in unusual and critical times such as the present. The Democratic party is being taken away from the Democrats. They cannot recognize as party members the men now seeking to control the party organization, its members in congress, its next national convention, and the nomination. They could not identify as Democrats such men as Ickes, Norris of Nebraska, the La Follettes of Wisconsin, La Guardia of New York, Benson and Lundeen of Minnesota, John Lewis of Pennsylvania, Earl Browder of New York, or Harry Bridges of California.

The purge of the Democratic party is being conducted to throw out the conservatives and give control to socialists, communists, collectivists who call themselves Republicans, and radicals whose program is something that no Democrat could associate with anything heretofore represented by this party.

Nevertheless, many of these conservative Democrats whose first allegiance is to America and not to imported ideas of dictatorship will find it difficult, once party control is taken from them, to express their political opposition to it. In some states it is obvious that nothing could bring their electoral vote into the Republican column. The weight of tradition is too heavy.

It is difficult to make the political arrangements by which there can be a coalition of Republicans and Democrats who have everything in common at present. But it is nevertheless necessary that the way should be found. There may be some states in which an American third party can be formed, although laws which give the old parties a legal standing are obstacles making new party organization difficult. It is, of course, possible in some states to run one set of candidates on more than one ticket, which makes it practical for different parties to unite on candidates without party fusion.

The only hope the disinherited Democrats have of regaining their own party if the management is taken away from them by the alien minded outsiders is to unite with Republicans, however and wherever it can be done, to defeat the dominant element which has ousted them and to restore the party balance as it was before this revolution.

The purpose of the communists and subversive revolutionaries has been stated by Earl Browder, the general secretary of the communist party. In his Seattle Labor day broadcast he observed that some of his listeners might ask why the communist party supports an immediate program of simple, progressive, and democratic measures when this program is not communism nor even an approach to communism.

"The answer to this," he said, "is that we of the communist party believe that the only final solution to America's problems is to establish a new state socialism, which is the first stage of communism. Socialism means taking the industries, banks, railroads, mines, oil fields, etc., out of the hands of a few hundred economic royalists who now own them, prevent them from operating, and putting them in the hands of the government of, by, and for the whole people, to operate them at capacity for the benefit of all. If we cannot have socialism now, and obviously we can't until the people change their minds, then, in our opinion, while the present capitalistic system exists it is a thousand times better to have a liberal and progressive New Deal with our democratic rights than to have a new Hoover who would inevitably take our country into the black and sorrowful fascism of war. So that's the communist conspiracy you hear so much about."

The sequence in Russia was constitutional democracy, followed by Kerensky, followed by confusion, chaos, and catastrophe, followed by Lenin with 200,000 bolshevists butchering 2,000,000 Russian farmers, and a nation under a terroristic dictatorship, in which state it exists today.

In the United States it is now a constitutional democracy, weakened and impaired by the Roosevelt revolutionaries and their attack upon private industry, which they call, as Mr. Browder calls it, the system of economic royalism, from which chaos the sequence Mr. Browder anticipates will be, first, socialistic takeover of all industry as provided, for instance, in the war mobilization bill, followed by communism and the dictatorship.

This idea is the dominant one as advanced by the Roosevelt revolutionaries in their attempt to take over the management of the Democratic party and with it the control of congress and the command of the next national convention. In such conditions the candidate will be Mr. Roosevelt and the program will be Mr. Browder's. To avert this the disinherited and ousted Democrats will have to find a coalition with Republicans. If they can't control their own party, if they can't prevent the communist usurpation of it in the name of Mr. Roosevelt they must join with the Republicans and make political arrangements, varying probably in different sections of the country, to present an American front which will command more votes than can be pulled by the Roosevelt and Browder combination.

GREEN PASTURES IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, who was the unsuccessful candidate of John L. Lewis and Senator Joseph F. Guffey in the Democratic primaries of May, has been indicted by a grand jury and charged with protecting gambling and vice. The mayor, once a Republican before he was seduced by the greener grass on the other side of the fence, need not feel that he has been set apart by this criminal procedure. It is not a distinction, good or bad, in the truly good circles of that state to be wanted by the police. The hue and cry, if it isn't stopped pretty soon by a greater regard for social security, will get them all.

Senator Joseph Guffey has been traveling in Europe. His return is awaited with interest compounding as the days go by. He will be asked to explain why he, or by what authority some other person, put his signature to a letter soliciting campaign funds from the WPA workers. Senator Guffey may reply: "Why me? Everybody's doing it." That is true, but Senator Sheppard of the senate campaign investigating committee seems to want to know, first, if Senator Guffey did it and, second, did he or did he not know that it was a criminal offense? Such questions might be asked in many other states. Possibly they will be.

Gov. George H. Earle, who won his senatorial nomination and beat the Lewis-Guffey candidate for governor, Thomas Kennedy, with his own man, Charles A. Jones of Pittsburgh, had to resort to extraordinary measures to keep himself from being investigated by another grand jury, along with Matt McCloskey, Democratic boss of Philadelphia, who was the fair haired boy for contracts awarded by Earle's state board of public works and financed by the federal treasury, and who loaned the governor $26,000.

Mr. Earle did not kill the grand jury, but he threw it off its stride by having his state legislature pass laws prohibiting an investigation of him. He set up, instead, his own legislative investigating committee and placed an order for whitewash and buckets. The state Supreme court ruled that the legislature had the right to authorize its committee to summon all the witnesses and seize all the evidence the prosecuting attorney had. Charles J. Margiotti, the attorney general, would have undertaken to make things uncomfortable for Mr. Earle, but the governor solved that one by firing the man who threatened him.

Some of these leading lights in the good life were once Republicans, Wilson, Earle, and Margiotti among them, liberal Republicans of the type welcomed by Mr. Roosevelt into his reconstruction of the Democratic party. They were early in seeing the light shining through a naughty world and illuminating many things on the other side of the fence highly desirable to have. They did not at the time see so much criminal prosecution, but then, who at that time could tell that the more abundant life all over the country was going to be so much like what scurries away when you pick up an old board?

BANG GOES ANOTHER MANAGER.

Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, disappeared out of the gas house gang like a comrade out of the Kremlin, purged with promptness and efficiency. The team was in sixth place when Frisch was fired, but what of it? Some one has to be there unless the managers can arrange a social security scheme which will put them all in a tie for first and keep them there. Owner Sam Breadon will not get a piece of this year's pennants or pennant money by hoisting his manager. He says it is for the good of next year's team, a good which could have been promoted in November as well as it could in September.

Frisch, who sold Dizzy Dean, joins Charley Grimm, who bought him—or aren't the managers credited even with an assist by Owners Wrigley and Breadon? St. Louis still has the Dean who seems to be able to pitch and $185,000 for the one who can't. Nevertheless, Frisch is fired.

Baseball is getting to be as savage as politics. The managers should cast a glance at the Wagner labor act and the National Labor Relations board. There's a refuge. If they formed a John Lewis C. I. O. union they might do something for themselves. Then if an owner even asked one of them why the club wasn't hitting they could join and tell Chairman Madden of the labor board that they were being intimidated because of their affiliation. That would be the end of the owners.

BULLITT OUT OF BOUNDS.

[Peoria Journal-Transcript.]

It is hoped that it was merely a spirit of conviviality and brotherly love that prompted United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt to assure France of American aid in time of war. Speaking at a banquet in Bordeaux, he properly extoled the virtues of the wine for which the district is famous and possibly felt impelled to go a little further to warm the hearts of his kind hosts. And so our Mr. Bullitt told the assembled company that France and America were "indefectively united in war and peace."

Unhappily, there are reasons for believing that the ambassador's words were well considered. The banquet at which he spoke was a prelude to the dedication of a monument commemorating American participation in the world war. France and America, said Mr. Bullitt, "are united by our devotion to liberty, democracy, and peace. We are united by our old friendship, by the aid we brought each other in our hour of distress. Today we are working together to save peace. . . . It is no secret that the people of the United States have a most profound sympathy today for the people of France."

Whatever the actual intentions of the American government, it is clear that France and Great Britain interpret every official and semi-official speech as a pledge of physical aid in the event of war. The European democracies cheer every time Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Hull condemns the "aggressor nations" and calls for a "quarantine" of the lawbreakers. The Americans may mean to lend only moral force, but it is plain to see that Europe is not thinking in terms of moral suasion.

Mr. Bullitt undoubtedly speaks the truth when he says that American sympathy is on the side of the democracies. But Americans have not yet forgotten the futility of the last war to save democracy, or the iniquitous peace treaty that fomented new trouble. Ambassador Bullitt goes far beyond his authority in pledging the peace loving American people to a war at the side of France.

DEATH OF A MANSION.

The James Patten mansion on Ridge avenue in Evanston, admired for many years by the uncounted thousands of motorists who have flitted past its leafy domain and baronial fence of wrought iron, is celebrating its own funeral. Last Saturday and Sunday it invited public inspection of its rooms and furnishings in preparation for auction bidding; and tomorrow night the hammer will fall upon the sale of its last painting. The Line joined its fellow townsmen in the week-end parade, upstairs and downstairs and in my lady's chamber, and wondered if we did not vaguely resemble, in our peaceful midwestern way, the historic mob at Versailles in 1789.

This house, built of massive, rough hewn limestone, cannot be called a masterpiece, but it illustrates a period in Chicago's architectural history. Its designer, George Maher, was prominent in the group of gifted men who accepted Louis Sullivan as their leader and strove to create a new style. They were radicals who seceded vigorously from the imitative traditions, and they hoped to create an American architecture which borrowed nothing from ancient European models. They were "the Chicago school."

Horizontality and lowness were the most striking elements of their exteriors. "A closer inspection," writes Thomas E. Tallmadge, himself one of them, "reveals the austere abnegation of all the sinful graces and curves of the seductive Renaissance or of the equally evil and superstitious Gothic."

• • •

The thistle plant motive in decoration which runs all over the Patten house, in stone, wood, brass, and even wall paper, was characteristic of Maher's method; but this brambly botanical theme, hinting at the Scotch ancestry of the family, failed to give the needed graceful relief. The design, like the plant itself, is harsh and inedible.

Soon the wreckers will arrive to derrick away the cyclopean walls. Passersby will miss the place which has pleased their eyes so often; and social reformers perhaps will gloat over the work of demolition, saying, "Another millionaire's mansion bites the dust."

Gin and Bitters.

Faithful Henchman Newcomer deals us a cruel blow with word that a drink of high alcoholic content is now being served at numerous bars under the name of "a Charles Collins."

DESERTED HOUSE.

It stands a mile or more beyond the lake
Abandoned, desolate; the yard knee-high
In grass; the house an abject, shrunken frame,
With roof and gables gray against the sky.

It seems to wait (O, houses welcome care, Know comfort, joy) a friendly tread
While palled in dust; heaped furnishings half fill

Once blithe young laughter rang along the porch
And sagging steps where now dead silence weighs;
The weathered door with welcome opened to

And longingly two wide apart still see

Last Words on Dirndl.

You have perhaps been misled by the word "Dirne." This word, especially in northern Germany, has also a vulgar meaning, as a woman of the street, an immoral woman; but the word "Dirndl," which is not only used in Austria but in all of southern Germany and German Switzerland, is used in a sort of diminutive way for "girl," as we use "girlie" as a pet name for not only small girls but also for one we love. In southern Germany the syllable "le" or "li" at the end of a word denotes always the diminutive. Dirndl is a special form of Dirnele or Dirnle and is never used in a derogatory sense. J. K.

DO NOT TRIFLE WITH RHEUMATISM.

MANY of us make a self-diagnosis of rheumatism on the appearance of any sort of muscle or joint ache, or whenever it becomes difficult to bend the back. To the physician the statement "I have rheumatism" means that a careful search must be made for the source of the distress, as the affliction is not a single disease. We cannot say, as we can with diphtheria, for example, that it is brought on by the growth within the body of a special germ.

Many types of discomfort are not rheumatic. Pain in the foot may travel up the leg, but its origin may be due to some mechanical defect. Perhaps the shoe does not support the arch properly, so that added strain is placed upon tendons, fascia, and other parts which have weakened because of uneven weight bearing.

Every twinge, therefore, must be traced to its lair, and we must look to the sinuses, tonsils, teeth, throat, colon, and even food habits. It may be necessary also to make blood tests, take X-ray films, and check the heart, kidneys, and other organs.

Now and then the cause will be found easily. The extraction of a tooth, abscessed at the root, may eliminate a pocket of pus and bring freedom from neuritis or a steadily advancing variety of arthritis. Sometimes the starting point will be found in the intestinal tract, where constipation of long standing may have permitted streptococci to flourish.

But what ordinarily is termed acute rheumatism with fever is a serious situation. It can result in crippling deformities, in severe damage to the heart or the kidneys, and there is probably no condition which all told occasions as much suffering. All too frequently it may become chronic.

Few of us have much excuse for inviting the illness to take up its abode within our physical houses. What we must do is to make certain that overexposure does not lower resistance to the breaking point, nor poorly balanced menus deprive the system of essential nourishment. We can neglect infected teeth, yes. Some of us do. If so, we have only ourselves to blame if rheumatic pangs occur.

Is it a disease of advanced years? Yes and no. True enough, after the age of 45 or 50 nearly every one will have an occasional sharp, darting stab, but young children, because tonsilitis or some other complaint has paved the way, may blaze forth with the ailment in its most vicious form.

When we are faced with swollen, hot, inflamed joints, so tender that the patient cannot stand the touch of the bedclothes, we realize that some depot is producing enough toxin to affect the tissues about the joints — even the structures themselves. Streptococci are common offenders and fully half of these cases can be avoided with careful attention to the throat, particularly the tonsils.

But along with the joint soreness there may come a manifestation even more menacing, namely, injury to the lining of the heart, which may so impair that organ that its owner is handicapped throughout life. All of which means that even after recovery every one should visit his physician at stated intervals to make sure that the pump of the body is behaving as it should.

Just this last week I learned of an instance of acute rheumatic fever in a young athlete who had become overheated, then chilled. His seizure began with enlarged and painful wrists. Later the ankles, knees, shoulders, and elbows were attacked one after the other. He lost much time in safeguarding his heart, because some friend suggested that he use a miraculous oil or liniment guaranteed to "cure" within 24 hours. A week later his physician found a generalized involvement with a pronounced heart murmur.

At the outset bed rest is imperative and gallons of fluid should be taken, including fruit juices and milk. No solid food will be needed, at least for a while. Physicians are able to relieve pain and bring a fair amount of comfort, but their principal job is to find the weak spot and this must be attended to just as soon as the acute phase has passed.

Correspondent A. S. inquired if pus in the urine was a dangerous condition. Through an error the question appeared "pus in the ear." The reply stated that there was probably some infection along the urinary tract, possibly the kidneys. This, of course, referred to pus in the urine.

OUR BLUNDERING AMBASSADORS.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—We are certainly unfortunate in the men who represent us in foreign lands. The wines of Bordeaux evidently went to the head of Ambassador Bullitt. Who authorized him to say this country would back up France in any war?

Joseph Kennedy promised well. Not so many half baked Americans curtseying to King George. But he, too, is letting his tongue run wild.

Our ambassador to Spain jumped his job and left an undersecretary holding the bag.

We made ourselves ridiculous in Russia, and as for Josephus Daniels, the less said of him the better. Dwight Morrow's work is all undone. Real men seem to be scarce. Boobs grow on every tree.

This country of ours was gypped into one war to make the world safe for democracy. It is to be hoped we won't be gypped into another to make it safe for dictators. "America for the Americans and Europe for the Europeans" is a good slogan. Let us stick to it in spite of blundering ambassadors.

MARY ONAHAN GALLERY.

WOULD HITLER BE INTERESTED?

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Will you please publish a map of the U. S. A. marked with the locations of the German settlements and send it to Herr Hitler so he could take action? He might be justified in some of these cases, but not at all in the case of Czechoslovakia.

It is surprising that after all that has been written about that valiant little country of Czechoslovakia there are still people who believe a part of Czechoslovakia did belong to Germany.

Not a foot of Czechoslovakia ever was a part of Germany. The boundaries of Bohemia with its provinces of Moravia and Silesia are a thousand years old and have never been disputed. Through unfortunate conditions the province of Slovakia was under Hungarian domination which with force tried to Magyarize it. The Slovaks lived there long before the Huns came there.

The case of Czechoslovakia is a world's case. I will thank you for your fairness in publishing this article.

WPA AS AN OCTOPUS.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—I am a graduate mechanical and structural engineer. Due to the present recession, reluctantly I had to seek employment on the WPA. Many other engineers, like myself, are hoping that conditions will change and deliver us from this strangling octopus.

What I have seen and experienced as an amateur in their ranks is nauseating. In many instances supervisors are in charge of engineering projects who are illiterate in a technical sense. Some draftsmen on the WPA fall in the same category.

We engineers with our friends can correct all these injustices at polls. A change in administration will restore confidence, private industry will absorb the unemployed and to Hades with the New Deal octopus.

ANTI-NEW DEALER.

WOULD HE BE INTERESTED?

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 9.—Permit me to suggest that Mr. Orr's "Jungle Stories" be compiled in book form and presented to Franklin "Depression" Roosevelt. Mr. Orr is to be congratulated for the series because both the cartoons and the reading matter are so pointedly appropriate. They should do more to awaken the voters to the perils of the present administration than volumes of reading matter. Even the WPA and PWA should be able to understand them.

CONRAD S. ARNKENS.

BOTH APPEAR NOW.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Congratulations on having found the right columnist for the Line. Now we can begin to read it again and, I hope, to read the Front Views and Profiles, too, which were excellent in their own field. ANNA L. SCHEIBLE.

Mount Prospect, Ill., Sept. 8.—As one of many who feel as I do, may I suggest that something be done so that Charles Collins will continue to conduct the Line o' Type permanently? Since he has taken it over it has begun to live again.

HELEN TUTTLE.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Charles Collins is the best yet on the Line. Put June Provines back where she was [a spot she filled well] and leave Collins on the Line.

A WOMAN READER.

LONG WORKING HOURS.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—We have an eight hour working law for women, but doesn't this law apply to grocery chain stores? The girls work on Saturdays from 9 to 11; after stores close they must do extra work. Also some evenings during the week.

SCHOOL DAYS ON THE WABASH.

Riverside, Ill., Sept. 9.—I was interested in the article, "Make Me a Boy Again," by Jake Irmiter. He completely expressed my sentiments when he recalled school days down in Indiana, for I was born and raised in the historic little New Harmony on the banks of the Wabash, also on the beautiful Ohio.

We have in Chicago a number of people from southern Indiana with whom I would be glad to get in touch. Southern Illinois has a club known as the Egyptian club and they have some enjoyable times. Why not a Southern Indiana club?

CALLS CZECHS TOOLS OF FRANCE.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—How can England be in agreement with Czechoslovakia after her own experience with Ireland and some of her other colonies?

What can Czechoslovakia gain by forcing her rule upon 3½ million people who refuse to go along with her? I believe she would see the light if France did not keep urging her on to fight. She is only the tool of France.

By giving the Germans their independence she will have a chance to work out her problems in peace and harmony.

ADMINISTRATOR AND BENEFICIARY.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will the fact that I am appointed [1] administrator in a will and [2] the fact that I am an heir disqualify me or [3] my representative to bid real estate on which there is no indebtedness and [4] which will be sold at public auction? The property in question is located in Illinois. G. T. W.

1. If the administrator is the one conducting the sale, he should not bid at his own sale, since his duty as administrator, would be to obtain the highest price possible, and his desire as a purchaser would be to buy at the lowest price possible.
2. No.
3. You could not evade No. 1 by acting through a third party.
4. You do not make clear whether you are talking about a sale to pay debts under statutory proceedings, or a partition sale, or a public sale under private agreement.

WORKMANSHIP GUARANTEE.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1936 we had a new roof put on our house with a five year guarantee. This year it sprung a leak and ruined our newly decorated ceiling and also dripped on my oriental rug. The roofing company patched up the spot on the roof but refused to do anything about the ceiling.

1. Aren't they liable for the damage done? I am only asking them to take care of the ceiling. We also doubt that they installed four inch insulation as they contracted.
2. How could we have this checked?

H. W. H.

1. Depends on whether their guaranty was so worded as merely to oblige them to repair, or as to hold them for damages.
2. If you do not have the necessary technical knowledge, employ some person who has it, for example, a building contractor.

BRITAIN GETS IDEA U. S. WILL GO TO WAR ON HER SIDE

Press Sees America Again Dragged Into Conflict.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 12.—British newspapers today published some interesting dispatches from their correspondents in the United States. They give the impression that the United States will be lined up with England in any trouble the latter may get into in Europe.

They suggest the United States could not keep out of any trouble in the long run. A German reading these dispatches probably would think he would have to fight America as well as England if there is war.

British dispatches from New York convey the idea that the Johnson law, which prohibits the United States from lending money to debtor nations, will be amended so that the British can borrow money in the United States. They also suggest that the neutrality act will be fixed up so Great Britain and France can get arms from the United States, but so arranged that other belligerents could not do the same.

U. S. Warship Presence "Explained."

Topping the climax in the effort to get the United States mixed up in Europe is a suggestion in the Exchange Telegraph News agency dispatch. It is to the effect that the United States cruiser Nashville was sent to British waters to evacuate American civilians if necessary.

The Exchange Telegraph quotes a senior American naval officer as saying that "in the event of the outbreak of hostilities during the vessel's stay in European waters it is conceivable she might carry out evacuation duties."

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard says, under the signature of its New York correspondent, C. V. R. Thompson: "Closed to German pleas are the banks of America by an act of congress which forbids loans to defaulting debtors. They are closed too to Great Britain and France, but there are ways of changing that and already there is talk about them in Washington.

"It is virtually certain that America's neutrality act, not invoked in the Chinese-Japanese affair because it would have given the advantage to Japan, will be changed before long to permit shipments of arms, munitions, and raw materials to Great Britain and France on a 'cash and carry' basis.

Paper Asks Some Questions.

"In those and many other ways America would show her sympathy and friendliness toward Britain in the event of war. Would she go further?

"It is reported her high command made plans by which they could mobilize a million men in four months. Would she send them into trenches in Czechoslovakia or France or wherever the trenches of the next war would be?

"It is said part of her new navy, the second largest in the world, will be formed into an Atlantic squadron shortly. Would she send these ships to European waters to help blockade an enemy into submission?

"It is said her air force already is the best in the world. Would she send her flying fortresses and speedy bombers to Europe or would she build up her defenses just to ward off attack—a vision which has been turned almost into a reality by recent long range flights—into her territory from Europe?

"America thinks today her answer to those questions is 'no.'

Points to War Propaganda.

"But emotionalism fanned by propaganda sent her to help democracy once before. Some bands and some parades, an incident or two like the sinking of a British liner or the bombing of London might cause her to change her mind again.

"As one sage put it to be, 'If there is war we won't join in—until presently'."

The Manchester Guardian's correspondent suggests even more strongly that the United States will fix things up so as to get involved in a European war as soon as possible.

The Guardian's correspondent says: "When President Roosevelt said the United States had no obligation of any kind to take part with England and France in an effort to curb possible German aggression against Czechoslovakia he indicated no change in United States policy. He was forced to make a disclaimer because of wild, exaggerated reports about the extent of America's commitments were in circulation here.

Speeches Are Recalled.

"It was being said this country had undertaken definite obligations to use force against the Germans if necessary and many persons had become alarmed. Whatever Mr. Roosevelt's own wishes are it would of course be impossible for him to assume any such obligation in the present state of American opinion.

"Actually the country's position is not unlike Great Britain's and this fact is doubtless not accidental. The United States refused to make any definite pledge of action. At the same time Mr. Roosevelt and Cordell Hull [secretary of state] repeatedly in recent addresses warned aggressive powers that any conflict now would be a matter which may involve the whole world.

"The next session of congress will probably see a determined effort by Mr. Roosevelt to obtain modification of the neutrality law to enable aid to be given democratic powers should a conflict occur. It is suggested one such change might be the end of the rigid embargo on munitions so as to permit them to be sold on a 'cash and carry' basis. This means of course no credits would be permitted and American ships would not be used to carry them.

Sees Sympathy with Britain.

"An attempt might also be made to modify the Johnson law, which forbids further loans to governments in arrears on war debts.

"Whether these attempts to modify the existing law will be successful is impossible to say. The country as a whole seems far more isolationist than the President and his advisers. At the same time sympathy is overwhelmingly with Great Britain and France and against Germany and Italy. Most American students of public affairs believe if there is another general conflict the United States probably would be drawn in before many months passed and on the same side as before."

HITLER SPEECH AIDS PEACE HOPE AT WASHINGTON

Nations Seen as Unwilling to Start War.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Official Washington gave a sigh of relief this afternoon when Adolph Hitler finished his speech before the Nazi party congress at Nuremberg, without setting off a European war.

Although it was conceded that the speech had neither appreciably lessened the European nervous tension over Czechoslovakia nor averted the mounting war fears of the last few days, officials here were relieved that the showdown has been postponed. The delay was looked on as favoring peaceful settlement of the Sudeten problem.

View All as Bluffing.

Before the speech officials expressed themselves as confident that Hitler would say nothing that would provoke a conflict. They asserted that all of Europe is engaged in a game of bluffing and that no nation can afford to call for the showdown.

In official circles here, the consensus is that Britain took the edge in the game when British newspapers suggested over the week-end that the Czechs cede the Sudeten area to Germany. That newspaper statement, broadcast throughout Germany, brought about the conviction in Germany that Nazi aims can be achieved without war, just as Hitler was about to declare a holy war against Czechoslovakia.

For this reason, officials here said, Hitler was unable to go further in his Nuremberg speech than to open a verbal fire in behalf of Sudeten against the old foes of Naziism—communists, Marxists, and Jews.

The immediate effect of the Hitler speech, according to belief in official circles, will be stimulation of the general European arms race.

Hull Withholds Comment.

There was no official statement on the Hitler speech. At his press conference before the speech Secretary Hull would not comment on the European situation or reveal whether he planned to listen to Hitler.

Hull also refused to comment on the visits of Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy to the British foreign office and that of Ambassador W. C. Bullitt to the French foreign office. It was believed the American envoys called to gather information for transmittal to this government.

SWISS TROOPS MOVE UP; MINE RAILROAD TRACKS AND ROADS

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Switzerland, fearful of invasion if a new European war occurs, today bolstered her frontier defenses with dynamite and volunteer corps.

Along her northern border, where frontier fortifications face Germany, mines loaded with dynamite were placed under railroad tracks and international highways. An official announcement said this was done with a view to their "destruction" in case of aggression.

Swiss troops were called to duty from the volunteer military machine which acts as the nation's defense force. Heavy forces of sentinels surrounded border positions as the mining work progressed rapidly. The border precautions also extended along the French boundary.

ILLINOIS UNION LEADER ATTACKS LEWIS AND REDS

Sets A. F. of L. State Gains at 50,000 in Year.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The Illinois Federation of Labor during the last year has become the largest state branch of the A. F. of L., Reuben G. Soderstrom, president of the state group, told delegates to the annual convention here today.

Soderstrom opened the convention with a verbal attack on John L. Lewis, the Committee for Industrial Organization and communism. All of them, he declared, are traveling hand in hand.

A campaign for A. F. of L. membership in Illinois in the last twelve months, Soderstrom added, has dwarfed the movement of the C. I. O. in this state.

Claims Gain of 50,000.

Upward of 50,000 new members were added to the federation rolls since the 1937 state convention and the total number of workers directly or indirectly affiliated with the A. F. of L. in Illinois now exceeds 420,000, he asserted.

"Of approximately 3,000 local labor unions of all kinds in Illinois," Soderstrom continued, "more than 2,700—90 per cent—are affiliated with the A. F. of L. As a result of our campaign in the last year more than 300 local unions, not formerly affiliated with the Illinois federation, responded to our appeal.

"These 300 locals enroll approximately 50,000 additional wage earners in our state body. A close count shows the Illinois federation numerically now is the strongest state branch in America. We have surpassed New York and Pennsylvania."

Pledged to Fight Reds.

All divisions of the A. F. of L., Soderstrom said during an attack on Lewis and the C. I. O., are pledged to drive the radical element out of the labor movement.

"Federation officers and members desire the perpetuation of our American institutions," he declared. "That is why communism never can gain control of the American labor movement.

"The federation has branded the communist party, the C. I. O. and other subsidiary organizations, that are trying to capture the labor movement, as a menace to our country.

Calls Reds Violent.

"Communism urges uprisings, it urges direct action, violence, sit-down strikes, mutiny on the high seas, seizure of cities, all for the ultimate purpose of the overthrow of so-called capitalism.

"We do not want communism, we do not want the C. I. O. We do not want any part of John L. Lewis. I trust before our deliberations are over this convention will repudiate and condemn all three of these vicious elements."

PUSH EDUCATION CAMPAIGN TO END SYPHILIS MENACE

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—An expanded program of education in syphilis control and social hygiene was announced today by Dr. William F. Snow, chairman of the administrative committee of the American Social Hygiene association.

The program will begin Oct. 1 with money raised by the association's national anti-syphilis committee, now totaling $155,000 following a recent anonymous contribution of $25,000.

"Of the nation's 35,000,000 individuals between 16 and 30 years of age, it is estimated that about 5,000,000 are suffering from syphilis or gonorrhea," said Dr. Snow.

Leaflets, posters, handbills, and a special newspaper are being designed to teach young persons the facts about syphilis and gonorrhea, how exposures are avoided and what treatment is necessary when infections occur.

PHYSIO-THERAPY CONGRESS TOLD OF QUACK PERILS

Want Practice Limited to Physicians.

A demand for state legislation forbidding practitioners not licensed as physicians from using light and heat appliances for the treatment of disease was made yesterday by Dr. A. R. Hollander of the University of Illinois medical college.

Dr. Hollander is convention chairman of the American Congress of Physical Therapy, which opened a four day meeting yesterday at the Palmer house. The congress is comprised of physicians accepted by the medical profession as competent to treat disease with light, heat, electricity, massage, exercise, and similar physical agencies.

Hopes to Stamp Out Quackery.

"A large amount of physical therapy is now being administered by quacks and cults without regard for the correct diagnosis of the ailment," said Dr. Hollander.

"I know of no state which has the rigid legislation necessary to protect the patient from the various non-medical 'doctors' who wish to capitalize on imposing treatment machine. They are interested too often in making the case fit the use of the machine.

"It is obvious that a disease or ailment must be correctly diagnosed before it can be treated. No man who lacks scientific medical training can make a dependable diagnosis. The patient is in great danger when high powered currents and rays are misapplied. For example, a diabetic is highly susceptible to burns and could be severely injured if he were given light treatments as a tonic."

When Colds Occur.

Colds occur most frequently during periods of falling temperature and rising barometric pressure, according to Frederick Sargent, who exhibited charts of a three year study among 2,100 students of Phillips Exeter academy. The period is known as a polar episode and commonly is recognized as the clear, cold period following a rain. Sargent found that the students were most susceptible during the fall season. Further studies, he said, may prove of medical significance in preventing colds.

SPEEDERS TO MOW CAMPUS IF NEW COURT IS SET UP

Students may have to mow the campus lawn if they park overtime in Evanston. Such penalties will be substituted for fines if the plan for a student trafic court to try Northwestern university students is adopted.

The new court would meet Saturday mornings. Thus student violators of trafic regulations would not need to cut classes to attend the Monday and Thursday sessions of the Evanston Municipal court. Municipal Judge Harry H. Porter would sit with the student court for a while.

Sponsors of the plan are Chief of Police William O. Freeman, Mayor Henry D. Penfield, President Walter Dill Scott of the university, and members of the university personnel administration department. Students will be asked whether they want to run their own court.

Good Morning!

Woof! Woof!

They had a barker out in front of the Woods theater yesterday announcing that this usually second run house was displaying two FIRST RUN pictures, one of which—"Bulldog Drummond in Africa"—is on the movie quiz prize list.

Well, if we must have double features, it's a break to find on a program two first runs that are interesting and not too long.

I rise to advise you that "We're Going to Be Rich" is a movie which merits your attention.

It marks the American screen debut of Gracie Fields, London cinema and music hall favorite. She is mature and would never win a beauty contest, but she's magnetic as the dickens and "gets" her audiences much after the order of Beatrice Lillie.

Fox conceived the bright idea of producing her first film for them amid familiar surroundings and dispatched Victor MacLaglen and Brian Donlevy overseas to appear with her. A wise move as you shall see.

The story, interestingly backgrounded, is an unusually good one—abounding in those human touches that can make the simplest yarn memorable, and dotted here and there with a good song.

The heroine is a music hall darling of the eighties who has labored valiantly to support a shiftless husband and young nephew. After a successful tour of Australia Kit thinks she has money enough to purchase a cottage back home in England and retire from the footlights. Just as the trio are nearing Cape Town her Dobie confesses that he has sunk her hard earned savings in a gold mine. . . .

It's back into harness then for Kit—in a Johannesburg dance hall whose hard bitten, but "regular" owner, Yankee Gordon, falls for her hard. Dobie—in and out of luck, in and out of jail—apparently out, but actually always in the heart of Kit, complicates life for her. . . . It is her saving sense of humor which finally comes to the rescue of the Dobsons. . . .

You'll like both Brian Donlevy and Victor McLaglen, be somewhat amused by the elderly appearing little boy who plays the nephew, and laugh till your sides ache through the opening scenes of a certain prize fight.

"BULLDOG DRUMMOND IN AFRICA."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Louis King.
Based on story "Challenge," by H. C. Sapper McNeile.
Presented at the Woods and neibhgoring theaters.

THE CAST.

Capt. Hugh Drummond	John Howard
Phyllis Clavering	Heather Angel
Col. Nielson	H. B. Warner
Algie Longworth	Reginald Denny
Tenny	E. E. Clive
Richard Lane	J. Carroll Naish
Deane Fordine	Anthony Quinn

KIND: Latest number in the "Bulldog" Drummond series.

ACTING: Tops. John Howard, who played Drummond in "Bulldog Drummond's Revenge," again impersonates the hero ingratiatingly. Heather Angel—remember her, the little English actress?—is charming as the girl whom Bulldog is always just about to marry when something turns up that demands his immediate attention. This trip it's the lady herself who sends him skedaddling away from the altar on the trail of kidnapers who have made off with none less than the chief of Scotland Yard . . .! H. B. Warner as the chief gives a most distinguished performance and other rôles are in the best of hands.

STORY: I just told you all you need to know about it.

DIRECTION: Splendid.

DIALOG: Peppy and sensible.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Oke.

SOUND, SETS, SCENERY and the rest of it: Satisfactory.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Well—the piece appealed to me.

Mary Ryerson to Have Debut Ball on Dec. 30

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH T. RYERSON have set Dec. 30 as the date for the debut ball they will give their eldest daughter, Mary McBirney Ryerson. The party will be given at the Blackstone hotel and it is certain to be one of the outstanding affairs of the season, for the Ryersons are noted as hosts.

Miss Ryerson, who finished her schooling at St. Timothy's in Catonsville, Md., last spring, undoubtedly will be one of the most fêted buds of the season, for in addition to being a charming, attractive young woman she has many relatives here. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney and her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Sr.

The Ryersons returned to their Astor street house on Saturday after having spent the summer at their Maine home in Northeast Harbor. Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson may give a tea for Mary, who is her Grandmother McBirney's and her Grandmother Ryerson's namesake, later in the autumn. The junior Joseph T. Ryersons are planning to entertain for their sister in November, probably with a dinner-dance.

Miss Adelaide Taylor to Arrive Tomorrow.

Tomorrow Wayne Chatfield Taylor and his daughters, Adelaide and Rose, arrive in Lake Forest to join Mrs. Taylor and Hobart, who came west a week earlier. The arrival of the debutante of the family, Miss Adelaide, will start a round of gayety that will continue until the family leaves on Oct. 1 to return to their Washington home.

Miss Taylor is having four eastern friends come for the dance Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will give Saturday night at their home to present formally their lovely elder daughter. The visitors who will be here to enjoy Miss Taylor's debut and also several other parties for her are Miss Virginia Nicholls of New York, Miss Josephine Winmill of Warrenton, Va., Miss Nancy Iselin of Middleburg, Va., and Miss Joan Sharpless of Philadelphia.

The junior Edward A. Cudahys and their daughter, Sheila, are giving a luncheon at their home on Sunday for Miss Taylor. Preceding the dance Saturday Miss Taylor's cousins, the Farwell Winstons, will entertain at dinner at the home of his mother, Mrs. Robert G. McGann, for their young kinswoman. Thursday night at the regular weekly dinner-dance at the Onwentsia club the Philip D. Armours and the John Andrews Kings will entertain for Miss Taylor.

Miss Julia Henry of Philadelphia, fiancée of Philip D. Armour IV., had expected to be here this week, but she has postponed her visit until later this month. The Armour-Henry wedding will take place on Nov. 5.

Subdeb Rose Taylor will leave Lake Forest next Monday to return to her studies at Westover. Next month her sister will forsake the whirl of her first winter "out" to study at Bryn Mawr college.

Mary Frances Jannotta to Bow at Tea-Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Vernon Jannotta of 60 East Scott street will present their daughter, Miss Mary Frances Jannotta, at a tea-dance on Nov. 25 at the Woman's Athletic club.

The debutantes will dance tonight at the Exmoor Country club at a supper-dance Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Butz, Miss Jean Alice Butz, Miss Jane Darrow, and William Darrow are giving for Miss Alice Graff, debutante daughter of the Everett D. Graffs. Miss Darrow and her brother are a daughter and son of Mrs. Butz. Young Mr. Darrow is returning to Yale for his senior year this fall, but his sister, who is not a debutante this season, is remaining at home. Miss Butz attends the Ogontz school.

The Polo and Riding club of Barrington is giving a supper-dance at the Barrington Hills Country club on Saturday. The money raised by the affair will be used to put turf on the polo field that the club uses. The field is on the H. Stillson Hart estate.

Now Mary Has a Little Lamb Jacket for Fall

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Mary has a little lamb jacket, lined with black this fall, and the fleece is white as snow. Other jackets have fleece of a creamy color and the lining is dark brown. After considerable suspense, the first fleecy lamb jackets have arrived and are going out faster than you can count sheep going over the fence when you're fighting insomnia.

Two jacket models make shopping interesting. One is hip length with high pockets, the other shorter and somewhat like a cardigan. The fleece is thick, warm, and right off a "Baa" lamb. There are cocky little hats to match, one copied from a candle snuffer, the other a dashing little turban. The turban has a top of either brown or black wool to match the lining.

Not content with the duet idea, the makers have also sent out matching bags of sheepskin. Priced for budget comfort, they're slick new finds for a college wardrobe. They're good in the country and there's no reason why you can't wear them to town if you're young and have a gay wool skirt or dress. Grand ideas for football games, for they're snug and cozy during the most congealing weather.

Don't complain about the lack of something new, different, and priced for a small budget till you've resisted these good looking sheared sheepskins. They're as inviting as the first red apple, and they'll top tweeds, velveteens, thin wools, plaids, checks, or stripes. Buy them and wear them for skating, for bob sledding and any other winter sport. You'll never be sorry!

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. Felsenthal of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Ralph Michaels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Michaels of Highland Park. Miss Felsenthal was graduated from Wheaton college, Norton, Mass. Mr. Michaels prepared for college at Philips Exeter academy and was graduated from Yale university. The wedding will take place in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Thorsen of Oak Park have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie, to William Burns McChesney, son of Mrs. Burns McChesney of Brentwood, Pa. The marriage will take place in early spring. The engagement was announced Sunday afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. Thorsen and their daughter were at home to close friends and relatives.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A powerful car, a compliant girl friend, a drawer full of silk shirts—for things like these and for the prestige and self-respect which he thinks they will win him, awkward young Joe Bonaparte gives up his violin for the fight game. The money and the car come along on schedule. So do a broken hand, a ring killing, and death.

Such is the subject matter of Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy," which moved into the Harris theater last night with substantially the same cast that opened the play in New York last November and has been presenting it there or in London ever since. The town's hungry theatergoers ate it up scene by scene and even line by line. There was laughter for the drama's salty, sweaty humor, the most flattering sort of tenseness for those episodes in which the piece's profound tragedy is laid bare.

From the tenement in which Joe has grown up to the wheel of the automobile in which he dies, his career takes him through the fight promoter's office, through gymnasium and arena, through Central park in spring. Without detracting from the swiftness of the drama, Clifford Odets peoples each of these backgrounds with humble characters, which are brought movingly to life by the men and women to whom their enactment is entrusted.

Central to the tragedy is Joe's old father, who buys the boy a violin at a price far beyond his means. In him the pathos of the fond, planning, thwarted parent is almost terrifyingly realized. Played by Morris Carnovsky with a dignity which seems entirely unconscious, the part rises often to actual grandeur. Even the theatrical claptrap of the scene in which Joe plays his fiddle offstage is redeemed by the eloquence of the old fellow's silence when the boy tells him to take it back.

Luther Adler, playing Joe himself, makes real for the audience the boy who has suffered from a lifelong feeling of being out of it all, and who thinks that the feel of the accelerator is going to make up for everything. A bewildering number of physical mannerisms and a profusion of proletarian turns of phrase tell you almost as much about Joe's character as the lines which Odets has provided for the purpose.

Frances Farmer, the girl who gets Joe to go wholeheartedly into the fight business, is spectacularly comely. Because of this one can forgive the fact that her dress, bearing, and speech are entirely at variance with the fine, tough atmosphere in which she is supposed to have lived. A few oaths fail to conceal the truth that this is a woman who would be perfectly at home in a Park avenue drawing room.

Roman Bohnen is a convincing enough fight promoter, with eternal jitters and a cigaretty voice. Art Smith plays the likable trainer, Michael Gordon the gloomy dispenser of poorly digested philosophy who acts as Job's comforter to Mr. Bonaparte. Siggie and Anna, an earthy pair whose carryings-on add savor to several scenes, are the charge of Will Lee and Phoebe Brand, respectively.

The play is well mounted, fast of pace, engrossing from first curtain to last.

A STORY going the rounds concerns the unhappy Jew who was carrying a duck down Berlin's Wilhelmstrasse when a Storm Trooper stopped him and asked: "What do you feed that duck?" "Wheat," said the Jew. Whereupon the Storm Trooper knocked him down and kicked him, saying: "You dog, don't you know wheat is for humans?"

The Jew resumed his walk and was stopped by a second Storm Trooper. Asked what he fed the duck, he answered "Corn," and was again knocked down. "Corn is for horses, you so and so," said the Storm Trooper.

Once again the Jew started off, only to be stopped by a third Storm Trooper, who asked: "What do you feed that duck?"

"So what," said the Jew. "I give him a nickel and he buys what he wants."

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Anne Claxton arrives from New York at the Wyoming ranch she has inherited, after refusing the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. Steve Hayward, neighbor ranch owner, tells her that Jake Collins, who owns the adjoining ranch, expects to buy her heavily mortgaged ranch, but her uncle never would sell to him. Anne determines to stay and fight. She is immediately attracted to Steve, but Gwen Collins, Jake's daughter, shows a proprietary attitude toward him. She wins over old Tim Salter, her uncle's foreman, and Whitey, a handsome ranch hand. She finds the house in disorder and a gun missing from the rack. Tim thinks Collins had been there and threatened her uncle with the gun and that her uncle died from a heart attack. Collins turns ugly when she refuses to sell. When Steve advises her to sell she is cool to him. He is offended and jealous of Whitey. Anne expects her former boss, Mr. Trainor, and his family as paying guests at the ranch. Collins serves notice that he is going to fence in the water holes, which he claims are on his property. Whitey takes Anne to a local dance. Jake Collins, drunk, insults Anne. Steve fights him. Anne runs off without thanking him. She writes him a note but receives no answer. Anne tactfully refuses a proposal from Whitey. Gerald arrives unexpectedly to visit Anne. She makes him stay at the hotel in town. Steve obtains from Gwen a rusty gun she'd found in cleaning a well. It is the gun that was missing after old man Claxton's death. The Trainors arrive. Collins raids Anne's cattle. Mr. Trainor offers to get Anne's property surveyed and help her fight Collins.

INSTALMENT XXXII.

A RADIANT HOPE.

As the weeks went on, Anne had more than one occasion to renew this vow of gratitude. The comfort of having Mr. Trainor, with his forceful personality and strong will, behind her, was almost too good to be true.

Anne was only too thankful to rely on his judgment, and it was an added satisfaction to have Tim share her confidence in the new partner of the X Bar 9, as John Trainor called himself.

"Yuh leave it up to him," Tim had admonished, three weeks or so after the raid, when Anne was expostulating about letting Jake Collins get away with the outrage. "I wouldn't have believed a dude could have the sense he's got. He's dead right about lyin' low with Jake until yuh've got some real evidence on him. We came out of that fracas mighty well, all things considered. Seein' as how we've recovered three-quarters of the herd, I'm all fired glad Whitey and the boys didn't catch up with 'em before they scattered into the box canyons. There'd like as not have been gun play."

"I can hardly wait for that surveyor's report," Anne started to go back to the house. "I think it's grand of Mr. Trainor to agree to buy up the land on that boundary, if it is ours, and give us a perpetual right of way over it."

"He's all white, that's what he is," Tim agreed. "The way he scurried round and found out what the land was really worth, shows that. I was plumb loco advisin' you to let him have that five hundred acres at two dollars an acre, but I was scared he'd back down, I was ready to most give it away. But does he take you up on that? He does not. He finds out it's worth about eight, with the water holes on it, and here we are, sittin' pretty. Won't Jake Collins throw a fit when he finds that property's owned by a he-man! Golly, I'd like to see his face when he first gets wind of it!"

"I think I'll go with you on that fishing trip tomorrow, Tim," Anne abruptly changed the subject. "I've never been to the head of Beaver Creek."

"Come ahead, plenty of fish to go around."

The air was nippy, exciting the horses as well as the boys. Nick and Bob, eagerly demonstrating their efficiency at saddling and packing, called to Anne that they had Rocket ready for her.

"Strikes me you're about ready to join the outfit," Anne smiled her appreciation. "Tim tells me you two are a big help, and I can see what he means."

"I'm going to be a cattleman when I grow up," Bob said, with all seriousness. "I might not even wait to go through college."

"We'll see about that," Mr. Trainor joined in the general laugh as he swung into his saddle. "The problem right now is to see how good a fisherman you'll make."

It seemed to Anne, when they at last reached the deep pools of upper Beaver creek, that she was the dude and the rest the old timers. It was her first experience at fly casting. Nick and Bob were only too delighted to take her in hand, and Anne promptly succumbed to the lure of the engrossing sport.

When, at last, she succeeded in landing a trout, she was as excited and triumphant as the boys.

"Let's try farther down the creek," Nick suggested. "There's a dandy pool there."

At a point where they had forded the creek on the way up, she stopped short at the sound of creaking leather, and the soft pad of hoofs on pine needles. As she waited, in startled curiosity, two horses rounded the trail. A moment later they came to a halt, and Anne found herself staring at Gwen and Gerald, who were staring back at her with equal astonishment.

Gwen was the first to speak.

"Talk about surprises!" Her voice was cool, but a rich color spread slowly beneath the smooth tan of her cheeks.

"Taking your dudes out for an airing?" Anne felt her anger flare up at Gerald's deliberately taunting question.

"Gwen and I both seem engaged in that line," she flashed back, but even as she spoke, she had the surprised feeling of how much less like a dude Gerald looked.

Instead of his exaggerated riding breeches, he wore blue jeans stuffed in his boots, and an old Stetson replaced the elaborate one he had first sported.

Was Gwen responsible for the change, Anne asked herself? If so, where had Steve been all the time she had been exerting this obvious influence over Gerald?

A wild hope set Anne's heart beating so fast that she hardly heard Gerald's next remark.

"We'd better head back to the other ridge, Gwen, Anne doesn't want me to associate with her dudes. I'm forbidden the X Bar 9 while they're there."

"Why must you always go to such absurd extremes, Gerald?" Anne straightened up, impulsively deciding to challenge Gerald's attitude then and there. "You know perfectly well you weren't 'forbidden the X Bar 9.' It wasn't possible for you to come to stay, but that's no reason to shun it like the plague. Won't you both stay and fish with us and come back for dinner?"

"I'm sorry we can't," Gwen answered before Gerald had a chance. "Dad's counting on us for lunch. We were only out for a ride. It's time we turned back, anyway."

She picked up her reins, and looked over at Gerald with something of the same possessiveness that Anne had noticed the first time she had ever seen those keenly impelling black eyes. Only then the look had been for Steve! Quick blood flared in Anne's cheeks. Before she could stop it, the question she had no intention of asking was out.

"Have you seen Steve Hayward lately?"

Was it anger that lurked in Gwen's eyes, before an elaborate carelessness wiped it out? Anne couldn't tell.

"No, not for some time. Have you?"

Anne shook her head. She couldn't trust her voice not to play tricks above the ridiculous hammering of her heart.

"He's been having some trouble with his outfit, so he's sticking close to the ranch," Gwen added, as she turned her horse. "Come on, Gerald."

Anne watched the retreating horses with a confused sense of unreality. Gwen and Gerald! It was in keeping with Gerald's shallow nature to let himself be caught up on the rebound as a solace to his wounded pride. But how about Gwen? Had she seen a better catch in Gerald than in Steve?

Why then——the——it was possible——perhaps——

Nick's insistent calls snatched Anne at last from the wildly incredible dream world that "perhaps" opened up. But as far as fishing was concerned, she was doomed to be a woeful disappointment to her instructors. It was out of the question to put her mind on a rod and a bit of twine when her heart was singing with a happiness it hadn't known since that first night at the ranch.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THAT MAKES IT UNANIMOUS

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Deserted

Serve Mellow Baked Beans to Young Scholars

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The dear old golden rule days are back with us, and so are the dear old-fashioned baked beans with brown bread. The schoolday appetite craves them and the family budget loves them for the very gentle way they treat it. Few foods are so inexpensive and at the same time so nourishing and so good.

Use the great northern beans instead of pea or navy beans if you want baked beans the same day you start them. The larger beans don't require long soaking and they cook tender in a fraction of the time. There are pre-cooked navy beans available in some groceries, too. But the brown and fragrant beans our New England grandmothers baked weren't hurried in the least.

Boston Brown Bread

[Three large loaves]

2 cups graham flour
1 cup cornmeal
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
½ cup molasses
2 cups thick sour milk or buttermilk
¼ cup melted shortening
¾ cup raisins [optional]

Measure and combine dry ingredients. Sift twice, returning to the mixture the bran left in the flour sifter. Combine molasses and buttermilk and add melted shortening. Add liquid to dry ingredients and mix quickly and vigorously, only enough to smooth the batter. Add raisins and fill greased molds two-thirds full. Put on greased covers. Steam for two hours if small molds are used, three hours if larger ones, such as one pound coffee cans, are used. Remove from steamer and uncover. Dry out in the oven for ten to fifteen minutes.

TO STEAM BREAD IN PRESSURE COOKER.

The cooking time may be shortened if a pressure cooker is used. Puncture the can covers to allow the escape of steam. Place filled cans on a rack in the pre-heated pressure cooker. There should be two or three cups of water in the bottom of the cooker. Cover cooker, clamping it tightly. Leave the petcock open for fifteen minutes while the bread steams. Close petcock and cook one hour under fifteen pounds pressure. Exhaust steam immediately as soon as time is up. Place bread in the oven for a few minutes to dry the outside.

Boston Baked Beans

[Serves four]

2 cups pea or navy beans
¼ cup molasses
¼ cup diced salt pork
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons catsup
3 small onions

Cover beans with water and let them stand overnight. Place over low heat and let simmer for several hours, or until the beans are quite soft. Allow most of the water to cook off when beans begin to be tender. Add other ingredients and put beans in a bean jar or casserole. Bake in a slow oven, 275 to 300 degrees, for five or six hours. Add water from time to time if the beans dry out. Uncover for the last half hour of baking.

There are many minor variations of this recipe which will produce beans to boast about. Bacon may be used instead of the salt pork; brown sugar may be used instead of molasses; mustard may be omitted and tomatoes or more catsup added.

Sarcasm an Unfair Tool for Teachers

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Children are quite defenseless in the face of some of the actions of grownups. Teasing, for instance, puts them at a disadvantage because they're not supposed to retaliate. If they do, they're called fresh or impudent.

Sarcasm is another treatment they cannot combat. It is unhappily the resort of too many teachers and professors. It is also the actual practice of some parents, but a practice which is most unfair.

Sarcasm is a weapon that cuts and bewilders children. They cannot understand it. Besides cutting and bewildering them, it often humiliates them. And they bitterly resent the use of it.

Directed against children it is a cruel lash. That may sound extreme, but any one, now grown up, who cringed under it as a child knows it goes deep. Some grownups can stand sarcasm, but not children.

Of course, very little children don't even understand it. But as soon as they are old enough to do so, to feel the edge of sarcastic remarks or correction, how it does hurt! And not in a wholesome way, either! It leaves a resentment, a sting that an honest scolding, or even fair punishment, does not leave.

being a weapon with which they are unfitted to cope.

"How to Gain Obedience Without Punishment" is the name of a booklet sent on request. Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

The Housewife

Most housewives have numbers of attractive, small jars they could use for jellies and jams if only these had airtight covers. But because they have not they are practically worthless.

Not any more, however. There's a handy little contrivance, available for just a few cents, that will seal any jar of reasonable size and that will thus enable you to use all the odds and ends you've been keeping. This jiffy seal is made of processed cellophane. To apply it simply wet it and press it down over the glass or bottle. It's there for good.

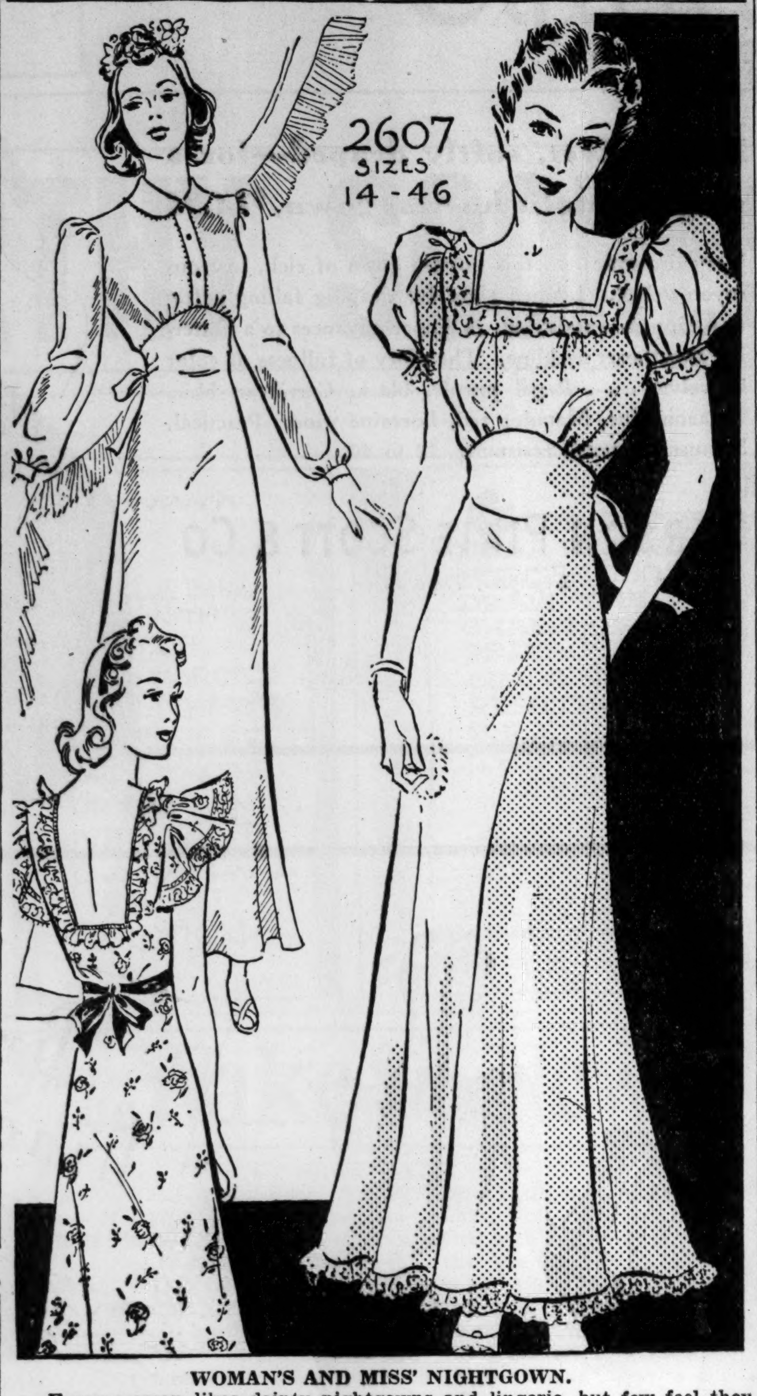
Either Dainty or Tailored



WOMAN'S AND MISS' NIGHTGOWN.

Every woman likes dainty nightgowns and lingerie, but few feel they can afford the luxury of exquisite nighties when there are so many more important things over which to stretch the budget. But you can own the loveliest of nightgowns at a trifling cost if you make them yourself. They are so simple to sew that you will enjoy the work, and the daintiest of fabrics is relatively inexpensive. The pattern we're offering today fashions two entirely different styles. One is as demure and feminine as can be and the other adheres to shirtwaist, tailored styling.

The dressier version has a square neckline, rathr low, and also a square décolletage in the back. This is edged with lace or ruffling to match or contrast, and the same trimming is used on the sleeves, be they short and highly puffed or allowed to flow "butterfly wing" fashion. The waistline is built up high in front and has a bow tied in the back. The skirt fits like that of an evening gown, and the hemline may be edged with the same ruffling or lace, or left plain.

The tailored version has a high neckline with a collar, and long sleeves gathered into tight little wrist bands. Buttons march shirt-stud fashion down the tailored closing.

All sheer silks and cottons make up well in the dressy version, as do lingerie silks, and flannelette is ideal and comfortable for the tailored garment.

Style No. 2607 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with 5 yards of ruffling.

A New Crisis! American Legs Are Getting Fat

BY MARCIA WINN.

The beauty trade knows no barriers. Having invaded all provinces of the human face it now has descended upon the human legs, female variety.

And it is high time, too, Mrs. Mary K. Braden of Cleveland, president of the American Cosmeticians association, declared yesterday at the group's 19th annual convention, held at the Stevens hotel. The American woman, she says, has let her legs slip into a fearful state.

America's legs, she observed with horror, are fat!

Mrs. Braden did not stop to compare America's legs with those of Poland, England, Turkey, Afghanistan, or others of stocky reputation. She merely pointed out that fashion's short skirts are revealing many eyesores.

To correct this she has introduced a new art into the beauty trade, that of pedi-slimming. This consists principally of kneading, kneading, kneading, and massaging, concentrated behind the ankle bone and midway of the calf.

"And you think we can't thin 'em down?" she asked. "Why, it looks beautiful when we're through—and the women love it, I'm telling you."

The perfect leg, she said, has no standard measurements, such as the eight inch ankle and 13 inch calf of fiction. It varies with the size of the person. The slat-like legs of a fat woman, for instance, might look elephantine on a very thin woman.

"But no leg," she stated with assurance, "should be fat behind the ankle bone. That's where big legs start, and that's what we can massage away."

Federation Board.

The Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its first board meeting of the season today and tomorrow at federation headquarters, 30 West Washington street.

Through the Looking Glass

"What can we do about splitting nails?" is a familiar refrain these days. We do wish we knew of some magic preparation that would make nails strong and beautiful over night! But nail reconditioning calls for patience and a good program.

There are nail builder-uppers. One of the best, we think, is a pink cream that accomplishes wonders in correcting brittleness and ragged cuticle if you give it half a chance. It should be massaged into the nailbed every night, and if you want to hasten the reconditioning process you should use it after each hand washing. It's a rich lubricant and you need use but a tiny bit at a time. We know this to be really effective because we've seen its corrective work on some very bad nails.

There's no point in blaming polish and polish removers for all the nail ailments. Some women who never use lacker have plenty of nail trouble. But if the nails are soft, if they peel and break easily, we do think it is a good idea to put polish aside for a bit. Use it when you want to be particularly well groomed, but remove it afterward. Buff the nails to a good luster in between times. Buffing is a good "exercise" for nails and actually helps to strengthen them.

Then there are the protective waxes, to be used beneath the polish. We are all for these, because they do form a protective sheath between nail and polish. Women feel that they don't dry fast enough—and it's true that you must spend a great deal of time waiting for them to dry—but it's worth it. Sick nails need treatment and this extra time should be considered treatment.

Then there is the matter of shaping. DON'T let any manicurist file your nails down too closely at the sides. Let the nails grow up at the sides. They'll look funny for a while, but they'll gradually take on a better shape. And you'll notice that this length at the sides gives the nail tip a strong base that cuts down on breakage remarkably.

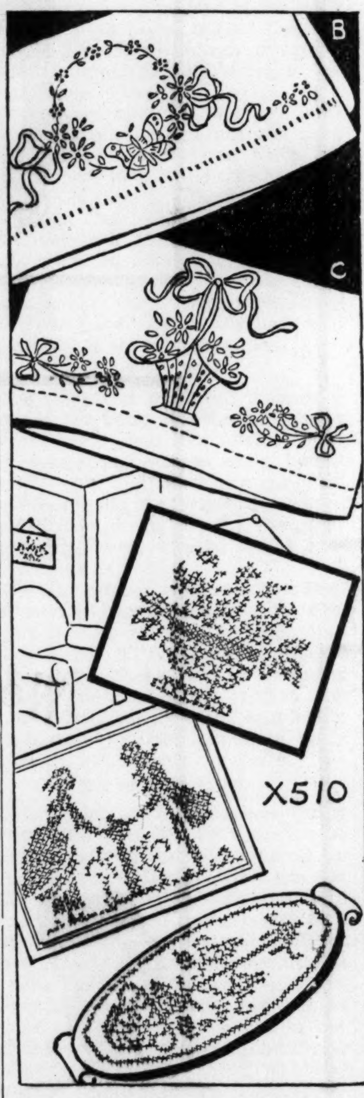
Transfer Pattern Creates Variety of Small Items



BY NANCY CABOT.

Tea towels, wall hangings and tray cloths are small items which every embroidery worker enjoys creating. The hot iron transfer pattern, No. X-510, offers a variety of embroidery to suit any purpose. The butterfly and wreath are ideal for towels and, for a change, may be coupled with the dainty flower basket. Cross-stitch comes in for its share of popularity in the needlework field, and the simple floral motif which may be used for a wall hanging may be worked in a variety of colors. The dainty colonial figures may be used for any purpose, from a wall hanging to a pillow. A bit unusual and highly attractive is the tray cloth done in a conventional tree design.

For hot iron transfer pattern, No. X-510, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Style Slave Is Seldom Chic; So Be Yourself

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A young man guest at one of the big wedding events of the season commented on what he called the "pitiful uniformity" of our so-called glamor girls in social life. He was referring to the girls whose pictures adorn the roto sections, whether they are camera caught in night spots, on beach parade, or at the aforesaid social goings on.

Long bobbed sisters, most of them, running to the identical haircut arrangement, so that, reports the observing gentleman, "if you are asked which is Mr. Goldmine's daughter, you would be safe in pointing your finger in the direction of any girl on the scene of like age and position." Silhouettes run to a similar pattern because these young women being launched officially on a social campaign know they must keep trimmed down to the last farthing of flesh, so to speak. Dresses, he admits, may run to a reasonable variety, but there is not the distinction of style, the individual study men would welcome.

The movie queens have had this criticism directed at them in the past, but we do not think they deserve it today. Certainly a Hepburn and a Madeline Carroll have little in common in appearance, or a Colbert and a Janet Gaynor; a Joan Crawford and a Rochelle Hudson.

We introduce the theme now because we see already with the adoption of the upswept coiffure the same "sheep-running" pattern. Because others are wearing their hair high, with ears exposed and neck bare, girls who would accomplish more in their own beauty rating by compromising with the featured hair fashions, subscribe to the so-called popular mode.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Helen Gene Diver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Diver of Evanston, to Crawford F. Yeazel, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Dryden Yeazel of Indianapolis, Ind., will take place on Sept. 24. The ceremony will be performed at 11 o'clock in St. Mary's church in Evanston. A reception will follow from 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. McHale of 4443 West Adams street announce the approaching marriage on Saturday of their daughter, Marie Louise, to John M. Doherty. The ceremony will take place at 10:30 o'clock at St. Mel's church.

Mrs. Benjamin Moyer of 5480 Cornell avenue announces the marriage on Sept. 10 of her daughter, Blanche, to Samuel Gordon. Mr. Gordon and his bride will be at home after Oct. 1 at the Carolan hotel.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

There are many ingredients in the concoction known as good defense. Two of these are outstandingly important. First, a player must be able to "read" a lead. He must recognize whether the leader may have certain cards or whether the lead in itself is a denial of such a holding. Once this point is settled, the second prerequisite becomes fairly simple: to select another suit that may be more vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's honor tricks and distribution should have been expressed with an opening bid of one no trump rather than one heart, but this is merely an academic criticism inasmuch as the same final contract would have been reached.

West opened the spade jack and declarer, for reasons best known to himself, won with dummy's king. He entered his own hand with a heart to the ace, and returned a diamond toward dummy, finessing the ten spot. East won with the queen and gave careful consideration to his return. The play of the spade king on the first trick had been highly informative, although, of course, declarer had not realized that that could be the case. West's opening lead of the spade jack could have been from only one of two combinations. It was, of course, the top of a sequence, but it might be from a holding of J 10 9 x, or from A J 10 9 x. Which it was could be determined only by consideration of declarer's play. If declarer's spade holding had been the queen without the ace, he would not have dreamed of putting up dummy's king. As an elementary play to gain two spade tricks and stoppers, he would have let the opening lead ride to his own queen. Thus declarer's play of the king was indisputable proof that he and not West had the ace, and, of course, the queen was marked in declarer's hand by the lead of the jack.

Once East determined that it would be futile to pound away at spades, he was led to the correct defense. He returned his fourth best club and, from that point on the defenders were in the driver's seat. Declarer played low, and West did likewise, merely forcing dummy's club queen with the eight spot. Declarer could not run nine tricks without establishing a diamond, and East, on winning with the diamond ace, returned another club through the king, permitting West to cash three club tricks.

Obviously declarer's carelessness in putting up dummy's spade king on the first lead had made matters much easier for the defenders. If the lead had been allowed to ride to the closed hand, and had been won with the queen, East would have had a difficult decision to make as to what card to return after winning with his diamond queen. Under that circumstance he might have credited the opening leader with five spades to to the ace-jack-ten, figuring that South had extra values in clubs to justify his two no trump bid. But even with the play going as it did it took a certain amount of thought on East's part to map out and execute the right defense.

HARTNETT WILL CATCH AS CUBS TACKLE BEES

Bryant Is Named to Hurl Opener Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 12.—Gabby Hartnett, skipper of the Cubs, will be vastly more than just manager when the second place Chicagoans open against the Bees tomorrow. Gabby will be the catcher, which is about the best personal item that could come from Cub campaign headquarters.

Gabby Hartnett.

Gabby made the decision this afternoon as he neared his native New England. The thumb which was busted in the first inning of the Cub-Card game on Aug. 15 had mended ahead of schedule and Gabby had hoped to return to the lineup in the week-end series with the Cincinnati Reds. The rainy weather encountered in Chicago caused the thumb to ache. So Gabby postponed the unveiling indefinitly. Today he read the pennant figures all over again, gave the sore thumb a few trial twists, and made his announcement.

No Chance for Record.

Hartnett will go back into the lineup at the earliest moment advisable purely for team purposes. His chances to set new catching records this year, notably the surpassing of Cracker Schalk's and his own record for having caught 100 or more games in twelve seasons, are gone. Gabby had seventy games on the way to a new major league mark when he was knocked out Aug. 15. If he catches all of the Cubs' remaining games, which is improbable, of course, his total will be only ninety.

Tomorrow's game will be the 1,638th Cub game in which Hartnett has played as a catcher, excluding mere pinch hitting appearances. Schalk's record for total games caught is 1,721. Gabby expects to chase Cracker right out of the book on this one, but he is not promising to go 100 games next year for the other record, which he had expected to grab this year. With Gabby and Mickey Cochrane improbable 100 game catchers in the future, Bill Dickey remains the only gent possessing a threat to Schalk's most cherished mark.

Cubs Pull for Giants.

If Hartnett's left palm has become a bit tender while he has been nursing his sore right thumb he'll find out about it tomorrow afternoon, for he will be catching Clay Bryant's pitching, which comes into the mitt very rapidly.

Bryant has whipped the Bees in his last two engagements with them, 7 to 4 in Boston and 4 to 2 in Chicago. The Cubs expect to face Jim Turner, who had an easy time with the Cubs in his last two turns against them.

For the first time in a long while the Cubs will be pulling for the Giants to win tomorrow. If the faded champs can whip the Pirates and the Cubs can beat the Bees, the Cubs will be only 2½ games out of first place, and the pennant heat really will be turned on.

RAIN POSTPONES SOFTBALL FINALS UNTIL TONIGHT

Postponed from last night because of rain and wet grounds, the world's amateur softball championship will wind up tonight on Soldiers' field with the two title games and a "Parade of Stars."

Chicago's Down Drafts will meet the girls from Alameda, Cal., for the women's title while the International Harvester company of Little Rock, Ark., will play the Pohlar's of Cincinnati, O., in the men's final.

Opening games will present C. Y. O. teams in their title contests, and the program will close with the B'nai Brith lodge championship game.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

DAVE COLWELL, whom Ducky Pond of Yale calls the most underrated back of 1937 football, has joined the coaching staf at Harvard. . . . He is the first Eli graduate ever associated with a Harvard eleven. . . . New York sport writers predict that the Giants will be the National Professional league's representative in the 1939 Chicago All-Star game. . . . They further forecast that the Giants will end the collegians' victory skein. . . . Maybe so, but they'll have to show more than they did in whipping those eastern boys at the Polo Grounds last Wednesday night. . . . Old Germany Schaffer was the first major league player to call his home run shot. . . . With the Dodgers trailing, 11 to 0, in the ninth he asked the late Wilbert Robinson what to do. . . . Robinson, punctuating his order with profanity, told Schaffer to hit a home run and Schaffer, after announcing to the crowd in one of his famous speeches from home plate that he was under orders to lose the ball, hit the first pitch out of the park. . . . Bob Wienecke, full back and captain of Northwestern's football team in 1925, is assistant manager of the Chicago agency of a large insurance company. . . . Forty-six of the eighty-one players invited back for football practice at Notre Dame are Irish. . . . Babe Ruth doesn't believe the popularity of night baseball will endure. . . . The Chicago Cardinals unveiled one of the most versatile freshmen the National Professional league has seen in a long time against the Bears Sunday night. . . . His name is Dwight Sloan. . . . He is one reason the Cardinals are going to cause plenty of trouble for league rivals this season. . . .

Greasy Neale, Yale's assistant coach, prefers to take his chances with an ordinary line and a go-to-town back field rather than vice versa. . . . "Back field stars are born but you can make linemen," he explains. . . . The eyesight of Tom Thorp, veteran football referee, is failing or else the lighting effects at the eastern All-Star game were inadequate, because Thorp wasn't sure Ward Cuff's second 42 yard field goal had cleared the bar until he conferred with the field judge. . . . Enlarged parking facilities, a new electric timing clock, resurfaced ramps, and a glass inclosed press box are among the improvements in Purdue's football plant this season. . . . Schedule complications remain. . . . Ed Cole, Browns' pitcher, was Ed Kizloski before the season started. . . . He's Polish. . . . Henry Armstrong, owner of three titles, has earned less in his three years in the ring than Joe Louis did in his 2 minutes and 4 seconds with Max Schmeling. . . . The Bears and Cardinals could have added to the fans' enjoyment in their Sunday night game by using a white ball. . . . Miss Sonja Henie, who returned to the United States on the Normandie yesterday, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow to spend two or three days discussing her winter skating tour with Chicago Stadium officials.

There's No Escape.

A rather large group of men seated in the south end of Soldiers' field the night of the All-Star game were rooting noisily for Washington. An indignant collegian investigated and found they were WPA workers.

Tried so hard to be nice to you,

As in a crowd of laughing folks

Helen Jacobs, Riggs Beaten in Net Upsets

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Margot Lumb, a free swinging southpaw from England and Gilbert Hunt, a young man from Washington, D. C., today knocked two prodigious dents into the seeded lists of the men's and women's national singles tennis tournament.

Miss Lumb, with only one year of big time experience, played like a seasoned internationalist in whipping Helen Hull Jacobs, four time champion and seeded No. 1, 7-5, 6-2. Hunt gambled and forced his way to a 6-2, 0-6, 9-7, 0-6, 6-4 victory over Bobby Riggs, who was second only to Don Budge in 1937 ranking, on the 1938 Davis cup team, and in this year's seedings.

Displays Power, Control.

Both thus reached the quarter-finals, the English girl in company with Nancy Wynne of Australia, her next rival, Dorothy May Bundy of California, and Mme. Rene Mathieu of France; Hunt with Gene Mako, Budge's doubles partner and his round of eight opponent, Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, and John Bromwich of Australia.

In achieving her upset of the Berkeley, Cal., veteran, Miss Lumb hit out with remarkable power and control, played constantly and effectively to Miss Jacobs' backhand, and kept Helen away from the net. Those were the tactics that enabled her to break through Miss Jacobs.

Mako Makes Good Showing.

The victories of Miss Lumb and Hunt pushed into the background another fine showing by Gene Mako. In the opening match of the day, the tall Californian turned back Franjo Puncec, Jugoslavian cup ace ranked third among the visitors, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7.

In the other contests, Joe Hunt of Los Angeles beat Yvon Petra of France, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7; Bromwich eased his way past Frankie Parker, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, and Miss Wynne, playing the up and down tennis at which she is so paradoxically adept, turned back Helen Pedersen, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Mme. Mathieu, second ranking of the foreign women, beat Gracyn Wheeler, 6-4, 6-1, and Miss Bundy turned back Mrs. Harry Hopman, wife of Australia's Davis cup captain, by the same scores.

GREENBERG HITS 50TH HOMER AS SOX LOSE, 4 TO 3

Two Errors Cost Knott Another Victory.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—Mr. Hank Greenberg, the home run man, put himself on exhibition again today. Lanky Hank didn't even stop to consider that there were only 3,500 present. He drove a pitch out of the park for his fiftieth home run of the season. The hit was the margin by which Detroit trimmed the White Sox in the series finale, 4 to 3.

Greenberg now is at the point where, if he can maintain the pace set by Babe Ruth when Ruth hit sixty homers in 1927, he will beat the ex-Yankee's record. The Babe hit his fiftieth in the 137th game. Today's game was the 134th for Greenberg. Ruth, however, hit two on Sept. 13 in a double-header with Cleveland, so to keep ahead of the Ruthian pace lanky Hank will have to come through with a pair within the next two days.

Tough on Knott.

The afternoon produced more misfortune for Jack Knott, the former Brownie who invariably pitches great ball and loses. Greenberg's homer was the only legitimate run made off him and even that barely cleared the 340 foot screen in left. The other Tiger runs were due to slight mistakes in the Sox defense.

The Sox offense against Alton Benton, who is becoming a favorite Chicago nuisance, was just about limited to Joe Kuhel. With his seventh homer of the year Kuhel picked up two runs to place the Sox in a tie for a few minutes in the third. He doubled in the eighth to start another rally which netted one run.

Bit of Bad Luck.

Two inches, the distance a throw went wild, was all that prevented Knott surviving the two-run first inning unscathed. Dixie Walker singled with one out. After Gehringer had popped to Appling, Knott began fretting about the home run skill of Greenberg and York. The result was a pass for each, filling the bases. Meyer made a sensational stop behind second of Fox's grounder, but in trying to force York at second, he threw a bit to the side of Appling, who was covering. Before the ball was recovered, Greenberg had followed Dixie Walker home.

The Sox moved into a tie in the third. This bit of endeavor was accomplished in a simple way. Tresh walked with one out and, after Knott had sacrificed, Kuhel whacked his seventh homer of the season into the right field seats. The tie, however, was too short lived to be appreciated. Mr. Greenberg stepped forth in the

ARON OUTSLUGS BURKE TO WIN IN TEN ROUNDS

Milt Aron, Chicago welterweight, scored his seventh victory of the year in a ten round slugging match with Jackie Burke of Ogden, Utah, in Marigold Gardens last night.

Aron scored points in seven of the rounds. In the second he almost dropped the rugged Burke with a right to the jaw, and in the fourth a right to the head spun Burke.

Jimmy Sheppard, Peoria middleweight, won a hard battle with Al Trulmain of San Diego, Cal., in a five round semi-windup. Trulmain was substituted for Joe Delya.

Horton Smith, Barbara Bourne to Wed on Oct. 8

Washington, Conn., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—St. John's Episcopal church here will be the setting the afternoon of Oct. 8 for the marriage of Miss Barbara Louise Bourne and Horton Smith, a leading golf professional.

Miss Bourne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Severin Bourne of Morningside, Atlanta, Ga. She will have her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth B. Bourne, and Mrs. Howard Fortson of Augusta, Ga., for her matrons of honor.

Ren Smith of Chicago will be best man for his brother, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Smith of Springfield, Mo. Ushers will be James W. Thomson of Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, Pa.; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.; Harry P. Cooper of Chicopee, Mass., and the bride-elect's brothers, Kenneth B. Bourne of New York and A. Severin Bourne Jr. of Greenwich.

PURPLE ARE TAN AND DETERMINED TO REGAIN TITLE

Inexperienced Reserves N. U.'s Only Worry.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

What is the relationship between sun tan and physical condition? When you have pondered this, then consider the question: Why does Nick Cutlich, Northwestern varsity tackle weigh 195 pounds, when his weight last spring during football practice was 235 pounds?

The deductions of Coach Lynn Waldorf and his assistant football coaches at Northwestern are that the Wildcat squad of 72 players, including the aforesaid Nick Cutlich, is intensely interested in the Western conference championship. The boys, from the prospective varsity eleven to the sixth substitute for guard, have reported in the best physical condition of any squad in the four years Waldorf has headed the staf.

The tanned torsos of Northwestern's Wildcats indicate self-conditioning. And Cutlich's muscled figure likewise is symbolic in that these Northwestern boys believe they have a fine opportunity to supplant Minnesota at the top of the conference list just as they did in 1936.

They Have the Spirit.

If morale and team spirit are half the battle, as has been written many times, then Northwestern now is half way to a championship. Whether they can complete their route depends on success in replacing such stars as Fred Vanzo, Don Heap, Mike Calvano, Bob Swisher, Erwin Wegner, and John Kovatch. The Wildcats will be weak in key positions, notably center and tackle, should injury take toll or physical exhaustion in gruelling contests reduce effectiveness of the first line troops.

In brief, Northwestern's weakness this year is lack of experienced replacements.

The Wildcats will have a good team. This may be taken for granted. But Northwestern had a good team last year and lost three of its six conference games.

Plan Double Drills.

Coach Waldorf hopes to hold double drills through Friday of this week. First scrimmage is scheduled Saturday and the annual freshman-varsity game will be played Sept. 24. In one respect Northwestern has a neatly arranged program in that Kansas State and Drake, nonconference opponents, will serve to test it before Ohio State comes to Dyche stadium to open the Big Ten race on Oct. 15.

The Buckeyes bump into Indiana in their first game and follow up with Southern California. This seems to be a schedule advantage, but as Waldorf points out, "If Ohio State gets past those two games, they will be mighty hard to beat." Waldorf might have added that Ohio State is mighty hard to beat any year.

Northwestern's coaching staf isn't wasting a minute of time. The players had contact drills Saturday in their opening practice. Yesterday morning the backs and ends drilled on passes and Burt Ingwersen, the Wildcats' volatile line coach, had his men working on fundamentals. In the afternoon the squad was divided into groups for blocking and tackling practice and conditioning. At the conclusion the boys were rehersing plays originally outlined for them in spring practice.

They Start Early.

Northwestern actually began preparations for this football campaign in the 1937 Minnesota game. That afternoon the Wildcats turned loose about every sophomore available and among them was John Haman, replacing Wegner who was injured. Haman demonstrated his fitness immediately and that experience is invaluable now. Incidentally, center is one of the coaching problems. Haman certainly is acceptable, but the next three men in order of substitution, Melvin Sprinkel, Paul Hiemenz, and Alexander Smith, are sophomores. At least one of them must come through to give Haman relief now and then.

Waldorf says the Wildcats may have a better air attack this year.

ART DOERING IS SECOND, ONE STROKE BEHIND

Seven Players Are Tied at 74.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oakmont, Pa., Sept. 12.—Maurice McCarthy Jr., an old timer in big league golf at the age of 31, today served notice on the field in the forty-second national amateur tournament that he can still bat a ball around. With a remarkable disdain for the horrors of the ancient Oakmont course and the discomforts of hay fever, the Cincinnati Irishman led the first eighteen holes of the qualifying round with a 37-35—72, even par. Matching par on most golf pastures is seldom considered of import, but doing it at Oakmont is equivalent to whipping around another lot in 68 or 69.

Maurice McCarthy Jr.

Shortly after McCarthy came off the eighteenth green, wearing a special hay fever filter for his ailment, one of the shortest but most terrific rainstorms of the season lashed the course. Fighting his way through the last four holes of that wind driven downpour, Art Doering of Medinah, the Chicago district champion, went three over par for a 73 at a time when it appeared he might finish with a 70.

Seven Tie at 74.

Back of the two leaders, tied at 74, were six proven competitors and a dark horse. The latter is Robert Stiedle, a 23 year old ex-caddy from Little Rock, Ark., who qualified at Memphis. Coming up on the eighteenth in the gloaming the curly haired southerner needed a four to tie McCarthy, but a tremendous four wood sailed over the carpet and, after dubbing his third shot, he got on in four and down in two for six.

The other sextet of 74s included Tommy Tailer, millionaire star from Westbury, N. Y.; Harry Givan of Seattle, Wash.; Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn.; Charley Yates, Atlanta's British amateur champion; Eddie Held, Denver veteran, and Reynolds Smith of Dallas, Tex.

Haas Shoots 75.

Deadlocked at 75 were seven others in the starting field of 163, including another dark horse, Steve Kovach, Pittsburgh steel worker. Tied with him were Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 1937 runner-up for the championship; Roger Kelly of Los Angeles, last year's medalist; Freddie Haas, winner of the 1937 national intercollegiate at Oakmont; Robert Babbish of Detroit, 1938 western amateur winner; Marvin Ward of Olympia, Wash., a member of this year's Walker cup team, and Hunter Hicks of Chicago's Skokie club. Kelly and Hicks turned in two of the strangest cards of the day, the former shooting a 42—33—75, while Hicks rallied from a 41 to a home nine of 34.

John Goodman of Omaha, Neb., the defending champion, settled for a comfortable enough 76, whereat he was joined by such famed parties as Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, 1936 champion; Gus Moreland of Peoria, Pat Abbott of Altadena, Cal., and Chris Brinke of Detroit.

Field Is Cut.

The toughness of Oakmont, about which its patrons make no bones, was again demonstrated by today's play, despite the fact that it was noticeably eased up in comparison with its shape for the 1935 national open tournament. Fifty-nine players managed to break 80 today, a feat about which one and all may well boast to their grandchildren.

The field for tomorrow's final eighteen holes was reduced to 124, the championship committee exercising its right to reduce the field after the first round. A deadline of 84 was set, excluding among others Chick Evans of Chicago, champion of 1916 and 1920 and winner of more than fifty matches in nearly thirty national amateurs. Evans last year reached the quarter finals before losing a 1 up battle to Fischer.

Match Play Tomorrow.

The low sixty-four scorers for the thirty-six holes of medal competition will enter the match play bracket, which opens Wednesday with two eighteen hole rounds. This procedure will be duplicated Thursday, reducing the field to Friday's four semi-finalists, who will play thirty-six holes. The finalists will go a similar distance Saturday.

McCarthy, the first round leader, is one of the veterans of the game. He is a son of the late famed architect and professional. He has been up to a dozen national amateurs, his best performance being a semi-final rôle at Beverly in 1931. The year before he was the hero of the longest match in the tournament's history. After finishing eighteen holes all even with George Von Elm, Maurice halved the next nine holes and won the twenty-

DODGERS PARRY QUESTIONS ABOUT OUSTING GRIMES

Officials Say Rumors Are "News to Us."

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Baseball circles teemed today with rumors concerning Frankie Frisch, deposed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Burleigh Grimes, whose reign as leader of the Dodgers has been hanging in the balance, but none of them could be confirmed.

Tales that Frisch, Leo Durocher, Babe Ruth, Jimmy Wilson, and others were about to replace Grimes in Brooklyn were referred to the Dodger office. The only reply forthcoming was "It's all news to us." As for Grimes being fired within forty-eight hours there was no answer for that one, either.

Rumors still persisted today, however, that Frisch will move into the Giant organization despite the emphatic denial of President Horace Stoneham.

Loses Hope of Renewal.

Grimes, it is believed, lost all hope of landing a new contract when his club lost 9 out of 11 games on the last western trip and fell to seventh place.

The chances of Babe Ruth were considered slim, though the fellow has been an efficient coach and the reason why the Dodgers not only drew some 60,000 customers in seven exhibition games but also many extra thousands through the turnstiles at Ebbets field and all around the National league. His future, it is believed, is with another National league club, particularly if Durocher is the man selected by Larry MacPhail. There never was any love lost between the two and they had a very private but pretty fight during the Polo Grounds series with the Giants that preceded the Dodgers' last western trip.

They Don't Get Along.

Durocher's presence on the club would seem to make Frisch's appointment a fainter possibility, too, for they are far from what you would call close chums. There were repeated stories that the former was waiting for Frisch to oversleep so that he would climb into the driver's seat in St. Louis during the 1937 season, and they ended only when Frisch demanded that Durocher be traded.

"They would have won the pennant this year if Frisch hadn't insisted that the club trade Durocher," MacPhail said recently, which is a fair indication of how both men stand with the fellow who runs the Dodgers for the Brooklyn Trust company and the club's musical comedy board of directors.

Last night the happiest man in Manhattan, judging from appearances and sound effects, was Durocher, and one of the reasons was the announcement from St. Louis that Frisch had landed on the pavement.

Other Chicagoans Stay In.

In addition to Doering, Hicks, and Moreland, six other Chicagoans gained the final eighteen by shooting 84 or better. They were Jack Hoerner of North Shore, 40—39—79; Jim Frisina of Midlothian, 41—39—80; John Lehman of Olympia Fields, 42—39—81; John Krutilla of Olympia Fields, 40—42—82; Don Armstrong of Medinah, 43—41—84, and Sid Richardson of Kildeer, 45—39—84. John [Pick] Wagner of Kildeer did not appear, and C. J. Farley of Grand Rapids, who qualified from the Chicago district, took a 45—44—89.

ARMSTRONG SAYS HE IS VACATING 125 POUND TITLE

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, holder of the featherweight, lightweight, and welterweight titles, announced through his manager, Eddie Mead, today that he was vacating the featherweight title. Mead said that he and Armstrong felt it was best for boxing that he quit the featherweight rank to give other boys a chance to battle it out for the title.

Breadon May Let Rickey Pick Manager

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—(AP)—President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals always has reserved for himself the prerogative of hiring and firing managers, but he may break tradition and turn over to General Manager Branch Rickey the authority to name a successor to Frankie Frisch.

Pressure brought by Rickey, who frequently had indicated he did not sympathize with the Frisch management, was accepted as one influence causing Breadon to decide to change managers. Frisch was released yesterday.

While Breadon and Rickey reiterated today that they had not made up their minds on a new manager, the names of many candidates were in the air.

Killifer Is Mentioned.

It was reported that Burleigh Grimes, now leader of the Brooklyn Dodgers, had the inside track, and the name of Bill Killefer, coach of the Cards under Rogers Hornsby and later manager of the Browns, also was mentioned.

Baseball circles buzzed with reports that Charley Grimm, recently let out as manager of the Chicago Cubs, was in town for a conference with Breadon and Rickey. Grimm, it was learned, came here to visit his nearby farm. Rickey declared neither he nor Breadon had an appointment with him.

"Even if we do see him," Rickey added, "it would mean nothing as we expect to be seeing several who want the job."

Breadon was said to favor Killefer, now manager of Sacramento, but ill health may eliminate him from consideration.

Frisch to Go Home.

Frisch, who wants to stay in baseball, said, "I am not going to ask for any jobs that are held by somebody else." Frank, who was 41 years old three days ago, will depart for his New Rochelle, N. Y., home tomorrow.

"I'm going home and sit on the front porch with Mom," he said. "That's a great spot, on the front porch with Mom. I'm going to enjoy my home for a while—but I hate to leave St. Louis since I was thinking of moving out here."

FIREMEN TIE, 3-3; GAME HALTED IN 10TH BY DARKNESS

The Chicago Firemen came from behind twice to earn a 3 to 3 tie in 10 innings with the Indianapolis Firemen yesterday in Wrigley field.

A crowd of 5,000, including Mayor Kelly of Chicago and Mayor Boettcher of Indianapolis, saw the game. Play was halted for a half hour in the third inning because of rain and finally called in the tenth due to darkness.

Stratton, Lee Face Senators in Twin Bill

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—The White Sox will be back home tomorrow to engage the Washington Senators in a double-header. The Sox pitchers will be Monty Stratton and Thornton [Lefty] Lee.

A deluge hit the town this morning and the Sox immediately packed up in anticipation of an afternoon train ride back to Chicago. But sun reappeared and forced the boys to go to work. The rain played a return engagement during the game, but the only damage was a ten minute delay.

Sox Miss Opportunities.

Owen's mistake enabled the Tigers to get another man to the plate in the sixth inning. Gehringer led off with a single to right. Greenberg bounced to Owen and there should have been a double play, but Owen threw wide to Meyer at second and nobody was retired. This was partially offset by the fact that Knott caught Gehringer off second a moment later. York then doubled to right center to score Greenberg, who had gone to second while Gehringer was being run down.

The Sox had an excellent chance to get into a tie in the eighth, but after getting one run home, they were crushed by a double play. The inning started with Conners batting for Knott and fouling to Christman. Kuhel doubled against the screen in right and moved to third when Owen singled off Benton's shin bone. Jerry Walker singled to right for his first hit of the series, Kuhel scoring and Owen going to third. Then came the double killing on a grounder slapped to Gehringer by Radcliff.

GOLFER WALSH WILL PINCH HIT FOR DYKES TODAY

There will be an assistant manager on the White Sox bench at Comiskey park today for the double-header with Washington. He is Tom Walsh, professional at Westgate Valley Golf club.

While Dykes and several of the White Sox were playing at Westgate recently Walsh was asked what he thought of the Sox. Walsh answered frankly. Dykes hired him immediately.

"It's time I took this guy Walsh out and gave him a chance to show me some baseball sense or shut up and stick to his golf," Dykes said.

JOE LOUIS HURT; FOOT IS PLACED IN WALKING CAST

Joe Louis yesterday entered Provident hospital on the south side to have a walking cast put on his right foot, which was injured during a slide in a recent softball game. The heavyweight champion remained in the hospital overnight. The accident will keep him inactive for the next three weeks, but it will not affect Joe's fighting when he resumes his campaign next year, his physician, Dr. Homer Cooper, said. The medico described the injury as "a torn lateral ligament of the ankle joint."

Last night Deputy Sherif James G. Svejda served Louis with a court summons in a libel suit brought by Sheridan Bruseaux, private detective of the south side, against the champion and his co-manager, Julian Black and John Roxborough.

Jack Dempsey arrived in the loop yesterday, tarried for a few hours, and then rushed back to New York to see that his wife, the former Hannah Williams, who has a sore throat, receives proper treatment. Before he left the former champion explained he would not return to be on hand when Robert E. Lee, a protégé of his, fights Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization heavyweight, in White City Friday. In fact Jack seems to have lost interest in Lee and appeared enthusiastic over the prospects of his Bill Boyd, heavyweight from Birmingham, Ala.

"Bill's a fine fighter," he nodded seriously. "I'd like to have him fight Sam Pian's protege [Alex Kettles] in Chicago."

The Illinois Athletic commission yesterday voted to rejoin the National Boxing association after operating independently for the last seven years. The decision then was sent to the N. B. A. convention in session in Montreal, Que. After the meeting Joe Triner, commission chairman, boarded an airplane for Los Angeles, Cal., where he will supervise the annual show sponsored by the Schenley Athletic club next Monday.

LAYDEN SHAKES OFF HEADACHE, HOLDS 2 DRILLS

Plans Plenty of Rough Work for Notre Dame.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Coach Elmer Layden had recovered sufficiently today from the headache which kept him home yesterday to put his squad of ninety-five Notre Dame football candidates through two drills.

Layden has not determined yet whether the headache resulted from a bump received as he entered his car Friday night or from his first look at his inexperienced squad Saturday. He was under a physician's care Saturday, but today he stood up under a blistering morning session and then an afternoon drill sprinkled by showers.

All of today's practice was devoted to group work on fundamentals preparatory to a scrimmage tomorrow. Layden hopes to overcome, partially at least, the inexperience of his team by scrimmages held under actual game conditions.

BADGERS LOSE BACKS.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The loss of two promising sophomore back field candidates became known today as Coach Harry Stuhldreher sent the Wisconsin squad through two snappy drills that included calisthenics, running through plays, and punting and passing practice.

BUCKEYES SWELTER, TOO.

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Hot weather hampered Ohio State's football practice today. After a passing and punting drill, the time was spent on assignment of plays.

It was apparent that with possibly two exceptions, the Ohio State lineup is in doubt. Only Right End Keith Blish is said to have cinched his position, and Don Scott, a sophomore, has about earned the quarter back job. Johnny Rabb has a prior claim to the full back position barring further injury to the hip strain he suffered in Saturday's drill.

HEAT SLOWS UP IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Coach Irl Tubbs today let up on the Iowa football team as Iowa City continued in the grip of a September heat wave. Morning practice was shortened and the squad did not work again until evening, when Tubbs held a two hour drill under floodlights.

Nile Kinnick was used at the tailback position, with Capt. Jack Eicherly and Glenn Olson at the wings, and a sophomore, Mike Enich at quarter back.

SEEKS INDIANA PASSER.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Coach Bo McMillin started a search today to find a forward passer on the Indiana football squad to replace Frank Filchock, last season's star who was lost by graduation.

Four sophomore backs were given tryouts on short passing. They are Harold Hursh of Middleton, O., Cobb Lewis of Bicknell, Joe Nicholson of Evansville, and Joe Tofil of Campbell.

Joe Nicholson of Evansville, sophomore back, and Archie Harris Jr. of Ocean City, N. J., 207 pound colored end, are lost to the squad for a week because of pulled leg tendons.

GOPHERS ALREADY BRUISED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Having scrimmaged on opening day of practice and getting some more of it in today's double session, it was not unexpected that Minnesota's football squad should have a crippled list today. The most serious was Larry Buhler, full back, whose hip was bruised and he had to go to the sidelines. Marty Christiansen moved up to the varsity.

Coach Bernie Bierman drove the squad of 74 hard today. He spent most of the morning at blocking and tackling drills, but he ordered another dose of scrimmage for the afternoon.

WIVES OF DEAN BOYS UNHURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The wives of Dizzy and Paul Dean escaped injury tonight when the car driven by Dizzy's wife skidded on wet pavement on highway 61, near here, and tipped on its side.

The women, accompanied by Paul Jerome, the 19 month old son of the Paul Deans; the child's nurse, Mary Reznick, and R. H. Walker of Hattiesburg, Miss., father of Gerald Walker of the Chicago White Sox, were en route to Bond, Miss., to visit Mrs. Paul Dean's parents.

tions. Despite the loss of Vanzo and Heap, and Vanzo's importance as a blocking back never was emphasized more than when the Detroit Lions decided to give him a regular berth, the Wildcats are not crippled. Their No. 1 backfield now is Jack Ryan, left half; Bernie Jefferson, right half; Jay Laskay, full back, and Nick Conteas, quarter back.

Ryan Is at Home.

Ryan is a fine passer and now is at the position for which he is best fitted. He couldn't displace Heap last year and still he was too valuable to sit on the bench, consequently he played at full back for six games before he finally moved to half back for a portion of the Minnesota and Notre Dame games.

Jefferson needs no introduction. He can kick, pass, and run, and if Jeff comes through on blocking assignments, he'll have his best year. Northwestern's other back field combinations are: George McGurn and Francis Purtell, full backs; Dick Richards and Vic Theiling, quarter backs; Oliver Hahenstein and Paul Soper, left half backs, and Iggy Hessec and Reynold Soukop, right half backs. Richards, Theiling, Hahenstein, Soper, and Purtell are sophomores.

They'll Be Tough.

Bob Voigts and Nick Cutlich are eminently satisfactory at the all-important tackle positions. After this, however, there is a question mark although Frank Young, a junior, and Corne Aarts, a sophomore from Oak Park, are rated highly. Then there are Joe Vavrus and Tom Irving. The test for all these men will be offensive football. Defensively, they are certain to pass any examination.

Kovatch is a distinct loss at end. But the current prospectus gives Tom Eby, Ted Grefe, and Jimmy Smith as choices at left end, and Capt. Cleo Diehl, Bob Daly, and H. E. Horton, at right end. Smith and Horton are sophomores.

The Wildcats may not be the 1938 Big Ten champions. They're not an even money bet, but the Wildcats are going to have a lot to say about who will be the champions.

ILLINI AGAIN SCRIMMAGE.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Coach Bob Zuppke, who admits Illinois has a lot of football possibilities this year, isn't wasting any time testing them out.

The Illini held their second scrimmage today and again Zuppke had Mel Brewer, converted guard, at quarter back and Ken Zimmerman, a half back, at end. In the back field with Brewer were Tony Mazeika, a regular last year; Cliff Peterson, sophomore from Moline, Ill., and George Rettinger of Chicago, who has an examination to overcome before gaining eligibility. Rettinger hurled a pass to Mazeika for one score in the scrimmage.

WHAT! NO ISBELL?

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—It was evident that there were no Cecil Isbells in Purdue's backfield today as the Boilermakers stuck largely to the ground during a short scrimmage. Lacking a passer of Isbell's accuracy, Coach Mal Elward concentrated on exhausting the possibilities of the squad's unusual speed in wide running plays and cut-backs through tackle.

NEW RECRUITS SWELL MAROON FOOTBALL SQUAD

With its roster swelling to 47 men, over the week-end, the Maroon squad took its second workout yesterday in the form of signal drill, punting and general conditioning work. Joe Howard, sophomore guard from California, and several recruits of unknown talents, reported yesterday. This left Earl Peirce, husky letterman from last year's line, as the only candidate not accounted for.

It became further apparent yesterday that Coach Shaughnessy will depend upon a heavy veteran back field and an untried but fairly promising sophomore line. The main portion of the dummy drill had the first back field, consisting of Hamity, Sherman, Valorz, and Goodstein, working on defense. Opposing backs on offense were Jack Davenport, Big Ten 100 yard sprint champion; John Polajner, Bob McNamee, and Bob Harlan, the latter a transfer from Dartmouth.

Rain forced part of the drill indoors, but observers commented that Davenport appears to be greatly improved over last year. Sophomore linemen who drew comment included Hugh Rendleman, 208 pound tackle from Davenport, Ia.; Walter Maurovich, 193 pound guard who transferred from Washington State, and David Weideman, end from Hyde Park High.

MICHIGAN RUNS SIGNALS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Michigan's football rehabilitation program under Coach Fritz Crisler got under way today as the squad got its first contact work. Fundamentals occupied backs, ends, and linemen this afternoon in a program which evolved into a brief but brisk dummy scrimmage.

Running signals in the morning and afternoon drills, Crisler shifted personnel rapidly but did give a hint of the use to which Dave Strong, transfer from Illinois, will be put as he lined up at half back in the same back field with Jack Meyer, 200 pound sophomore quarter back from Kiski prep school. Strong, a triple threat star, played quarter back with the Illini.

Pro Football Teams Display Scoring Punch in Early Games

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The offense, at the moment, is mightier than the defense in professional football. Four National league games Sunday produced 22 touchdowns and 162 points, an average of 40.5 per game. None of the eight contestants scored less than two touchdowns.

There are two reasons for this unprecedented display of early season scoring power. Larger squads and longer training periods have enabled coaches to devote more attention to the perfecting of the offense. Consequently teams are coming up to opening games with better coördinated attacks.

Forward passing is the other factor. Eleven of the twenty-two touchdowns Sunday were made on passes. Two others were set up by this method. These figures are another manifestation of the growing importance of an aerial attack in football. Its extensive use is a natural outgrowth of the success of Sammy Baugh and Arnie Herber, who have made Washington and Green Bay feared throughout the league.

A Vulnerable Spot.

Their records have driven home the fact that protection against passes is the most intricate and difficult phase of defense to teach. Consequently it becomes every opponent's most vulnerable spot. At the same time, if a passer of any ability at all is available, an aerial attack is the easiest form of offense to perfect.

Three passes, Herber to Don Hutson, gave Green Bay three touchdowns, which, with two field goals, enabled the Packers to beat the Cleveland Rams, 26 to 17. Cleveland's 17 points came from passes. Baugh gave his usual demonstration as Washington opened defense of its title by whipping Philadelphia, 26 to 23. He threw nine passes, completing eight, two for touchdowns, before an injured shoulder forced him out of the game.

Baugh's Injury Is Serious.

The victory may prove costly to Washington, for Baugh's mishap has been diagnosed as a bone separation. Physicians assured Coach Ray Flaherty yesterday that Baugh would be ready to play by Sept. 25 against Cleveland, but veteran trainers doubt that a separation can heal sufficiently in two weeks. Harber was of little aid to the Packers for two months last season after suffering a similar injury in the All-Star game.

Results of Sunday's games gave little hint of what to expect in the championship race beyond the fact that all teams appear strengthened over last season. The Chicago Cardinals gave an impressive exhibition in Soldiers' field, although beaten, 16 to 13, in the last few minutes by Jack Manders' field goal. In fact, the Bears may consider themselves fortunate to have made away with the game.

Cardinals Show Strength.

Despite the fact that they outrushed the Cardinals, 129 yards to 67 yards, outgained them 127 yards to 106 yards on passes, and led in first downs, 14 to 9, they needed the break that developed when a Cardinal pass struck an ineligible man to score the winning points. The Cardinals, sparked by rookies, gave evidence of great strength, while the Bears appeared to be ragged and listless at times. Coach George Halas was dissatisfied with the showing of his club and is prepared for the worst at Green Bay next Sunday unless vast improvement is made this week. He was especially upset by the Bears' eight fumbles, one of which was turned into the Cardinals' first touchdown by Tackle Tony Blazine.

The Cardinals tackle Cleveland next Saturday night. They are being tabbed by National league coaches as the team to watch in the western division race despite Sunday's defeat. Their roster is liberally sprinkled with talented newcomers and in the opinion of observers they have greater opportunity to improve than the Bears or even Green Bay.

Detroit, the other western division contender, which opened its season last Friday with a 16 to 7 victory over Pittsburgh, has given evidence of running strength, but it is apt to have trouble balking the passing attacks the Cardinals, Packers, and the Bears can throw against them.

FOXY MAUDE IS FOXY RUNNER ON BIG TRACKS, TOO

BY FRENCH LANE.

Folks who race quarter mile and half mile horses in the southwest outfoxed the crowd that braved a cloudburst to visit Hawthorne yesterday.

These southwesterners slipped Foxy Maude into the six furlong second race for horses that had never won a race. Of course races won on those quarter mile and half mile tracks in southwestern Texas and Oklahoma don't count. Some say Foxy Maude has won about 30 of them.

Foxy Maude was listed as a 6 year old maiden. In fact, according to the records, she had never faced a starter on a recognized race course. But somebody knew Foxy Maude could run.

Opening odds against her were 6 to 1. They should have been 50 to 1 on a 6 year old maiden. Closing odds were 7 to 2.

Foxy Maude by Eight.

Then to top it all off the cloudburst was going in all its fury while the race was run. Colors or horses could not be recognized from the time the barrier was sprung until the finish. Then it was discovered that Foxy Maude was the winner by eight lengths.

Million Bucks finished second and Gaming was third. But that made no difference to the folks from the southwest. They collected $9 for each $2 dollars invested.

Foxy Maude races for Mrs. J. H. Payne of Oklahoma. Mrs. Payne's husband is the trainer. Foxy Maude's blood lines are fashionable, just as they are in many of those other flying quarter milers. She's a daughter of Pompey-Escret, the latter a daughter of famous mud running Midway.

Clockers Had an Inkling.

She had been quartered at Hawthorne long enough for the clockers to discover that she was working sufficiently fast to win the kind of a race in which she was entered. This kept her from going to the post at large odds.

Heavy rains completely flooded the Hawthorne course. They continued during the running of the early races. Starts in the first and second races both had to be delayed due to the severe storm.

The best race on the program was the Pharamond II. purse at 6 furlongs for 2 year olds. It brought all sorts of excitement. Montsin, owned by Friedberg and Axton of Louisville, finished first. Maetown was second and Bala Ormont, stable mate of Montsin, was third.

Winner Is Ruled Out.

During the stretch run Jocky Pariso permitted Bala Ormont to swerve over on Maetown. This caused Bala Ormont to be disqualified and her stable mate, Montsin, the winner, had to be similarly punished under the rules.

Thus Maetown was placed first, Viscounty moved up from fourth to second, and Street Arab got the slim end of the purse. Pariso was suspended for ten days.

COBB PERILS SPEED MARK; GOES 342 M. P. H.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—John R. Cobb failed today by a narrow margin to break the world land speed record of 345.49 miles per hour. The Englishman's shark shaped automobile, Railton, averaged 342.53 miles per hour for two runs during which it was hampered by a slushy track on the Bonneville salt flats. Cobb said he would make minor mechanical repairs on his 7,000 pound 24 cylinder car and try again for the record held by Capt. George E. T. Eyston of England. He probably will try at the end of the week.

STAGEHAND GETS VACATION; HE'S OUT FOR SEASON

He'll Pass Up Gold Cup Race, Sande Says.

Stagehand has run his last race this year. This was the announcement Trainer Earl Sande made to Hawthorne officials when he advised them yesterday that Col. Maxwell Howard's 3 year old champion will pass up the renewal of the Hawthorne Gold Cup on Saturday.

"Stagehand has been in training continuously for a year," Sande told Racing Secretary Reeder.

Sande was careful not to announce any definite late winter plans for Stagehand. This may mean that Stagehand will be prepared either for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap or the $50,000 Widener Challenge Cup. Both these rich winter fixtures are scheduled for late February.

William Zeigler Jr.'s star mare Esposa arrived at Hawthorne at noon yesterday for her engagement in the Gold Cup on Saturday.

Mrs. Mathilda Moeller, 1812 South 49th court, Cicero, who picked five winners out of the first seven races and had two seconds, was the winner of yesterday's rating contest. The daily prize is $500.

Broom Corn Growers Act to Aid Crop Estimating

Fairland, Ill., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Douglas, Coles and Cumberland, county broom corn growers, took steps today toward forming an organization to help make estimates of the quantity of broom corn being grown each season. BRITISH POUND WEAKENS AFTER HITLER SPEECH

Reaches 3 Year Low; Gold Trade Upset.

World money centers shared yesterday in the uneasiness that Germany caused in the chancelleries of Europe. Foreign exchange markets fluctuated erratically all day, awaiting Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's speech on the Czech crisis. Hitler spoke after most European markets closed. In New York, the money market did not close until after the speech, and currency quotations fell as a result of it.

The day brought these developments in the monetary situation:

1. The British pound sterling fell to the lowest level in more than three years at New York, in terms of the United States dollar. Other foreign currencies also weakened.

2. The London gold price, in shillings, rose to the highest level in three years. But in terms of the dollar the price declined.

Hesitate to Buy Gold.

3. Arbitrageurs, fearing a hike in gold cargo insurance rates, refused the opportunity to buy gold in London and ship it to the United States, although this was profitable on the basis of quotations.

Sterling was hard pressed at New York most of the day, with nervousness increasing as the hour approached for Hitler's speech. After falling to around $4.80½ in the course of the talk, it rallied slightly at the end of the address, then turned down under renewed pressure to close at the day's lowest price, $4.80⅜. This was a drop of ¾ cent from last Saturday.

The French franc closed 0.00⅛ cent lower at 2.6975 cents. Holland guilders dropped 0.07 cent to 53.90 cents. The Swiss franc fell 0.01 cent to 22.58 cents. The Belgian belga dipped the same amount to 16.83 cents. The Czechoslocak crown fell half a point to 3.45 cents.

Little London Gold Engaged.

Fresh evidence of the apprehension was provided by the fact that although gold in London [in terms of the dollar] dropped well below the price at which shipments to New York become profitable, only a relatively small amount—$4,200,000—was bought in London to send to this country. This was the first occasion since the "gold scare" of early 1937 that international bankers have shown fear of holding gold.

London's gold price rose in shillings to the highest levels since March, 1935, at 144s 7½d, up 3 pence from the quotation of Saturday. Owing to the fall of sterling in terms of the dollar, however, this price was the lowest in dollar equivalent in many months. It was equal to $34.76, or about 1 cent below the gold shipping price, as it is most conservatively calculated, and about 2 cents under the gold point as some bankers calculate it. This meant that high profits were available to arbitrageurs. Nevertheless they did not seek to buy the gold.

Fear to Hold Yellow Metal.

The explanation given in banking quarters was that bankers in New York and abroad disliked the prospect of having to hold the gold two nights until the first ship is available. They feared that in the meantime insurance rates might be raised or some central European development might occur which would upset their calculations.

Total engagements abroad of $9,900,000 gold for shipment to New York reported to the federal reserve bank. Besides the $4,200,000 taken in England, $5,700,000 was engaged in Japan. Imports of $20,139,000 gold—$19,996,000 from England and $143,000 from Australia—reached New York today, and $2,428,000 of gold held under earmark for foreign account was released.

The American Trader reached New York with a large consignment of silver. The shipment consisted of approximately 16,000,000 ounces, consisting of 3,511 drums of Chinese silver coins and 1,298 bars. It was one of a series of shipments representing the sale of silver by the Chinese government to the United States treasury.

SPASMODIC

Isn't the wealth you have acquired entitled to as competent and continuous management as the business that produced it? Doesn't it deserve more than spasmodic attention, more than casual scraps of time?

Then why not let us make an efficient, scientific, full-time job of it—give it the benefit of independent, thorough research, the continuous attention of specialists, the unbiased judgment of experienced counsellors?

Sharing the expense with a large group of other substantial investors makes the cost to any one account quite nominal in comparison with results. Inquiries invited from those with funds of $100,000 or more.

LABOR STRIFE HURTS AMERICAN CANDY CO.; DISSOLUTION SOUGHT

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Directors of the American Candy company have recommended to the stockholders that the company dissolve voluntarily and go out of business, it was learned today. The company has been faced with declining sales and with labor problems. It has assets of $750,000.

Howard B. Stark, secretary, advised stockholders that if a two-thirds vote favoring liquidation cannot be obtained the alternative is dissolution through receivership, "a long and expensive action." Stockholders will meet Oct. 10 in the Sherman hotel, Chicago, to consider the proposal.

A strike of the company's 112 employés Aug. 30 ended in a truce Sept. 8 which was to continue until Oct. 12. A contract with the Baker and Confectionery Workers union, which expired June 30, could not be "favorably renewed." Stark said. Cumulative preferred dividends are in arrears to the amount of $66.50 a share.

TREASURY'S COST ON SHORT TERM LOANS DOUBLES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The cost of short term borrowing by the treasury doubled today in the wake of its $700,000,000 long term borrowing operation.

In making its weekly sale of $100,000,000 worth of ninety-one day bills today, the treasury had to accept an average price of 99.974, equivalent to borrowing at 0.103 per cent, compared with last week's average price of 99.988, which was equivalent to 0.049 per cent.

Rail Subsidiary Clerks Vote on Wage Strike

Clerks employed in Chicago by the Pacific Fruit Express company last night cast their ballots at the Morrison hotel in the strike vote ordered on the 15 per cent railroad wage cut. The ballots were sealed in a package, without being counted, for shipment to Omaha, headquarters of the express company. The company is a subsidiary of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

M. F. Twomey, president of Lodge 987, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employés, said a canvass taken before the ballot disclosed that only two out of the 250 voting were opposed to a strike.

Called First Complete Vote.

Twomey said this was the first complete vote to be taken by any union lodge in the Chicago area.

All official strike ballots of the 18 unions belonging to the Railway Labor Executive association are identical. Each member voting is required to place a cross in one of two squares marked "For Strike" and "Against Strike."

The member then is required to sign his or her name, give occupation, railroad, member of organization, local lodge number, and membership card number. His vote is open to all officials of the unions.

One Out of Five a Woman.

About one out of five voting last night was a woman. Preceding the balloting, C. A. Goebel, grand vice president of the brotherhood, urged the members to resist the wage cut, which the railroads have scheduled for Oct. 1. He reiterated arguments of union executives who opposed the cuts in the recent negotiation and mediation proceedings in Chicago.

All of the balloting of the union members is expected to be completed by Sept. 26. If a majority votes in favor of striking, the dispute is expected to be submitted to President Roosevelt. Under the law he will appoint a fact finding commission to study the dispute and make a recommendation.

The status quo is maintained during the 30 days in which the commission must gather information and make its recommendation, and for 30 days after the recommendation is made public. Thus it will be at least Dec. 1 before a strike can be put into effect if an agreement is not reached in the meantime.

Once the members of the brotherhoods vote in favor of a strike, executives of the unions must maintain this position.

EARMARK 20 MILLION U. S. HOUSING FUNDS FOR USE IN ILLINOIS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The United States Housing authority today said that it had approved or earmarked for approval $20,059,000 for housing projects in Illinois. This is part of $519,273,000 in commitments by the federal authority for 129 cities throughout the country. A contract for a $2,599,000 loan already had been approved for a project at Peoria. For future approval $16,000,000 was earmarked for Chicago and $1,500,000 for East St. Louis.

The federal government announced last spring that it would provide $16,000,000 for public housing in Chicago. Of this $10,000,000 is to be used to construct the South Park Gardens, at 37th street and Cottage Grove avenue, for colored families. The rest will be used on sites to be determined from a survey of Chicago's depreciated areas announced on April 17.

BUTTER STOCKS REACH PEAK; U.S. POLICY BLAMED

Price Pegging Piles Up Vast Supply.

Storage butter stocks in the United States on Sept. 1 reached an all-time high mark of 201,543,000 pounds, exceeding the previous peak by more than 26,000,000 pounds. This was shown in the government's monthly report of cold storage holdings made public yesterday by the bureau of agricultural economics. The former peak of 175,476,000 pounds was set on Sept. 1, 1933.

The report also showed that cheese stocks on Sept. 1 were at a record high mark for the second consecutive month. At the same time shell eggs in storage were less than for any Sept. 1 since 1917. The total on the first day of this month was 5,950,000 cases [178,500,000 dozens].

Butter Supply Increases.

The butter supply on Sept. 1 showed an increase of nearly 29,000,000 pounds over a month earlier. Then stocks totaled 172,622,000 pounds, the largest on record for that date.

This year's record butter surplus has been built up as a result of unusually large production. Despite this heavy output, the federal government has been holding up the price of butter by authorizing a loan of $33,375,000 to the Dairy Products Marketing association. The association may use these funds to buy up to 115,000,000 pounds of butter.

All except 4,107,000 pounds of DPMA holdings were stored in warehouses in Chicago and New York, the report showed. Commercially held butter stocks were reduced 20,812,000 pounds during August while DPMA butter was increasing by 50,145,000 pounds.

Butter Holdings Compared.

The total storage holdings on Sept. 1, last year, amounted to 134,885,000 pounds, and the average for that date for the ten years 1928-'37 amounted to 136,000,000 pounds.

Traders have pointed out that the government's policy of pegging prices has increased the flow of milk into butter channels. The result has been larger butter production because of the program and at the same time a probable decrease in consumption be-

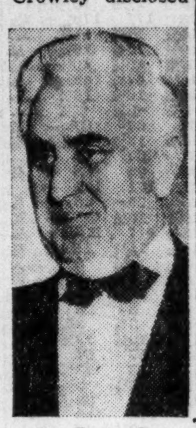
FDIC Considers Insuring Bank Deposits Above $5,000

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Chairman Leo T. Crowley disclosed today that the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation is studying the possibility of insuring bank deposits above the present $5,000 limit.



Leo T. Crowley.

Today's mails carried to the 13,719 insured banks of the country a questionnaire asking the number of their deposit accounts below $5,000, between $5,000 and $10,000, between $10,000 and $25,000, and over $25,000. Crowley, recalling that Chairman Steagall [D., Ala.] of the house banking committee advocated the increase, said the FDIC wanted to find out how much extra risk would be involved.

Await Results of Survey.

Crowley declined to commit the corporation in advance of the survey, but he expressed the belief that if the additional risk were small there would be little or no objection to increased insurance.

Previous estimates have shown that 95 per cent of the nation's deposits are covered by the $5,000 insurance now provided. No recent studies have been made and deposits since have grown to the near record total of about $47,500,000,000.

The talk of higher insurance, Crowley explained, is not because of any weakness in the banks. He said they were in excellent condition. Despite the business recession, he said, only thirty-eight banks suspended in the first half of 1938; five of them had not been able to get insurance.

Other Banking Proposals.

Other banking proposals which may be discussed during the next congress include a request of the federal reserve board for more power to control credit inflation by boosting reserve requirements, the bill of Senator Glass [D., Va.] to prevent further growth of bank holding companies, and consolidation of the three federal bank examining agencies.

Reserve board officials believe any upturn in business has not progressed far enough for them to determine what, if any, new credit controls are needed.

PLACE STEEL OUTPUT AT 45.3 PCT.; HIGHEST RATE FOR THIS YEAR

The American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday that steel mills in the United States will operate at 45.3 per cent of capacity this week. This is a gain of 5.4 points over last week's operating rate of 39.9 per cent of capacity, and the highest working schedule since the week of Nov. 1, 1937.

Last week's low rate was caused by Labor day shutdowns in most of the major producing centers. Two weeks ago mills of the nation were working at 44 per cent of capacity. A month ago the production rate was 40.4 per cent of capacity, according to the institute.

Steel producers are expecting a further upturn in the next few weeks. Automobile manufacturers, among the most important consumers of steel, will enter the market for material to be used in 1939 models.

LITTLE BUSINESS MEN MEET TODAY IN PITTSBURGH

Representative little business men of the nation will meet today at Pittsburgh for the first annual convention of the National Small Business Men's Association, Inc. The purpose of the meeting, which will exprogram that will point the way toward economic recovery and ease business men's present burden.

The association was founded last November by De Witt M. Emery, owner of a small printing firm in Akron, O. It now has members in 40 states. Its goal is to make the influence of little business felt in national affairs.

Three Chicagoans are included among the guest speakers at the convention. They are C. Wayland Brooks, former Republican candidate for governor of Illinois; Dr. A. P. Haake, managing director of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers, and Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Big Ten conference.

Business Failures Shrink to Lowest Level of Year

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Business failures in the United States in the week ended Sept. 8 totaled 161, the lowest level thus far in the year, compared with 226 in the preceding week and 96 a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

STEELS, MOTORS LEAD IRREGULAR RISE IN STOCKS

STOCKS STRONG IN 'FRISCO

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's speech, awaited today by financial markets the world over, had little influence on the San Francisco stock market. The only perceptible change here after the New York market's close was a slight tendency toward higher levels. Such stocks as Standard Oil of California, General Motors, Chrysler, and United States Steel closed ⅛ to ⅜ points higher than in New York.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 12.—Stock market prices closed irregularly higher today. Gains ranged from fractions to around 1 point. A number of sensitive issues climbed 2 and 3 points on a few sales.

The day's transactions totaled 601,960 shares. Of 665 issues traded, 286 advanced, 225 lost ground, and 154 closed unchanged. The Dows-Jones average for thirty representative issues rose 1.92 on the day to 140.19. Industrials, led by steel and motor issues, made the best showing. The rail and utility indices closed with only small gains.

Cheering Items Get Attention.

However, inasmuch as Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's speech did not come until after the close of the market, the financial district gave atten-

Four vital questions concerning estate taxes

IN RECENT YEARS many men and women have found that the preparation of their estates for payment of taxes presents a problem of growing importance.

Forward-looking people of means today are asking themselves these four pertinent questions:

"If my estate were being probated today, would the liquid assets be sufficient to meet the substantial cash payments for taxes and other expenses?"

"Could my estate meet these payments without handicap to the estate or hardship to my heirs?"

"Or would it be necessary to liquidate my most valuable assets in order to raise the needed cash?"

"Would that action impair the provisions I have made for the welfare of my family?"

Answers to these queries are vitally important. And in determining them, you and your attorney are invited to call upon The Northern Trust Company for assistance.

It has been the privilege of this institution to take part in the planning of the estate arrangements of many individuals during the past 49 years. It has had much valuable experience in reviewing the most advantageous methods of providing in advance for the payment of taxes and other estate expenses.

May we suggest that you and your attorney discuss soon with The Northern Trust Company a "pre-administration" review of your estate. Such preparation may prove valuable in safeguarding the legacies you wish to bestow. tion to some cheerful business items. This resulted in better support for leading industrial stocks.

The better trade developments today included the forecast of steel operations this week at the highest rate since last November; reports of a sharp spurt in August consumption of cotton and rubber, and favorable dividend announcements.

The list opened irregularly lower, but a buying flurry around midday sent many issues higher. Some of the gains were substantial and they held until the close with only a little shading.

Motors kept pace with the steels. Chrysler gained 1½ points and General Motors 1¼ points. Auto transportation issues moved in a fractional range. Borg-Warner and Electric Autolite were in demand in the auto accessory group. They gained 1¾ and 1 point, respectively.

United States Rubber took the lead in the rubbers, rising nearly 2 points in good demand. B. F. Goodrich and Goodyear gained fractions.

Coppers were higher in quiet trading. Gains ranging up to 1⅛ points were made by International Nickel, Anaconda, Kennecott, and American Smelting.

Heavy machinery stocks had good support. General Electric was a favorite and added 1⅛ points. Sperry rose nearly 1 point. Westinghouse jumped 3 points. Farm implement stocks were fractions to around 2 points higher.

New York Bonds.

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Weakness in United States government obligations and foreign loans stood out today in an irregular bond market. Treasury loans were down ½ to ¾ of a point in the most active issues.

Bond circles ascribed this weakness to several reasons—reajustments in portfolios of large investors and dealers as a result of the recent treasury offering, coupled with the general weakening effect of the Sudeten crisis.

Heaviest losers in the list included the treasury 2¾s of '47-'45, down 24-32ds, and 2¾s of '59-'56, off 22-32ds. The decline in foreign bonds reflected the uncertainty and anxiety prevailing in advance of Hitler's speech. Particularly weak in the foreign list were German 5½s of '65, down 1¾; Polish 6s, off 3 points, and Warsaw City 7s, down 2½.

Commodities

Rubber futures, rising 0.61 to 0.71 cent a pound, yesterday led an advance in commodity futures in New York. The climb in rubber was caused by the announcement at London that the international rubber regulation committee had voted to keep export quotas for the last 1938 quarter unchanged at 45 per cent of basic quotas.

Traders forecast that with quotas unchanged, world consumption of rubber for the second half of the year will probably exceed net exports from producing countries by 50,000 to 60,000 tons.

The Rubber Manufacturers association reported last week that domestic stocks of rubber on hand in this country were reduced in August to 277,463 long tons, compared with 284,914 at the end of July. Reports of world stocks for both August and September are expected to show sharp reductions.

Yesterday's advance carried the price of rubber for September delivery to 16.48 cents. The spot price of smoked ribbed sheets jumped to 16.55 cents a pound, compared with 15.85 cents on Saturday. Rubber prices last week lost ½ cent a pound.

Gains also were shown yesterday by hides, silk, sugar, copper, wool tops and cottonseed oil. Easing a little against the general trend were coffee and cocoa contracts.

Raw hides futures at New York advanced 0.15 to 0.19 cent a pound. Raw silk contracts were up ½ to 2 cents a pound, with the September contract closing at a bid price of $1.71 a pound.

In metals markets, an improved demand for export copper was reported. Prices ranged up to 10.25 cents a pound, compared with 10.20 cents at the end of last week. Domestic copper was quiet in the spot market, and copper futures showed mild strength with gains of 0.03 to 0.04 cent. Lead and zinc were unchanged.

MANY CONCERNS CUT INVENTORIES IN SIX MONTHS

Reduction Is Estimated at 1¼ Billion Dollars.

Inventories in the hands of manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers in the first six months of 1938 were reduced by about $1,250,000,000. This estimate was made yesterday by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. The estimate was based on reports from 19,000 companies of all sizes.

The reduction brought total inventories down to $20,258,000,000 on June 30, 1938. This represented a decline of 5.8 per cent from the total on Jan. 1. The reduction came after increases estimated to be $2,269,000,000 during 1936 and $3,004,000,000 during 1937.

Manufacturers reporting had the largest reduction in stocks. Their decline for the six months' period was 6.7 per cent, against declines of 5 per cent and 3.6 per cent for wholesalers and retailers, respectively.

Price Changes Affect Value.

Dun & Bradstreet, which is a credit rating and statistical agency, said that much of the 1937 increases in value resulted from price advances. It asserted much of the recent decline probably resulted from price reductions.

Although the Dun & Bradstreet report on the inventory decline was smaller than other recent estimates, the agency said there are some cheering figures in its report.

First, some of the largest customers of the manufacturers among both wholesalers and retailers have been moving stocks on hand to an extent which will place them in the market for sizable purchases this fall.

Second, detailed industrial and trade figures show that the recent improvement has been substantial in those lines where the earliest accumulations were the most serious.

Manufacturers Reduce Stocks.

Dun & Bradstreet estimated total manufacturers' inventories on June 30 at $12,329,000,000, a decline of 6.7 per cent from the inventory position at the beginning of the year.

Inventories of wholesalers on June 30 were estimated at $2,849,000,000, a decline of 5 per cent from the first of the year. A study of the reports from 2,300 wholesalers indicated a tendency on the part of small concerns to increase inventories, whereas the larger concerns reduced their stocks. Some of the changes, including both increases and declines, were largely seasonal.

Inventories of retailers were estimated at $5,080,000,000 on June 30, representing a 3.6 per cent decline from the first of the year. The estimate was based on reports from 12,000 retailers.

The smaller retailers showed a tendency to increase inventories, whereas the larger retailers were reducing stocks.

CENTRAL LIFE ACQUIRES DIXON INSURANCE FIRM

The Central Life Insurance Company of Illinois, with headquarters in Chicago, yesterday took over the Rural Bankers Life company, Dixon, Ill. Alfred MacArthur, president of Central Life, disclosed the aquisition by his company at Dixon yesterday.

Rural Bankers was organized about three and a half years ago in Dixon. It has approximately $3,500,000 of insurance in force for about 1,600 policy holders. G. F. Prescott has been president. Offices of the company in Dixon will be maintained, MacArthur said.

Central Life on Dec. 31, 1937, had $53,959,747 of insurance in force. Its admitted assets totaled $12,716,769.

Business Cycles—VIII.

The varying opinions of economists on causes of business cycles have been outlined during the last week by Everyday Economics. It is significant to note that many of these opinions have been offered to account for the present depression.

For example, early 1929 was marked by overproduction, social disturbances, price fluctuations, narrowing margins of profits, and excessive optimism. During the short lived recovery of 1937, most of these same factors were present. The relapse into the depression was marked by a drying up of orders from business men for new goods and materials.

During 1929 and again last year, inequalities in the rates at which prices rise and fall were evident. The costs of raw materials increased faster than manufacturers could raise the prices of their finished goods because of competition. Railroads and utilities, which could not increase the rates for their services without long drawn out hearings before public commissions, were particularly hard hit.

The presence of so many factors and opinions in connection with the present depression lead to but one conclusion. There is no one cause for business cycles. Many factors combine to create the cycle.

Heads Business Bureau

PERCY WILSON.

WILSON ELECTED TO HEAD BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Marshall Field Officer Succeeds Penticoff.

Percy Wilson, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., yesterday was elected president of the Chicago better business bureau. The annual election was held at a luncheon meeting of the board in the Palmer house. Wilson, who has been a member of the board, succeeds M. C. Penticoff, district manager of Sears, Roebuck & Co., as president of the bureau. The new president was placed in charge of all real estate activities of Marshall Field in January.

Three new directors were chosen to fill vacancies on the board of fifty-six members. They are James E. Bennett, senior partner of James E. Bennett & Co.; Ben T. Wright, president of Ben T. Wright, Inc., automobile distributors; and Howard Boone, advertising director of the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Other officers were reëlected as follows: Vice presidents, J. A. Petersen, president of the J. W. Petersen Coal company; Arthur Hoadley, president of the midwestern division of A. & P. Food Stores; and Kenneth R. Rice, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company; treasurer, A. R. Floreen, vice president of the City National Bank and Trust company; secretary and general manager, Kenneth Barnard.

FORD ACCUSES NLRB EXAMINER OF UNFAIRNESS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Ford Motor company complained to the National Labor Relations board today against the actions of an NLRB examiner. The company charged that the examiner, who heard charges of Wagner labor act violations at the company's Long Beach, Cal., assembly plant did not conduct "a full and fair hearing."

This complaint was included in a list of exceptions the company filed to the trial examiner's report. Thomas H. Kennedy, the examiner, held the company had interfered with the rights of the employés to join the United Auto Workers' union [C. I. O.].

Counsel for Ford protested that the examiner questioned witnesses at the hearing "with a view to eliciting testimony unfavorable" to the company.

Replying to the examiner's recommendation that Ford reinstate workers who joined in a strike at the Long Beach plant last April 15, Ford counsel said the board had no power to order reëmployment of persons who voluntarily quit their jobs without being discriminated against.

KANSAS FARMERS BALK AT CUT IN WHEAT ACREAGE

The AAA wheat acreage reduction campaign was reported yesterday to be meeting with much opposition from farmers in the Wichita, Kas., territory. According to reports to James E. Bennett & Co. the cards mailed to farmers showing their acreage allotments have caused much dissatisfaction. The reductions called for were regarded as too severe.

Farmers who are not obligated to the government for loans are expected largely to ignore the allotments. They will seed as many acres of wheat as they desire. In some sections, however, farmers are expected to coöperate more freely.

Atlantic Refining Approves Indebtedness Increase

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Atlantic Refining company today authorized an increase in indebtedness of not more than $50,000,000, and an increase in common stock from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 shares. Present plans call for only an offering of $25,000,000 of 15 year debentures to pay a loan totaling approximately $16,000,000 and to add to the working capital for continuance of the company's program described in its 1937 annual report. The company has no present plans to increase the authorized common stock.

Carrier Corporation's New Capital Structure Adopted

New York, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Stockholders of Carrier corporation approved today the company's new capital structure and new financing program. The program involves an issue of $2,500,000 of debentures. The approval clears the way for the registration with the Securities and Exchange commission of $2,500,000 of ten year convertible debentures to retire present bank loans of $1,500,000 and to provide additional working capital.

MACDONALD BUYS LARGE SHARE IN DOHERTY HOTELS

Deal Reported to Involve About Five Millions.

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—George MacDonald, prominent Catholic layman and financier, has acquired from Henry L. Doherty a "substantial interest" in the latter's hotel and resort properties in Florida and the Bahamas, he disclosed today.

Although MacDonald declined to disclose the consideration involved, or to disclose the extent of his interest, reliable sources estimated he had paid in excess of $5,000,000 for a half interest in properties of a total estimated value of approximately $25,000,000.

Friend of Cardinal Hayes.

MacDonald, who was a close friend of the late Cardinal Hayes and has been honored by the Catholic church, with his personal associates will direct the properties, including some of Florida's best known hotels.

Important changes in management policy may be expected, MacDonald said. He also said that for the last six years, during the depression period, he had been investing in choice Florida property. His acquisition of interest from Doherty, an old friend and business associate, was recent, he added.

MacDonald has been for some time a director of Cities Service company, of which Doherty, a leading figure in the oil and utility fields, is president. MacDonald is also a director of Manufacturers' Trust company of New York and of the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria here.

Properties Involved Listed.

Chief properties involved, he explained, are: British-Colonial hotel and real estate, Nassau, Bahamas; Miami Beach hotel, Miami Beach Country club and golf course, Sun and Surf club, Palm Beach; Whitehall hotel, Palm Beach; Palm Beach Biltmore hotel; Casa Loma hotel, Coral Gables; Roney Plaza hotel and properties, Miami Beach; Palm Beach Country club and golf course; 130 acre tract at Biscayne Point and in the Tatum tract; 11,000 other parcels of Florida real estate.

All of the properties are free and clear, he said, except for a small mortgage on the British-Colonial hotel at Nassau.

NLRB AID URGES REHIRING OF 130 IN MINE STRIKE ROW

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—A national labor relations board examiner asked today that the Eagle Picher Lead company and a subsidiary be ordered to reinstate, with back pay, 130 striking employés and 18 others. The subsidiary is the Eagle Picher Mining and Smelting company. William Ringer was the examiner who made the recommendation.

Ringer's findings climaxed a three year unionization effort by the International Union of Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers, formerly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It now is a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate.

The examiner, after hearings in Joplin, Mo., held that when the union went on strike, the employer and other companies illegally formed the Tri-State union, smashed the strike, and caused the A. F. of L. employés to be beaten.

The strike began May 8, 1935, and was broken May 28, 1935, in the zinc mining areas at Picher, Okla., Galena, Kas., and Joplin, a district known as the tri-district area.

PLEA TO DELAY STOCKYARD RATE HEARING DENIED

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Attorneys representing commission agents in the Kansas City stockyards rate case failed today to get a postponement of a rehearing ordered by Secretary Wallace. The case proceeded under protest.

Examiner John C. Brooke of the agriculture department overruled a motion that arguments on exceptions to a proposed order reducing the Kansas city commission rates be put over to a later date.

John B. Gauge is counsel for the commission men. In asking the delay he contended Secretary Wallace had ordered the hearing to proceed before expiration of a thirty day period allowed for filing of exceptions to an opinion in the case by Wallace. Brooke suspended the hearing for thirty minutes to allow Gauge to appeal directly to Wallace, but the secretary was in New York. The examiner said attorneys for the commission men could file exceptions any time before final settlement of the case.

BUNTE ORDERED TO END 'LOTTERY' SALES OF CANDY

The federal trade commission yesterday ordered Bunte Brothers, Inc., Chicago, to stop selling in Illinois candy so packed that retail sales may be made to the public by means of lottery.

The commission reported it had found that the greater part of candy sold in the United States is "straight goods." This means candy which is not sold to consumers under any plan constituting a lottery. Under lottery plans retail buyers get a chance for free candy when they make a purchase. The plans have numerous variations.

The Bunte company and other candymakers were ordered in 1936 by the FTC to cease lottery plans of merchandising in interstate commerce. Yesterday's order, however, affects trade within Illinois.

COTTON

Cotton markets were irregular yesterday. Operations were at a low ebb most of the day as traders awaited Hitler's speech. Firmness in Liverpool and buying attributed to mills and to Bombay caused a small upturn early. This was lost on hedging sales, but a rally came late in the session. Closing trades ranged from .04 cent lower to .07 cent a pound higher. New York showed the most strength.

Spot cotton closed .04 cent lower to .05 cent higher, with New Orleans 7.95 cents, New York, 8.05 cents; Houston, 7.95 cents, and Galveston, 7.91 cents a pound. Prices follow:

FINANCING AIDS GRAHAM-PAIGE'S WORKING CAPITAL

Loan Extensions and New Money Arranged.

Joseph B. Graham.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The Graham-Paige Motors corporation has completed financing which has improved its working capital position by about $2,300,000, Joseph B. Graham, president, announced today. Graham-Paige is one of the oldest automobile companies. A predecessor company was incorporated in Michigan in 1909.

Under the new arrangement a working capital deficit of $1,112,000 as of July 31, 1938, has been converted into a net working capital of $1,188,000. This gives the company a three to one ratio of current assets over current liabilities. Current assets are given as $1,784,000, against $596,000 current liabilities.

$750,000 of New Money.

The new financing includes $750,000 of new money made available now under a five year loan. Voluntary extension has been made of claims amounting to about $1,396,000 for a five year period, with payment to be made out of future increases in working capital. Notes payable and accrued interest amounting to $154,000 have also been extended.

In addition Graham subordinated a personal loan of $560,000 to the company to the extended claims. He is not to receive payment on his loan until the claims and other obligations are paid in full.

"With the new financing, the company immediately will launch an aggressive campaign for its share of the 1939 automobile business," Graham said. "While negotiations toward today's arrangements have been under way we have been revising our operations to give us every possible advantage under the new program.

Operating Expenses Cut.

"Operating expenses have been drastically reduced. Production of the Graham-Bradley tractor has served to absorb manufacturing burden to an extent that our 1939 automobile line, now almost ready for public announcement, will be able to carry highly competitive prices."

Robert C. Graham, executive vice president, said it is expected the company's tractor business in the next year will be in excess of 5,000 units. The tractors will include two of plow size which are now being marketed through Sears Roebuck & Co. and by Graham dealers in areas where Sears has no retail outlets. It also will include a new one plow, low price unit which will be ready for spring selling.

Graham-Paige reported that for the second quarter of this year it had a loss of $441,144, against a loss of $493,511 in the second quarter of 1937. In the first quarter of this year it had a loss of $449,982. For the first half of 1938 its loss was $891,126.

GRAIN MARKETS MARK TIME FOR HITLER SPEECH

Price Movements Narrow and Irregular.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .62¾	$ .63⅛	$1.02⅞
Corn	.49⅝	.49⅞	.62½
Oats	.25¼	.25¼	.29⅝
Rye	.43	.42⅝	.76⅝
Soy beans	.76½	.76	.94⅛

Trading in grain futures in North American grain markets yesterday was reported by brokers to have been the smallest in many weeks. Wheat and corn held within a range of ¼ to ½ cent a bushel. At no time were prices above Saturday's close. A large percentage of the business consisted of spreading operations between the various deliveries.

The foreign political situation dominated the grain markets to such an extent that operations in the wheat and corn futures yesterday were at a standstill most of the day.

Hitler's speech at Nuremberg, scheduled to be delivered late yesterday afternoon, was regarded as likely to determine whether there would be peace or war in Europe.

Traders Reduce Commitments.

Therefore operators showed more disposition to reduce their commitments in the grain markets than to increase them. Up to the noon hour practically all of the local trading in wheat and corn futures was within a range of ¼ cent a bushel.

Closing trades on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of ⅜ to ½ cent. Corn was ¼ to ½ cent a bushel lower. Oats, rye, and soy bean futures gained small fractions of a cent a bushel. Winnipeg wheat closed ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower. Liverpool was ⅛ cent higher to 1¼ cents lower a bushel.

Commission houses were unusually cautious yesterday in expressing opinions as to the probable trend of the grain markets in the immediate future.

Foreign Demand Lacking.

Routine developments were ignored as market influences in both wheat and corn. Reports indicated the foreign demand for both grains was at a standstill. In some quarters it was said the strength in the American dollar, as compared with the currencies of other countries, had some effect in curtailing foreign interest.

Stocks of cash grain continue to accumulate at leading American markets, reflecting the slow demand from Europe.

Illinois Corn Crop Yield Put at 43 Bushels an Acre

Illinois' corn crop was figured at 361,673,000 bushels by the state and federal departments of agriculture yesterday, an average of 43 bushels an acre. The average was four bushels per acre less than last year's record yield.

BUTTER STOCKS REACH PEAK; U. S. POLICY BLAMED

Price Pegging Piles Up Storage Supply.

Although butter stocks normally reach the year's peak by Sept. 1, indications are that this year they are still increasing to even higher levels. The government's report yesterday on the storage movement in thirty-five cities showed a net increase of 6,358,013 pounds for the week ended Sept. 10. This compared with net withdrawals of 1,592,515 pounds for the same week in 1937. The thirty-five cities hold about 86 per cent of the nation's storage holdings.

The nation's supply of cheese on Sept. 1 amounted to 127,979,000 pounds. This compared with the previous high of 114,607,000 pounds on Aug. 1, and a total of 105,026,000 pounds on Sept. 1, 1937.

Shell Egg Stocks Lower.

Shell egg stocks of 178,500,000 dozens on Sept. 1 this year compared with 251,700,000 dozens a year earlier, and with 192,330,000 on Aug. 1 of this year.

Butter and egg futures trading closed yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange before the bureau's report was issued. Butter closed ⅛ cent higher at 24⅜ cents for November contracts. Eggs were off ¼ cent, with the October contract selling at 25¼ cents a dozen.

Another out of storage movement of meats from cold storage during August was disclosed yesterday in the bureau's monthly report. The aggregate supply of meats on hand Sept. 1 was placed at 432,778,000 pounds, the smallest for any month this year, and the second smallest for Sept. 1 on record. All meat stocks were substantially less than at the high point of the year. Detailed stocks follow [last three ciphers omitted]:

HOGS DIP AFTER REACHING PEAK FOR FIVE WEEKS

The market for hogs reacted sharply after an early bulge had carried prices to the highest levels in five weeks. Opening sales were 10 to 20 cents above the close of last week. All of this advance was lost later, with some extremely heavy butchers 5 to 10 cents under the week's close.

Practically all of the principal local packers held off until the market had weakened back to a steady basis. The late clearance was unsatisfactory when 17,000 hogs were estimated on the way for today's session.

Weak to lower prices prevailed for the majority of other classes of live stock yesterday. Only the few top notch steers escaped the break. The bulk of steers sold weak to 25 cents lower.

MEMBER BANKS' BUSINESS LOANS TURN UPWARD

Week's Gain $2,000,000; Total $3,888,000,000.

Loans made by member banks of the federal reserve system to commerce, industry and agriculture turned upward again in the week ended Sept. 7. They had declined slightly in the preceding week. This was disclosed yesterday by the federal reserve board in its weekly report on member bank conditions.

Last week's increase was small, only $2,000,000, but it was significant in that it showed bank loans to business men moving forward. Of the 12 reserve districts, increases were shown in 10. A decline of $13,000,000 in the New York reserve district was offset by increases in the other districts.

The total of business loans outstanding on Sept. 7 was 3 billion 888 millions. This was a decline of 800 millions from the amount outstanding on Sept. 8, 1937.

Declined in Half Year.

During the first six months of this year bank loans to business showed an almost uninterrupted decline. Late in June the decline began to taper off and in recent weeks there have been increases. Economists watch the amount of business loans as a clew to how business itself is going.

The bank holdings of government securities showed little change in the week ended Sept. 7 after the sharp increase of the preceding week. The banks increased their holdings of direct obligations of the federal government by only 3 millions. There was no change in the amount of their holdings of obligations fully guaranteed by the federal government.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Late Melons Ripen

September 12, 1938.

RED ripe watermelons are expected to be smiling on the vines in the melon patch at the Tribune's Du Page county farm before the earliest frost. The caretaker has been giving some of the biggest melons frequent thumpings to see if they are beginning to turn. A veteran melon thumper, he is sure some of them are nearly ripe. The melons were planted late.

Cole's Early Sweet seems to be heading the race between three different kinds of watermelons growing side by side. The long, trailing vines have spread all over the ground and become so mixed up that it is difficult to determine which vine owns the melon. Several of the melons on the Cole vines are bigger than a man's head.

Runs Race with Frost.

Haire's Early Sweet is running second with some melons as big as a man's two fists. An early frost likely will catch most of them.

Kleckly Sweet is in third place. Blossoms are appearing on the vines and small melons are just beginning to form. Apparently they are too late to ripen before the first killing frost. Melon vines are extremely tender and usually are nipped by the first frost.

Pink and white blossoms are now open on the cotton plants that are grown for exhibition purposes. Few are expected to produce bolls before frost. In former years some of the bolls have opened. The plants are approximately 300 miles north of the northern edge of the cotton belt.

Pick Soy Beans.

Vegetable varieties of soy beans have been developing rapidly since the heavy rains last week. More than 100 pounds of soy beans were picked last week from the earliest maturing varieties. More will be picked this week. The farm's surplus of soy beans is being sold at the plots, in a Wheaton retail store, and on the central vegetable market in Chicago.

Pods are filling on the vines in a field test which is being made at the farm for the first time this year. There are three acres of these beans. Some pods are expected to be full enough for picking within the next week or ten days. These beans also will be offered for sale so that consumers in the Chicago area will have an opportunity to try them out.

Big Tomato Crop.

Tomatoes still are developing and ripening on the vines in the farm's test plots. A bumper crop is being harvested. The truck gardeners will continue to pick and sell the surplus tomatoes until the plants are killed by frost.

The roasting ear season is nearly over. By making successive plantings each week during the summer there will be a few ears to harvest up until frost. Some of the latest planted sweet corn will not have time to produce roasting ears.

Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

Debentureholders Committee

To the Holders of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. Optional 6% Convertible Debentures, Series due 1939:

The Company has announced a plan of exchange of the existing debentures, which mature September 1, 1939, for new debentures maturing September 1, 1948. The proposed new securities, unlike the existing debentures, are to carry no privilege of conversion into stock, or option to take stock for interest payments.

This Committee has been formed to represent debentureholders who do not elect to accept the terms of exchange so offered by the Company. It is believed that vigorous action by the Committee will compel the Company to offer more favorable terms of exchange or to provide for payment in full at maturity. The Committee does not require deposit of debentures at the present time, but suggests that interested debentureholders communicate immediately with the Secretary of the Committee at the address below. Copies of the Committee's circular letter and form of authorization may be obtained from the Secretary.

Mistrial Declared in Hines Case—Tydings Defeats Roosevelt Candidate in Maryland Senate Race
